TEXAS TO OPEN 2012 AGAINST WYOMING: Texas will open its 15th season under Mack Brown by hosting Wyoming at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium on Saturday, Sept. 1. It will mark the fifth meeting between Texas and Wyoming all-time with the Longhorns holding an undefeated 4-0 record against the Cowboys. The teams last met in 2010 with UT winning, 34-7, in Austin.

UT IN OPENERS: In its previous 119 years of football, UT is 99-17-3 (.845) in season-opening games. The Longhorns are 77-7-2 (.907) when opening the year at home. Head Coach Mack Brown is 13-1 in openers at Texas, including 12 in a row and has won 15 of his last 16 and 21 of his last 24 season-opening games. Brown was 8-2 in season openers at North Carolina. In Brown's 14 openers at Texas, the Horns have outscored their opponents by an average of 46.6-11.6 (Total: 653-162).

15TH YEAR UNDER MACK BROWN: With Mack Brown entering his 15th season at Texas, he is just the fourth coach in the 119 years of Texas football to coach the Longhorns for at least a decade and just the second UT coach to win 100 games while at Texas. Darrell Royal, who won 167 games, has the longest tenure at 20 years. Brown is the first coach in UT history to post 200 victories during a career. He has won 141 games at Texas to rank second on UT's all-time list behind only Darrell Royal, who tallied 167 victories from 1957-76. Brown moved ahead of Fred Akers, who posted 86 wins from 1977-86, during the 2006 season.

LOOKING AT 2012 SCHEDULE: UT opens the year at home against a pair of schools from the Mountain West Conference with Wyoming (9/1) and New Mexico (9/8). The first road trip of the year will be Sept. 15 when the Longhorns go to Oxford, Miss. to take on Ole Miss. Following a bye week, Texas goes back on the road to open conference play at Oklahoma State, the first of two straight games against teams that played in BCS bowls last season. The second marks the second time in history Texas will face new Big 12 school West Virginia (1956). The Mountaineers travel to Austin on Oct. 6. Last season WVU defeated Clemson in the Orange Bowl. The Red River Rivalry game between Texas and Oklahoma is slated for Oct. 13 at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. That game will be followed up by a home game against Baylor and road contests at Kansas and Texas Tech. November also includes home games with Iowa State and for the first time as a Big 12 member TCU. To cap off the season, the Longhorns travel to Kansas State on Dec. 1. Of the 12 games on the schedule, eight are against teams that played in bowl games in 2011-12. Of those eight, five won the contests including the top two scoring teams in West Virginia (70 vs. Clemson) and Baylor (67 vs. Washington). Six teams on the schedule won 10 or more games. The combined 2011-12 records for the 12 opponents on the schedule was 87-65 (.572).

NCAA COACHES SINCE 1990: Since the 1990 season Mack Brown has recorded more wins (208) than any other head coach in the country and also has the highest winning percentage (.761) in the nation during that span.

200 CAREER VICTORIES: With a victory against Texas A&M in 2008, Mack Brown became the first head coach in UT history to reach the 200-victory plateau during a career, and he currently has a career record of 227-113-1 (.666). Brown's 227 career wins rank 13th on the NCAA all-time victories list. Brown became just the 19th coach who has spent at least 10 years at a NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) school, to win 200 games and the seventh-youngest coach to do so. He also is one of only two active coaches who have reached the 200-victory mark while coaching at an FBS school. In addition, Brown is one of only five active coaches at FBS schools who have won 100 games at their current school (141-39/.783). Of the 69 coaches who have ever won 100 games at the same FBS school, Brown is the 12th-fastest to reach the century mark (124 games) and the fourth-fastest among active coaches.

BROWN ON NATIONAL SCENE: With a 141-39 (.783) record at UT, Mack Brown has led Texas to the nation's third-most victories over the last 14 years. In addition, Brown has guided the Horns to a 114-28 (.803) mark over the last 11 seasons, which is the nation's third-best winning percentage over that timespan, and includes six 11-win seasons (2001, '02, '04, '05, '08 and '09). The 11-win seasons are fourth-best to UT's 13-win campaigns in 2005 and '09, and its 12-win season in '08.

NCAA • Active Victory Leaders

2. Mack Brown 227-113-1

NO. 2 ALL-TIME: In 2008, Texas moved ahead of Notre Dame for second place on the NCAA all-time victory list. At 858 victories, Texas trails only Michigan in all-time wins. With the Longhorns in second place on that list, it marked the first time since 1932 that Michigan and Notre Dame did not occupy the one-two spots in all-time wins. Since Mack Brown arrived in 1998, Texas has posted a 141-39 (.783) record and moved ahead of Alabama, Notre Dame and Nebraska on the all-time victory chart.

4. Ohio State 137-40

10-WIN SEASONS: Texas is one of just three teams in college football history to win at least 10 games in nine straight seasons (2001-09). The Horns' streak trailed only Florida State's streak of 14 consecutive seasons in NCAA history. In addition, Texas posted 12-win seasons in back-to-back years for the first time in school history. Prior to Brown's arrival, the Horns had never before posted consecutive 11-win campaigns let alone consecutive 12-win seasons. Brown has led the Horns to six seasons with 11 or more wins. That compares to the four 11-win seasons (1963, '69, '77 and '83) in Texas history before Brown's arrival.

NCAA • Consecutive 10-Win Seasons

MACK BROWN SUCCESS: Under Brown, the Horns have posted Top 10 finishes seven times in the last 10 years (2001, '02, '04, '05, '07, '08 and '09). Prior to his arrival, the last time UT finished in the Top 10 was 1983. In addition, Texas played in a bowl game for a school-record 12-consecutive seasons from 1998-2009, bettering the previous streak of nine straight from 1977-85. Brown's personal strings, including time at North Carolina, go back even further. He has posted winning seasons in 21 out of the last 22 years and taken his teams to 19 bowl games in the last 20 seasons. His 21 winning seasons in the last 22 years is the best active streak in the nation and his 19 bowl games in the last 20 seasons is tied for the best active streak in the nation with Frank Beamer.

STRING OF SUCCESS: Texas has finished the year ranked among the nation's Top 15 in 10 of the last 12 seasons, which includes a string of 10 consecutive, which is a Longhorn best. In addition, UT has finished in the Top 10 in seven of the last 11 seasons (2001, '02, '04, '05, '07, '08 and '09) and in the Top Five in four of the last eight ('04, '05, '08 and '09). You have to go back to Darrell Royal's string of success in the late 1960s, when the Horns finished among the Top Five four out of five years (1968-72), to equal that consistency in UT history.

STARTERS RETURNING: Texas welcomes back nine starters on offense and seven starters on defense. There are 14 offensive players who started a game in 2011 back for the 2012 campaign while the defense includes nine players with at least one start last season.

STARTERS LOST: Texas will have to replace two starters on offense and four on defense as seniors at the left guard (David Snow), fullback (Cody Johnson), defensive tackle (Kheeston Randall), middle linebacker (Keenan Robinson), weakside linebacker (Emmanuel Acho and free safety (Blake Gideon) position graduated. Also gone is RB Fozzy Whittaker, who missed the last portion of the season with an injury.

LETTERWINNERS RETURNING: The Longhorns return a total of 41 letterwinners from last season with 21 on offense, 19 on defense and one specialist. Of the returning letterwinners 14 were juniors, 17 were sophomores and 17 were redshirt or true freshmen in 2011.

QUARTERBACKS: Texas returns two quarterbacks with starting experience in junior Case McCoy and sophomore David Ash. Last year as a true freshman Ash started six games and set the school record for most touchdown passes (4) by a true freshman. He passed for 1,079 yards while completing 56.9 percent of his passes and leading Texas to a win over Cal in the Holiday Bowl. McCoy drew five starts and set the school record for most pass attempts to start a career without an interception (124). Overall he completed 61.1 percent of his passes for 1,034 yards and seven touchdowns. Added to the mix this spring was early enrollee Connor Brewer from Scottsdale, Ariz.

RUNNING BACKS: UT has a running backs corps that gained a lot of experience in 2011 despite a rash of injuries. The four returning running backs combined for 1,708 yards and 11 touchdowns. The two leading rushers from last season were true freshmen Malcolm Brown (742) and Joe Bergeron (463). Brown was the first true freshman since Cedric Benson in 2001 to lead Texas in rushing, recording three 100-yard games in his first season. Bergeron added two 100-yard games, incluidng the second most yards in a single game by a UT freshman with 191 against Texas Tech. He tied a school freshman record with three rushing TDs against the Red Raiders. D.J. Monroe led the RB position group with a 6.8 yards per carry as he had 326 yards in his junior season. The Longhorns will have two senior RBs going into 2012 with Jeremy Hills joining Monroe in their final year. Hills finished with 177 yards for the year in 2011. Ryan Roberson has experience at fullback, while Chet Moss and early enrollee Alex De La Torre worked at the position in spring.

WIDE RECEIVERS: The Longhorns had three wide receivers catch over 30 passes in 2011 and all three return for 2012, giving the quarterbacks familiar targets. Junior Mike Davis is the top returning receiver with 45 receptions for 609 yards and one touchdown in 2011. As a true freshman, Jaxon Shipley recorded one of the top three seasons all-time by a Texas freshman with his 44 catches for 607 yards and three touchdowns. Senior speedster Marquise Goodwin came on strong at the end of 2011, recording his first career 100-yard game in the regular season finale at Baylor. He had a touchdown catch in each of the final two games and finished with 33 receptions for 421 yards. Other receivers adding depth to the corps include redshirt sophomores John Harris and Bryant Jackson and sophomore Miles Onyegbule.

TIGHT ENDS: The top receiving tight end from last season, D.J. Grant, is back for his senior year. Grant was fourth on the team with 16 catches for 180 yards and matched the team lead with three touchdowns. Several other tight ends bring experience to the 2012 season, including seniors Barrett Matthews, who has seven career starts, and Luke Poehlmann, who started working at the position in 2011. Redshirt freshman M.J. McFarland will also compete for playing time freed up by departures of seniors Blaine Irby and Ahmard Howard.

OFFENSIVE LINE: Four starters return on the offensive line that led a Texas rushing attack that ranked 21st nationally with 202.6 rushing yards per game. Returning starters include sophomore left tackle Josh Cochran, sophomore center Dominic Espinosa, junior right guard Mason Walters and junior right tackle Trey Hopkins. Senior Luke Poehlmann and junior Garrett Porter all saw significant playing time as well in 2011 and return for 2012. Junior college transfer Donald Hawkins also joined the team in the spring and will compete for a significant role.

DEFENSIVE LINE: Texas' two starting defensive ends in 2011, Alex Okafor and Jackson Jeffcoat, combined for 35 tackles for loss, 15 sacks and 26 QB pressures. Okafor is a returning All-American with 9.5 career sacks and 20 TFL. Jeffcoat enters his junior year with 10.5 career sacks and 27 TFL. Cedric Reed and Reggie Wilson also return on the outside of the defensive line. In the middle, the Longhorns lost Kheeston Randall but have experience coming back in juniors Ashton Dorsey and Chris Whaley and sophomore Desmond Jackson. The two players combined for five starts a year ago. Junior college transfer Brandon Moore arrived in the spring and will help fill the position for the Longhorns.

LINEBACKERS: The position group taking the biggest hit to graduation is the linebackers as senior starters Emmanuel Acho and Keenan Robinson are both gone. Junior Jordan Hicks started eight games in 2011 with 65 tackles and is the top returner. Others who will battle for playing time are junior Demarco Cobbs, and sophomores Aaron Benson, Steve Edmond, Tevin Jackson and Kendall Thompson.

SECONDARY: With the exception of safeties Blake Gideon and Christian Scott, all of Texas' secondary returns for 2012. Both starting cornerbacks, Carrington Byndom and Quandre Diggs, are coming back along with starting safety Kenny Vaccaro. The three returning starters combined for eight interceptions and 38 PBU a year ago. Other defensive backs returning who saw action last season include juniors Adrian Phillips, who had significant starting experience, and sophomores Sheroid Evans, Leroy Scott, Mykkele Thompson and Josh Turner. Early enrollee Duke Thomas arrived in spring.

SPECIALISTS: Texas will have to replace its kicker/punter Justin Tucker in 2012 with sophomores Ben Pruitt and William Russ returning along with the addition of fifth-year transfer Alex King. Long snapper Alex Zumberge also graduated but holder Cade McCrary returns.

SIGNING CLASS: As The University of Texas enters the 2012 season, it looks to build on a 2011 season that culminated with a win over Cal in the Bridgepoint Education Holiday Bowl. With that, the Longhorns welcomed a strong class of 28 newcomers on National Signing Day. Of the 28, 10 were selected to participate in the Under Armour All-America Game, five in the U.S. Army All-American Bowl, four in the International Bowl, and two Semper Fidelis All-American Bowl. Twelve of the players are listed among ESPNU's Top 150 national prospects, and 23 are currently listed among either All-America or all-state teams. The class also features several prospects that were honor roll students and most of the 2012 signees have been very involved in community service efforts.

PRESEASON WATCH LISTS: Texas is well represented on preseason watch lists in 2012. The Longhorns have nine players represented a total of 19 times.

STARTING QB: Both sophomore David Ash and junior Case McCoy started in 2011, giving the Longhorns two quarterbacks with starting experience. In his six starts, Ash averaged 124.7 passing yards and 18.2 rushing yards per game while Texas went 3-3 in those six games. The Longhorns were 3-2 with McCoy as a starter. He averaged 169.8 passing yards per game in his five starts.

RUNNING BACK ATTACK: Texas has a stable of talented running backs in 2011. Sophomore Malcolm Brown is on the Maxwell Award watch list for the College Player of the Year as he averaged 74.2 rushing yards per game in 2011, the fifth most by a freshman in the NCAA and second most by a true freshman. He was one of only 13 freshmen at UT to rush for over 500 yards in a season, recording the seventh highest total. Joe Bergeron and D.J. Monroe each averaged over 6.0 yards per carry last year as well, combining for 789 yards and six touchdowns.

1,000 RUSHING YARDS: Brown needs 258 rushing yards to become the 47th player in school history to rush for 1,000 yards in a career. He is currently the active leader for Texas with his 742 yards as a freshman. Monroe is next with 664 yards through his first three seasons.

OLYMPIAN: WR Marquise Goodwin is a two-sport star in football and track & field. He qualifed for the 2012 London Olympics by winning the long jump at the U.S. Track & Field trials in Eugene, Ore. with a jump of 8.33m (27-4.25). He also won the NCAA Outdoor Track & Field National Championship in the event with a leap of 8.23m (27-0), his second NCAA title. He is also a two-time World Junior Champion (long jump, 4x100m) and four-time Big 12 Champion. As a football player he has posted 94 receptions for 1,024 yards (10.9 ypc) and four TDs over his three-year career.

CHASING THE TOP 10: Junior WR Mike Davis is nearing 100 career receptions and has a chance to climb into the top 10 in both receptions and yards this season. In his first two years, he has 92 receptions for 1,087 yards and three touchdowns. He is just 22 catches shy of Johnny Walker for a tie for 10th all-time and he needs 516 yards to chase down Johnny "Lam" Jones for 10th in career yardage.

BUILD ON FR YEAR: Sophomore Jaxon Shipley tallied 44 receptions for 607 yards and three touchdowns in 10 games played in 2011. His totals ranked among the all-time single season Texas freshmen receiving leaders. The 44 catches were second most, the 607 yards ranked third most and his three touchdowns tied for second. He will be a top target for the UT quarterbacks his sophomore season.

PERFECT THROWS: Shipley showed his versatility as a player, attempting four passes this season, completing all four for 73 yards and three touchdowns. He had a 41-yard touchdown pass to Blaine Irby at Texas A&M, a five-yard touchdown pass to D.J. Grant at UCLA and a four-yard touchdown pass to QB Davis Ash in the Holiday Bowl against California. His passer rating was 500.8. He also ran the ball 11 times for 39 yards.

DUAL PURPOSE: Luke Poehlmann had a dual role as both an offensive tackle and a tight end in 2011. Poehlmann lined up as an extra blocker on the field for the rushing attack in the final seven games. He even caught a three-yard touchdown pass at Baylor.

O-LINE DEPTH: Texas has built depth on the offensive line and has four returning starters from the second half of last season. Three of the four returning starters were in the starting lineup in all 13 games in 2011, including Outland Trophy candidate Mason Walters, Dominic Espinosa and Trey Hopkins. Josh Cochran started seven of the last eight games at left tackle as a freshman and earned freshman All-America honors. Junior College transfer Donald Hawkins impressed during spring drills and could vie for a starting tackle job as well. Behind the returning starters there are several other experienced players as well including junior Thomas Ashcraft (23 GP), senior Luke Poehlmann (28 GP) and junior Garrett Porter (25 GP).

ALL-AMERICAN: Defensive end Alex Okafor was selected to the American Football Coaches Association All-America Team in 2011. Texas has had at least one player chosen to the AFCA All-America team in six of the last eight years. Okafor was tied for sixth in the Big 12 with seven sacks and was eighth with 12.5 tackles for loss during his junior year.

BOOKENDS: Okafor and junior Jackson Jeffcoat started together at the defensive end positions in 12 of 13 games in 2011 and were two of the top playmakers for the defense. Both players ranked in the top 10 in the Big 12 in tackles for loss and sacks. The two have combined for 189 tackles, 47 tackles for loss, 20 sacks, four caused fumbles, two fumble recoveries and 47 QB pressures in their careers. Both are on preseason watch lists for the Bednarik Award, Nagurski Trophy and Lombardi Award.

MOORE IN THE MIDDLE: Junior college transfer Brandon Moore transferred from East Mississippi Community College where he helped the team win the NJCAA National Championship with a 12-0 record. He had 41 tackles, four TFL, three sacks and nine pressures on the year and made an immediate impression in spring practice for UT.

OTHER BROWN NOTABLES: Here are some other notable individual performances under Brown. Colt McCoy is one of just five QBs in NCAA history to post four seasons with at least 2,500 yards passing. Cedric Benson became the fifth player in NCAA history to rush for over 1,000 yards in four straight seasons and finished his career ranked sixth on the NCAA all-time rushing list (5,540 yards). Vince Young became the first player in NCAA history to rush for 1,000 yards and pass for 3,000 yards in one season.

BECOMING THE VETERAN: Linebacker Jordan Hicks could possibly vault into the leader of the linebacking corps with the departure of seniors Emmanuel Acho and Keenan Robinson. Hicks started in eight games as a sophomore and had 65 tackles to go along with four tackles for loss, one sack and one fumble recovery. He has the most starting experience of any of the returning linebackers.

VERSATILE DEFENDER: Kenny Vaccaro, who has seen action in all 38 games of his career on defense, including 19 starts. He is a playmaker who can play multiple spots in the secondary, spending most of his time at strong safety or the nickelback spot. For his career, Vaccaro has posted 157 tackles (103 solo), three interceptions, 11.5 TFL, two sacks, two forced fumbles, 17 PBU and eight pressures. He is projected as one of the top defensive backs in the country as he is on the preseason watch list for the Bednarik Award, Nagurski Trophy and Thorpe Award.

BYNDOM UP TO CHALLENGE: Junior Carrington Byndom went head-to-head with some of the top receivers in college football in 2011 and answered the challenge with 15 pass breakups and two interceptions. He ranked in the top 10 nationally in pass breakups despite facing some of the top passing offenses nationwide and competing as a sophomore in his first season as a starter.

DIGGS FOLLOWS IN FOOTSTEPS: As a true freshman last year, Quandre Diggs followed in his brother Quentin Jammer's footsteps by posting one of the top freshman seasons in school history for a defensive back. He was named the Big 12 Defensive Freshman of the Year and was a FWAA Freshman All-American. He tied the school record for interceptions by a freshman with four on the season, matching Chris Carter's four in 1993. Diggs also had 15 pass breakups to rank second most on the freshman list behind Earl Thomas' 17 in 2008.

MONROE CAREER RETURNS: D.J. Monroe heads into his senior year as one of the top kick returners in school history. He ranks third on the career list with 47 kickoff returns and third with 1,170 career kickoff return yards. His career average of 24.9 stands fifth on the career list. He has two career kickoff returns for touchdowns to tie him for the most at Texas.

KING TRANSFERS FROM DUKE: Punter Alex King has enrolled in graduate school and will complete his final season of eligibility at Texas after graduating with a degree in history from Duke University. He ranked ninth on the single-season average list at Duke after averaging 42.08 yards per attempt in 2011 when he was named second-team All-ACC.

CONFERENCE COMPETITION: Mack Brown, who has guided the Horns to the 2005 and 2009 Big 12 Championships and has won or shared the Big 12 South Division Championship six times, is 86-27 (.761) in 14 seasons of Big 12 play. That is the second-best league record over that span just behind Oklahoma (87-26/.770) and bettering Nebraska (65-39), Kansas State (62-51) and Texas Tech (62-51). At 94-35 (.729), Texas has the top intraconference record since the Big 12 formed in 1996.

BIG 12 WINNING STREAKS: The Horns had tied the school record by winning 21 straight conference games from 2004-06 before the streak was snapped at Kansas State in 2006. The record of 21 straight conference victories was set from 1968-71 when Texas was competing in the Southwest Conference. The 21-straight Big 12 victories also marked the longest streak in league history. Texas also has the second-longest home winning streak in Big 12 history with 26 straight victories from 1999-2006 and the longest road winning streak in conference play with 13 straight wins from 2002-06.

UT'S BIG 12 SUCCESS AT HOME: Texas is 41-9 (.820) at Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium/Jamail Field versus league opponents during the Mack Brown era. The 41 home victories are the second-most by any team in the conference over the last 14 years. In addition, the Horns set the league record with a 26-game home winning streak over Big 12 opponents, which was snapped in 2006. Prior to 2006, the last time UT had lost a home game against a league foe was 1999 (35-17 to No. 13 Kansas State).

ROYAL-TEXAS MEMORIAL STADIUM/JAMAIL FIELD RENOVATIONS

As Texas football proceeds through the 21st century, Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium continues to evolve as a state-of-the-art facility at the forefront of college football.

Following the 2008 season, Texas installed FieldTurf as its playing surface and permanent bleachers were added to the south end of the stadium.

Combined with the previous year's north end zone project, DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium now has a stadium capacity of 100,119, which is the fifth-largest college stadium in the country and the largest college stadium in the southwest.

The north end zone expansion project that was completed prior to the 2008 season featured an upper deck, club seating, an academic center and a war memorial plaza. The expansion added approximately 2,108 club seats and 47 suites.

The lower deck of the north end zone was completed for the 2007 season. Another major upgrade was made prior to 2007, when a new video board was installed at the south end of the stadium. At the time, the scoreboard was the nation's largest high-definition video display board thanks to DAKtronics. The $8-million Prostar Video Board is 55 feet high by 134 feet wide.

In addition, the interior of the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex, most notably the players' lounge, is consistently being upgraded. Prior to 2009, a new academic center was constructed. It is approximately three times the size of the old one at Moncrief-Neuhaus. It features writing, math and computer labs, numerous tutoring areas, a multimedia classroom and academic staff office space.

In the summer of 2011, the Longhorns locker room was renovated with completion in early August. It is all part of a $176.5 million renovation project at the stadium.

BIG 12 ROAD SUCCESS: Texas has won 35 of its last 42 (.833) true Big 12 road games (not including neutral-site games), including a league-record 13 consecutive conference road wins from 2002-06. The Horns are 39-9 (.812) in league road contests under Mack Brown. Highlighting the Horns' road record under Brown are victories at Nebraska (1998) to end the Huskers' nation-best 47-game home winning streak, another win that snapped a Nebraska 26-game home winning streak (2002) and a victory to break Oklahoma State's 10-game winning streak (2003).

JAMAIL FIELD ADVANTAGE: During Mack Brown's 14-year tenure, Texas has won 72 of its 85 games (.847) at Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium/Jamail Field. The Horns' .804 home winning percentage (45-11) since 2003 ranks seventh nationally. That is a dramatic improvement from the Horns' 45-23-1 record (.659) in the 13 seasons prior to Brown's arrival. Under Brown, the Horns have outscored their opponents by an average of 40-17 (3,377-1,446) and outgained them by an average of 451.7 yards to 268.7 (38,398-22,843) at home.

"FAN"-TASTIC: Texas has been one of the best-attended programs in the nation over the past 10 years. The Horns, who have played in front of a sellout crowd in 69 of their last 72 home games, have attracted 49 of the top 50 crowds in UT history since Mack Brown took over in 1998. In addition, the top 25 home crowds at Texas have come since '06. Texas' school-record season-ticket sales of 84,071 in 2010 are more than double the 39,743 sold in 1997, the UT record when Brown arrived. Texas set the single-game attendance record against Rice earlier this season with a crowd of 101,624 and have drawn 100,000 or more 17 times in school history. The Rice game was the largest crowd to see a college sport event in the Southwest. The single-season record for home attendance is 704,580 set last season in 2010.

JAMAIL FIELD STREAKS: The Horns have posted three of the six-longest home winning streaks in school history during the Mack Brown era. The Horns won 20 in a row at home from 1999-2003 (third-longest in school history). Then, from 2003-06, Texas won 16-straight home games, which is tied for the fourth-best string. UT had another 16-game string from 2007-10. The longest streak in school history is a 41-game streak from 1968-76. Texas' 26-game home intra-conference winning streak from 1999-2006 is the second-longest in Big 12 history.

DRAWING FANS ON THE ROAD: Texas has attracted record crowds in 11 of its road games over the past seven seasons, at Oklahoma State (58,516, 2009), vs. Oklahoma in the Cotton Bowl (96,009, 2009-11 and 92,182, 2008), at Texas Tech (60,454, 2010, 56,333, 2008 and 56,158, 2006), at UTEP (53,415, 2008), at Texas A&M (88,253, 2007) and at Nebraska (85,187, 2006).

ROAD WARRIORS: Texas is 69-26 (.726) away from home (road and neutral sites) over the last 14 years compared to a 43-43-2 (.500) record in the 14 years prior to Mack Brown's arrival in 1998. The Horns' 66-23 (.742) mark in road and neutral-site games since 1999 is the nation's third-best record over that span. Texas is 52-12 (.813) on the road (not including neutral-site games) and 45-7 (.865) versus unranked road foes during the Mack Brown era. Prior to Brown's arrival, UT posted just five winning road records in the 14 seasons leading up to 1998. During that time, UT was just 33-35 (.485) in true road games. The Longhorns have won 47 of their last 54 true road games (.870). In addition, UT is currently on a streak of 12 consecutive non-conference road wins, which is a school record, bettering the previous streak of seven from 1956-63.

AP TOP 25 FINISHES: Texas has finished the year ranked among the AP Top 25 in 12 of Mack Brown's 14 completed years in Austin, including a string of 12 straight. That marked the first time in school history Texas has finished in the AP Top 25 for 12 straight years, bettering the previous record of eight straight seasons from 1968-75. Dating back to his days at UNC, Brown's teams have finished the year ranked among the AP Top 25 in 14 of the last 16 seasons, including nine Top 10 finishes.

UT AND THE AP TOP 10: As a result of its loss at Kansas State in 2006, Texas had its string of 46-straight weeks in the AP Top 10 snapped. Prior to that, the last time the Horns were not among the AP Top 10 was in the final poll of the 2003 season. The 46-straight weeks was the longest for the Horns in the Mack Brown era. The longest Texas streak in the AP Top 10 is 60 weeks from 1961-65. With its loss to UCLA in 2010, Texas had a streak of 33 consecutive weeks ranked in the Top 10 broken. In addition, prior to the poll on Sept. 12, 2010, the Horns had been ranked in the AP Top 5 for 30 consecutive weeks, which was the longest active streak in the nation and is the longest streak in the Mack Brown era, bettering a 19-week streak from 2005-06.

COACHES POLL FINISHES: Texas has been ranked in the first and last coaches poll in 12 of Mack Brown's 14 completed seasons in Austin. Dating back to his days at UNC, Brown's teams have finished the year ranked among the coaches' Top 25 in 14 of the last 16 seasons, including nine Top 10 finishes.

BROWN'S TOP 10 HORNS: Mack Brown revived the Horns as a Top 10 regular beginning with a No. 5 preseason ranking in 2001. Since then, the Horns have earned a Top 10 standing in 125 of the last 162 AP polls. All totalled, UT has spent 132 weeks ranked among the AP Top 10 and 135 weeks ranked in the coaches' Top 10 since Brown arrived in 1998. That coaches poll streak resumed in the Oct. 2, 2011 poll when the Longhorns returned with a No. 10 ranking. In the previous 13-year stretch prior to his arrival, UT spent just 16 weeks rated among the Top 10. Brown has led the Horns to a final Top 10 ranking in seven of the last 11 seasons. In 2008, Brown led Texas to its first regular-season No. 1 ranking since 1984. In 2005, he led UT to its first No. 1 ranking to end the season since 1969. Before Brown took over the program, the last time UT earned a Top 10 finish was 1983. From the start of the 1984 season to Brown's arrival in 1998, UT was in the Top 10 just 28 times in 14 seasons.

TACKLING THE TOP 25: Texas is 27-15 (.643) in its last 42 games versus Top 25 opponents. Seven of those losses have come to Top-10 ranked teams. That's a continuation of the success the Longhorns have had against ranked foes during the Mack Brown era. In Brown's 14 years in Austin, UT is 34-26 (.567) versus Top 25 opponents. That compares to a 16-34-2 (.327) mark in the 13 years before Brown arrived. In fact, the Longhorns have posted a winning record against ranked opponents in nine of the last 11 seasons as compared to just two seasons in the 13 prior to Brown's arrival.

Texas is the only team in the nation to be ranked in 12 of the last 13 BCS Final Polls.

TEN STRAIGHT TOP 15 FINISHES: Texas' No. 2 ranking in 2009 marked the 10th straight year the Horns finished ranked among the nation's Top 15. That is the first time UT had ever accomplished that feat. The 2009 standing followed a No. 3 ranking in 2008, a No. 10 ranking in 2007, a No. 13 ranking in 2006, a No. 1 ranking in 2005, a No. 5 ranking in 2004, a No. 12 ranking in 2003, a No. 6 ranking in 2002, a No. 5 ranking in 2001 and a No. 12 ranking in 2000.

UT IN THE AP TOP 25 POLL: The Longhorns were ranked as high as No. 11 in the Associated Press top 25 in 2011 and appeared in eight of the 16 weekly top 25 rankings, along with being the top vote getter outside of the poll in one week and the second-leading vote getter in another week. Following Rice it was the first appearance in the poll for UT since its nation-leading and UT-record streak of 162 straight weeks in the poll was snapped following the loss to Oklahoma in 2010. The streak bettered a 114-week stretch from 1968-76. It was the sixth-longest streak in the history of the poll. Prior to the poll on Sept. 12, 2010, the Horns had been ranked in the AP Top 5 for 30 consecutive weeks, which was the longest active streak in the nation and the longest streak in the Mack Brown era.

UT IN THE COACHES POLL: Texas was ranked in the USA Today Coaches Poll in nine of the 16 weeks this season, including one week as the top vote getter outside the poll. That also includes a No. 10 ranking on Oct. 2. The top 10 ranking gave them 135 weeks total in the top 10 during the Mack Brown era. Prior to Texas' loss to Oklahoma in 2010, UT had been ranked among the USA Today Coaches Poll for 190 straight weeks dating back to late in the 1998 season. The 190 straight weeks was the longest UT streak in any poll and the nation's longest active streak in the coaches poll. The Horns' previous longest streak in the coaches poll was 54 weeks from 1977-80.

HORNS' FINISHING TOUCH: One of the mantras of the program under Mack brown is "finish," and the Horns have done that since Brown arrived. Over Brown's 14-year tenure, UT has gone 29-6 (.829) in games decided by four points or less and 21-4 (.840) in games decided by three points or less. The Longhorns' have won 18 of their last 19 (.947) games decided by three points or less. The only loss came in a shootout at Kansas State, 45-42, in 2006, when Colt McCoy was sidelined by injury after the opening drive. The success under Brown is an improvement from the 12 years prior to his arrival when UT went 18-15-2 (.543) in games decided by four points or less and 16-11-2 (.586) in games decided by three points or less.

OFFENSIVE EXPLOSION: In 14 seasons under Mack Brown, UT's offense has produced 11 of the top 12 passing seasons, 12 of the top 14 total yardage campaigns and the top nine scoring years in school history. The Horns have also averaged at least 200 yards both rushing and passing in four of the 14 completed seasons. During his tenure, the Longhorns have registered forty-one 50-point games and five of the top seven total offense games in school history.

MORE OFFENSE: In addition, UT has produced fifty 500-yard total offense performances under Brown (there are only 73 of them in the 119 years of Texas football) and has recorded 10 of the school's twenty 600-yard total offense games. The Horns' balanced attack has produced at least 400 yards of offense in 88 of its last 142 games (62.0%) and has registered 200 yards both passing and rushing 51 times. Texas has scored at least 25 points in 73 of its last 98 games (74.5%). That includes a streak of at least 28 points in a UT-best 19 consecutive games from 2007-08, bettering the previous mark of 12 straight (2005-06). Texas also posted an 11-game streak from 2000-01. Prior to Brown's arrival, the longest streak of scoring at least 28 points was seven games.

500 YARDS OF OFFENSE: There have been 50 games of 500 or more yards during Mack Brown's tenure. Texas recorded over 500 yards four times in 2011 with a season-high 595 yards of total offense against Texas Tech and 590 yards against Kansas.

400 RUSHING YARDS: Since 1980 UT has six games in which they have rushed for 400 or more yards with five of those coming under Mack Brown. Two of those contests came last season in back-to-back games. They had 439 rushing yards against Texas Tech and 441 vs. Kansas.

SCORING DEFENSE: Texas' defense has been a scoring machine since 1999. During that time, the defense has accounted for 298 points and scored in 42 of the 168 games (25.0%). The defense accounted for one touchdown on an interception return and three safeties in 2011 for 12 total points. The three safeties came in a span of four games as UT posted two points against Oklahoma State, Kansas and Missouri. UT posted four TDs and a safety in 2009 for 30 points. The Horns' defense has scored at least three TDs in 10 of the last 12 seasons, led by seven TDs scored in 2000. That defense tallied 46 points, which is the most over the 12-year stretch. The 2003 unit scored six TDs, while the 2006 unit scored five TDs.

STINGY SCORING D: During the last four seasons at Texas, the Longhorn defense has held 43-of-51 opponents (84.3%) under their season scoring averages. The Longhorns have limited 23 teams to 14 points or less in the last four years, including three games in 2011 on the way to leading the conference in scoring defense. That matched the total from 2010 of three opponents scoring 14 points or less. In 2009, the Horns held 12-of-14 opponents under their scoring averages and didn't allow an offensive TD in four of 14 games. Texas also led the Big 12 in scoring defense in 2008 allowing just 18.8 points per game.

GUARDING THE END ZONE: Texas' defense has made it difficult for opponents to reach the end zone over the last 12 seasons. Since 2000, the Horns have allowed only 325 TDs in 154 games (2.1 TDs per game), which ranks fourth nationally. Miami has allowed the fewest, giving up 286. In 13 games in 2011, the Horns' defense surrendered 28 TDs, including the first shutout since 2005 against Kansas. In 2010, Texas held Texas Tech to 14 points, the fewest they had scored in Lubbock in the series since 1984 (10) and the fewest overall in the series since 2001 (7). The defense held No. 5/4 Nebraska out of the end zone with the only score coming on a punt return. In 2009, the Horns' defense allowed just 23 TDs on 185 possessions (12.4%).

Texas recorded its first shutout since 2005 in a 43-0 win over Kansas last year. UT has been strongest at the end of games, not allowing a point in the fourth quarter in eight of the 13 overall contests a year ago.

DEFENSIVE DOMINANCE: After inheriting a program that ranked among the NCAA's bottom half in total defense for the five seasons prior to his arrival, Mack Brown and his staff have reversed that trend. Texas has ranked among the nation's top 25 in total defense in 11 of the last 14 seasons and was 11th in 2011.

SHUTDOWN QUARTERS: The Longhorns have held an opponent to zero or fewer yards in a quarter eight times in the last four seasons. Last year UT held Kansas to negative two yards in the second quarter and negative one yard in the third quarter. In the first quarters of Texas' games against UCLA (minus-six) and Texas Tech (minus-four) in 2010, the defense held the opposition to a combined minus-10 yards. Texas also held Rice to zero yards in the third quarter that season. In 2009, it held UTEP to minus-seven in the first quarter and minus-one in the third. It then held Baylor to minus-20 in the second quarter.

GROUND PATROL: Mack Brown and his staff inherited a ground defense that had ranked no better than 64th nationally in the five seasons prior to their arrival. In 14 seasons at Texas, they have turned that around dramatically. The Horns have limited 72 of their last 139 opponents (51.8%) to fewer than 100 yards rushing and allowed just thirty-nine 100-yard rushers in the last 166 games (23.5%). The Horns have been ranked in the top six in rush defense in five of the last seven seasons, including a No. 1 national ranking in 2009 (72.4 ypg). During that span (78 games), UT has held opponents to just 90.0 yards per game (7,022 yards on 2,471 carries) and just 2.84 yards per carry. In addition, at home over the last seven seasons (39 games), Texas has only allowed 13 teams to break the 100-yard plateau and has only allowed nine individual 100-yard rushers. In true road games over the last five seasons (25 games), Texas has allowed only 14 teams to reach 100 yards rushing and just six individual 100-yard rushers. Texas has held its opponent under 50 yards rushing 46 times during the Mack Brown era.

SHORT DRIVES: The Texas defense has prevented its opponents from moving the chains on 36.4 percent of their drives over the last nine seasons (142 games). During that time, UT forced 683 three-and-outs or better in 1,878 possessions. In 2011, that number stood at 67-of-175 (.383), which includes 8-of-11 against Kansas, 9-of-13 versus Kansas State, 9-of-17 against Oklahoma State and 7-of-18 at Texas A&M. In 2010, Texas posted 41.2 percent (63-of-153) and was one of only five teams nationally to average at least five three-and-outs per game (5.25). In 2009, the Horns forced 77 three-and-outs or better on 185 possessions (41.6%) and averaged 5.5 three-and-outs or better per game.

( ) - National Ranking

PRESSURE AT A PREMIUM: Texas is third in the nation in sacks with 479 since 1999, trailing only Virginia Tech (484) and USC (483). Since 2008, the pressure statistics have continued to go up. During that span, Texas' 153 sacks rank first nationally and its 440 TFL also rank first nationally. In 2011 the Longhorns had 29 sacks and 116 tackles for loss in 13 games. Texas amassed 31 sacks and 93 TFL in 2010. In 2009, the Horns registered 46 sacks, 136 TFL, 143 pressures and 186 hits on opponents' quarterbacks. The 46 sacks were the second-most nationally and the 136 TFL led the country. In 2008, Texas led the nation in sacks with 47, which was also the most in the Mack Brown era, bettering the 43-sack total in 2000. It marked the first time in school history that Texas led the country in sacks. In addition, the 2008 defense produced 99 TFL, 170 pressures and 129 hits on opponents' quarterbacks.

2. USC 483
3. TEXAS..... 479

NON-OFFENSIVE SCORES: Since 1999, UT has scored 80 TDs via returns, turnovers and blocked kicks. The 80 scores during that stretch rank second nationally behind only Virginia Tech (82). Texas hasd four non-offensive scores this past season with an interception return, a blocked punt return and two kickoff returns for touchdowns. There have now been 16 kickoff returns for touchdowns in school history with nine of those coming during the Mack Brown era. The lone defensive score of the year came at Texas A&M when Carrington Byndom intercepted a pass and returned it 58 yards for a touchdown.

RETURN GAME: Texas has improved its kick returning and defending on kickoffs and punts since Mack Brown arrived. Since 1998, the Horns have produced 11 of UT's 28 all-time punt returns for TDs and nine of the 16 kickoff returns for TDs. In contrast, UT has only given up four punt return TDs during the Mack Brown era. It had been 101 games (Kansas State, 1999) since Texas had given up a punt return for a TD before Kansas State returned one in 2007. During that time, Texas scored on four punt returns, while its opponents scored on seven returns. When Brown arrived in 1998, Texas hadn't returned a kickoff for a score since 1978. Then, in the 2000 Holiday Bowl, Victor Ike returned a kickoff 93 yards for a TD, snapping the 265-game streak. That return was the first of eight under Mack Brown. This season Fozzy Whittaker matched a school record with a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against Oklahoma and then in the next game had another 100-yard return for a touchdown versus Oklahoma State.

COACHES

Mack Brown

Mack Brown is entering his 15th season as the head coach of the Texas Longhorns. With a mark at Texas of 141-39 (.783), the 2008 Bobby Dodd National Coach of the Year and the 2009 Big 12 Coach of the Year has elevated the Longhorns program to new heights.

The 2005 Paul W. "Bear" Bryant National Coach of the Year award winner, and coach of the 2005 BCS National Champions, he is one of a handful of coaches in the history of college football to lead two separate programs to a Top Five national finish.

A member of the Longhorn Hall of Honor, Brown's 227 career victories rank 13th on the NCAA all-time list, and he is one of just two active coaches to have reached the 200-victory plateau. He is also one of only two coaches nationally to direct his teams to 19 bowls in the last 20 seasons and 21 winning seasons in the last 22 years, along with being one of only five active coaches at FBS schools to have won 100 games at their current school. His 141 wins at Texas are the third-most in the nation in the last 14 years, and his 161 wins overall in the last 16 years are the most nationally, as are his 208 victories since 1990.

Those streaks are a reflection of the continuing success Brown has brought to a program that managed at least 10 wins just twice in the 14 years prior to his arrival in 1998, but has done so nine times in his 14 seasons, including a streak of nine consecutive that is tied for the second-longest in NCAA history. Brown has also led the Longhorns to six seasons of at least 11 wins.

Under Brown, Texas has won eight of its last 10 bowl games and has a 9-4 record overall, including a UT record streak of 12 consecutive bowl appearances. In the 14 years prior to Brown's arrival, Texas went to seven bowls and was 2-5. The nine bowl wins give Brown the most in Texas history, passing Darrell Royal's eight. In addition, the streak includes a BCS National Championship, another BCS National Championship Game appearance and three BCS Bowl wins.

Since Brown came to Austin, the Horns have finished the year ranked in the Top 15 in 10 of the last 12 years, which includes a string of 10 straight. They also have seven Top 10 finishes and five Top Five rankings. Prior to Brown's arrival in 1998, the last time Texas had finished the year in the Top 10 was 1983. In addition, Texas leads the nation in all time appearances in the BCS rankings with 93, which is eight more than Florida and Virginia Tech.

However excellence and consistency are nothing new to the coaching veteran of 39 years, including 28 as a head coach. Establishing stability has been a trademark of Brown's career, highlighted by his success at North Carolina and Texas. He rebuilt UNC after a series of disappointing seasons and turned it into a nationally-elite program.

Fresh off a season that saw North Carolina finish 11-1 and fourth nationally (USA Today/CNN), Brown was hired as the 28th head coach in the storied history of Texas football on Dec. 4, 1997. He immediately developed a plan of attack, hiring a staff of veteran coaches who had familiarity with the Southwest. Brown linked tradition with winning, education and entertainment. From his first season, he steadily has restored pride in one of college football's most historic programs and put the swagger back in being a Longhorn.

Brown has brought enthusiasm back to the UT program while wowing everyone from recruits to supporters and alumni. His down-home wit and wisdom are clearly energetic, thoughtful, engaging and enthusiastic. That passion has helped the Longhorns sign some of the nation's finest recruiting classes year in and year out, while raising the enthusiasm and support for Texas football to an all-time high.

Beginning with an eight-city speaking tour of Texas in 1998 – which turned into a revival as thousands of fans poured into crowded rooms to hear him speak – Brown rapidly invigorated the mood and spirit of the UT faithful and hasn't missed a beat since.

Brown reunited the Longhorns lettermen, welcoming any and all to practices and began a lettermen's reunion and golf tournament that has grown immensely each spring. Thousands of former lettermen and their families return to campus for the annual UT Spring Jamboree that Brown has turned into a weekend event in Austin. The Jamboree features a lettermen's golf outing and reunion to go along with pregame festivities and the Orange-White scrimmage. The weekend has set attendance records each year, topping out at 46,000 in 2012. Brown also has added a Fan Appreciation Day in the fall.

"Mack has helped bring back the pride in Texas Football," former Longhorns All-American and NFL great Tommy Nobis said. "Tradition is what makes the college game so exciting, and Mack is doing a great job getting everyone excited about wearing the burnt orange and white and being a Longhorn again."

Brown also quickly built two other important bridges — one with legendary former head coach Darrell Royal and the other with the important constituency of Texas high school coaches.

"Mack has done everything right from the first day he hit town," Royal said. "He has established strong ties with the high school coaches, built a tremendous bond with the lettermen and gained unbelievable support.

"With all of the great things he has done in public relations, what people have learned is that he can coach, too. He is a dedicated football man and has assembled an outstanding staff. Together, they organize all the facets of the job. Talk about 'not leaving a stone unturned' … he turned over every rock as fast as he could. A major state official in North Carolina told one of our top people Mack could be elected governor, and he wasn't kidding. Mack is that strong with people."

The union with Royal, whom Brown idolized as a young player in high school, has been a meaningful relationship for both men.

"Mack's like the Darrell Royal of the 21st century," UT All-American and 2002 College Football Hall of Fame inductee Jerry Sisemore said. "He's hard-working and has a great concern for his athletes. The coaches and players work hard and support one another and that's exactly how Coach Royal ran things. Mack's the real deal and it's been fun to watch him build the program."

An enthusiastic supporter of tradition, Brown is just as passionate in his appreciation of high school coaches, a group he treats with the utmost respect. The gregarious coach has engaged the proud Texas high school coaching community. Brown invites every high school staff to visit UT practices and rapidly built powerful bonds in that community. UT's high school coaches clinic has gone from a couple hundred coaches prior to his arrival to more than a thousand and become one of the state's most popular spring events.

"Our goal is to win championships with nice kids who are graduating. We may be in the entertainment business on the weekends, but we are in the education business during the week."
— Mack Brown

"I have never seen anyone make friends better or quicker with the high school coaching community," said Eddie Joseph, former executive VP of the Texas High School Coaches Association. "Mack is amazing. He has the ability to make everyone feel at ease around him and makes the coaches from junior high on up feel comfortable. I think the thing that makes him so great for the coaches to work with is that he has a passion for high school coaches. He has a great deal of respect for the coaches."

With his team, the message was clear from the first meeting on the evening of Dec. 4, 1997. He did not believe in rebuilding. He believed in winning. The standard was simple. He expected that, together, he and the team would have fun. He expected that, together, he and the team would do things the right way. He expected that, together, he and the team would win. Each year, Brown has built on that foundation while accomplishing feats not seen in Austin in decades.

Brown's 12 consecutive seasons of at least nine wins are a UT first, as are his three back-to-back 11-win campaigns (2001-02, 2004-05, 2008-09), nine 10-victory seasons in a row, and three 12-win seasons (2005, '08, '09). Texas also set a school record with a streak of 12 straight bowl berths in Brown's time, bettering the nine straight bowl games from 1977-85. UT produced a streak of Top 25 finishes for 12 years in a row, a first since the Horns earned eight final Top 25 rankings in a row from 1968-75. The Longhorns also created a streak of 10 straight Top 13 finishes, which is a UT record. The Horns have claimed or shared the Big 12 South Division title in six of the last 14 years, including four conference championship game berths and two Big 12 titles.

In 14 seasons, Brown's Longhorns squads have featured a Heisman Trophy winner, two runners-up and a third-place finisher, three Maxwell Award winners, three WCFF Player of the Year Award winners, two Doak Walker Award winners, two Thorpe Award winners, two Nagurski Trophy winners, two O'Brien Award winners a Butkus Award winner, a Lombardi Award winner, two Manning Award winners, a Hendricks Award winner, two Draddy/Campbell Trophy winners, 52 All-Americans, 64 first-team All-Big 12 selections, five Big 12 Offensive Players of the Year, five Big 12 Defensive Players of the Year and 12 Big 12 Freshman of the Year honorees.

Defensively, Brown has transformed a unit that ranked 85th nationally in total defense in 1997 into a group that led the nation in total defense (236.2 ypg) and led the Big 12 in rushing (89.5 ypg), passing (146.7 ypg) and scoring (13.7 ppg) defense in 2001. That came on the heels of a pair of seasons that saw UT rank sixth nationally in total defense (286.7 ypg) in 1999 and seventh (278.3 ypg) in 2000. The 2008 defense also led the Big 12 in total defense, scoring defense and rushing defense (third NCAA), while the 2009 unit led the nation in rushing defense (72.4 ypg) and was third in total defense (251.9/first Big 12). In 2011, Texas again led the Big 12 almost every major statistical category including total defense (306.1 ypg)/11th NCAA), rushing defense (96.2 ypg/sixth NCAA), pass efficiency defense (111.0/10th NCAA) and pass defense (209.9 ypg), while finishing second in scoring defense by just .15 points per game. Texas has led the Big 12 in scoring defense three times, in total defense seven times and four straight years and rushing defense seven times and five of the last six seasons. The aggressive defensive style of the Brown era has seen the Horns significantly increase their production in sacks, tackles for loss and turnovers forced in the last 14 seasons. In 2008, Texas led the nation in sacks and then tied for second in 2009, a year it also led the nation in turnovers gained and interceptions.

On offense, the Longhorns have set 137 school records and featured the school's only 3,000-yard passers (Colt McCoy, 2007, 08, 09/Vince Young, 2005/Chris Simms, 2002/Major Applewhite, 1999), 2,000-yard rusher (Ricky Williams, 1998), 1,000-yard receivers (Quan Cosby, 2008/Jordan Shipley, 2008, 09/Roy Williams, 2002, 03/ Kwame Cavil, 1999/ Wane McGarity, 1998) and 1,000-yard passer/rusher (Vince Young, 2004 and 05) in a season. In 2008, Cosby and Shipley combined to become the first duo in school history and just the 11th in NCAA history to each have 85-plus catches and 1,000-plus receiving yards in the same season. UT became just the second team in NCAA Division I-A history to boast a 2,000-yard rusher and passer as well as a 1,000-yard receiver in 1998. In his career at Texas alone, Brown became one of just three head coaches in NCAA Division I-A history who to lead a player to a 3,000-yard passing season, a 2,000-yard rushing season and a 1,000-yard receiving season.

"As a parent, when my son is 18 years old, and if he chooses to play football and somebody comes to the door to talk to him about molding him for the next four or five years, I want it to be Coach Brown or Coach Royal. Mack Brown joined John Robinson (USC) and Dan McCarney (Iowa State) as the only head coaches in NCAA Division I-A history who in the same season coached a 3,000-yard passer (Colt McCoy 2007-09 / Vince Young 2005 / Chris Simms, 2002 / Major Applewhite, 1999), 2,000-yard rusher (Ricky Williams, 1998) and 1,000-yard receiver (Roy Williams, 2002, 2003 / Kwame Cavil, 1999 / Wane McGarity, 1998).

Texas also has re-established its home field advantage and, as a result, dominance under Brown. In his 14 seasons, the Longhorns have increased their season ticket sales by nearly 45,000, up to a school-best 84,071 in 2010, and set school attendance records while playing in front of sellout crowds in 69 of the last 72 home games and have attracted the top 10 crowds in UT history. With a full house on hand the past 14 seasons, UT has gone 72-13 in games at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium, including a 41-9 mark in Big 12 home games. At one point, UT had a streak of 21 consecutive victories (third-longest in UT history) and the longest for UT since it won 42 straight from 1968-76 (No. 6 in NCAA history). The Longhorns also set the marks for the Big 12's longest intraconference winning streak (21 games) and the longest intraconference road winning streak (13).

Texas has lost only 12 road games in Mack Brown's 14-year tenure with two of them coming in his first three games at UT. The Longhorns have won 47 of their last 54 true road games. The only losses during that stretch were a 42-38 shootout at Texas Tech in 2002, a 45-42 defeat at Kansas State in 2006, a 38-30 loss at Texas A&M in 2007, a 39-33 loss with one second remaining at No. 7 Texas Tech in 2008, a 39-14 loss to KSU in 2010, a 17-5 defeat at Missouri in 2011 and a 48-24 setback at Baylor to end the 2011 regular season. The Horns set a UT-record streak with 17 consecutive road wins before falling to Kansas State in 2006. UT also won 12 consecutive road games from 2000-02. Texas is 52-12 (.813) overall on the road and 44-7 (.863) versus unranked road foes during the Mack Brown era. In fact, UT is currently riding a school-record non-conference road winning streak of 12, which betters the previous mark of seven from 1956-63. Texas has won 35 of its last 42 Big 12 Conference road games, including a league-record 13 consecutive conference road wins from 2002-06. The Horns are 39-9 (.813) in league road contests under Mack Brown.

Brown's on-the-field success has had an impact on the student-athletes' future opportunities as well. As of the 2012 NFL Draft, two of his Longhorns have been selected in the first round in six of the past 12 drafts. When OT Mike Williams (Buffalo Bills) and CB Quentin Jammer (San Diego Chargers) were selected fourth and fifth, respectively, in 2002, it marked the first time in UT history that two Longhorns were chosen among the first five overall picks. Brown's Longhorns featured a pair of first-round picks in 2004 when Roy Williams (seventh pick) was taken by the Detroit Lions and Marcus Tubbs was selected by the Seattle Seahawks (23rd pick). The 2005 NFL Draft had Longhorns Cedric Benson (fourth pick) and Derrick Johnson (15th pick) in the first round. In the 2006 NFL Draft, Vince Young (third pick) and Michael Huff (seventh pick) were both first-round choices, and in 2007, Michael

"Mack's like the Darrell Royal of the 21st century. He's hard-working and has great concern for his athletes. The coaches and players work hard and support one another and that's exactly how Coach Royal ran things."
— Jerry Sisemore, former UT All-American and NFL All-Pro offensive tackle

UT had four players selected in the first two rounds of the 2007 Draft with Justin Blalock and Tim Crowder chosen in the second round following Griffin and Ross. That marked the most Longhorns chosen in the first two rounds since 1982. Three members of his 1997 Carolina squad were picked in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft, which tied for the most of any collegiate program.

In the 28 drafts during Brown's time as a head coach, the NFL has picked 105 of his student-athletes, and he has had a player selected in 27 straight drafts. He has had 19 players (15 from UT/four from UNC) selected in the first round in the last 15 drafts. Over the past 15 years, Brown has had 68 players selected in the draft with 52 (76.5%) of those coming in the first four rounds.

With all of the success on the field, the primary emphasis has remained the same with Brown's squads — maintaining a high level of achievement in the classroom and in the community. Eighty percent of his players at North Carolina received their degrees and he has increased the pace at Texas, while more than a third of his players at Texas have regularly earned 3.0 grade point averages and achieved spots on the Big 12 Commissioner's and Athletics Director's honor rolls.

Over the last six years, the success in the classroom has reached an all-time high. The Longhorns have led the Big 12 in academic all-conference selections in five of the last six seasons, and in three of those have had equal or more first-team selections than all but two Big 12 schools have had total selections.

In 2010, DE Sam Acho became Texas' second winner of the Campbell Trophy, which has been likened to an "academic Heisman." Acho also became the seventh Longhorns to be named two-time first-team Academic All-America. Texas registered two first-team academic All-America honorees in Acho and OT Adam Ulatoski in 2009, after having also done so in 2007 with C Dallas Griffin and DT Derek Lokey. Griffin went on to earn UT's first Campbell Trophy, which at the time was named the Draddy Trophy. QB Colt McCoy was a finalist for that award in 2009 and recognized as a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete, as were Griffin and Acho. In 2008, RB Chris Ogbonnaya also earned second-team academic All-America honors.

Alongside academics, Brown's life skills program features numerous seminars to prepare student-athletes for life after football, while Longhorns players make countless visits to area children's hospitals and serve as tutors and mentors at schools across Austin. Never has that been as evident as the last two years with Acho, who was named the 2010 Wuerffel Trophy winner for all-around excellence, and the 2010 ARA Sportsmanship Award winner, along with being selected as a member of the AFCA Good Works Team. Emmanuel Acho then joined his brother as back-to-back honores on the Good Works Team, giving Texas four in the last six years along with Vince Young and Colt McCoy.

On the field, Brown has led the Longhorns to one of the best records in the nation during his tenure, posting a 141-39 mark (.783) over 14 seasons. Despite an offense filled mostly with freshmen and sophomore starters, Brown took the 2011 team to an 8-5 record, capped by a win in the Holiday Bowl. The defense led the Big 12 in total defense, pass defense and rush defense, while DE Alex Okafor earned All-America honors from the AFCA, CB Quandre Diggs was the Coaches' Big 12 Freshman Defensive Player of the Year and a CBSSports.com Freshman All-American, RB Malcolm Brown was selected the Associated Press Big 12 Newcomer of the Year and RB/KR Fozzy Whittaker was named CFPA Kick Returer of the Year.

Despite a difficult 5-7 season in 2010, Texas still ranked sixth in the nation in total defense (300.2 ypg) and pass defense (161.6 ypg), while Acho, in addition to winning the Campbell Trophy, Wuerffel Trophy and ARA Sportsmanship Award, was also named second-team All-America by the Walter Camp Football Foundation and third-team All-America by the Associated Press. He was also named CFPA Defensive Lineman of the Year, was a finalist for the Lott Trophy, a semifinalist for the Lombardi Award and was a unanimous first-team All-Big 12 selection. In addition to Acho, junior LB Keenan Robinson was a semifinalist for the Butkus Award.

Brown guided the 2009 Longhorns to Texas' second National Championship Game appearance in five years and also matched the school record of 13 wins. The lone loss came in the title game to No. 1 Alabama after QB Colt McCoy was injured on the first series and did not return. Despite the loss of the national player of the year, Texas was within three points with the ball with just over three minutes remaining, and following the game, the polls kept the Longhorns ranked No. 2 – their fourth Top Five ranking in six years. They also completed their ninth-consecutive 10-win season, which is the second-longest streak in NCAA history.

The Texas offense ranked third in scoring (39.3 ppg) and 22nd in passing offense (273.6 ypg), while the defense led the nation in rushing defense (72.4 ypg), was third in total defense (251.9 ypg) and 12th in scoring defense (16.7 ppg), along with leading the nation in turnovers gained and interceptions, and ranking in the top 10 in sacks, TFL and pass efficiency defense. McCoy became UT's 20th unanimous All-American and won the Maxwell Award, Walter Camp Football Foundation National Player of the Year Award, Davey O'Brien Award, Manning Award and Unitas Golden Arm Award. He also became a two-time finalist for the Heisman Trophy. WR Jordan Shipley was a consensus All-America honoree and a finalist for the Biletnikoff Award, while S Earl Thomas also earned consensus All-America honors and was a finalist for the Thorpe Award. Meanwhile, DE/LB Sergio Kindle became the first player in college football history to be named a finalist for both the Butkus Award and Hendricks

"Mack has done a great job recruiting with the high school coaches, with the people on campus and the Longhorns lettermen. They are very proud that Mack Brown is the coach here, and for them to be in full support of his coaching abilities, is a tribute to him. I feel exactly the same way because he has done a marvelous job and the best is yet to come."

Award, and also was named first-team All-America, along with C Chris Hall who was a finalist for the Rimington Trophy. In addition, K Hunter Lawrence was a semifinalist for the Groza Award and DE Sam Acho was a semifinalist for the Lott Trophy.

Texas entered the 2008 season with less media acclaim than previous seasons, but by mid-season, a 45-35 win over No. 1 Oklahoma propelled the team to its own No. 1 ranking. It marked the first regular-season No. 1 ranking for the program since Oct. 8, 1984, and began the toughest four-game stretch in the history of college football where the Longhorns would face a team ranked in the Top 11 in every game. The team finished within one second of completing the gauntlet before falling at No. 7 Texas Tech on the last play from scrimmage.

Despite the difficult loss, the team rebounded to win all of its remaining games, capped by a thrilling 24-21 win over No. 10 Ohio State in the Fiesta Bowl, providing Texas a school-record fifth-consecutive bowl win, including three BCS bowls. The Longhorns finished the season ranked No. 4 in the AP poll and No. 3 in the USA Today Coaches Poll.

On offense, Texas averaged 42.4 points per game (fifth NCAA), 475.8 total yards (ninth NCAA) and 308.3 passing yards (seventh NCAA), led by McCoy, who set the NCAA single-season record for completion percentage (77.6). McCoy earned first-team All-America honors and was named the Walter Camp Football Foundation Player of the Year and runner-up for the Heisman Trophy. On defense, Texas led the nation in sacks and led the Big 12 in scoring defense (18.8 ppg), total defense (342.9 ypg) and rushing defense (83.5 ypg/third NCAA). DE Brian Orakpo became UT's 19th unanimous All-American and won the Nagurski Trophy, Lombardi Award and Hendricks Award. Shipley also earned third-team All-America honors, while WR Quan Cosby was a semifinalist for the Biletnikoff Award.

In 2007, the Longhorns capped their seventh consecutive 10-win season with a 52-34 Holiday Bowl victory over No. 12 Arizona State, while also securing their fourth bowl win in consecutive years, a UT first.

The Longhorns finished the season with a No. 10 national ranking in both polls, marking the fifth time in seven seasons they had finished in the Top 10.

Along with Dallas Griffin winning the Draddy Trophy and the two academic All-Americans, OT Tony Hills earned first-team All-America honors from the Walter Camp Football Foundation, RB Jamaal Charles was named a semifinalist for the Doak Walker Award, S Marcus Griffin earned All-America honors from ESPN.com and DT Frank Okam was named third-team All-America by The Associated Press. Texas finished in the top 20 in both rushing defense (6th/93.4 ypg) and rushing offense (17th/207.5 ypg), while also finishing in the top 20 in total offense (13th/462.9 ypg) and scoring offense (14th/37.2 ppg).

The 2006 Longhorn season continued the validation of a premier football program that had achieved back-to-back Rose Bowl victories, including the BCS National Championship.

Ranked No. 2 in the country as defending National Champions, Texas lost to No. 1 Ohio State in the second game of the year, but fought their way back to a No. 4 national ranking before an injury to McCoy helped lead to narrow losses in the final two games of the regular season.

Still, they bounced back with a come-from-behind victory over Iowa in the Alamo Bowl to earn a 10-3 record. The season included victories over both Oklahoma and Nebraska, the two teams that played for the Big 12 championship, after the Longhorns' late season losses.

Cornerback Aaron Ross won the Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back, and offensive lineman Justin Blalock was a finalist for both the Outland Trophy and the Lombardi Award. Ross and Blalock earned first-team All-America honors, while Hendricks Award finalist Tim Crowder and Lott Trophy semifinalist Michael Griffin were recognized as second-team All-Americans. McCoy, a redshirt freshman, earned National Freshman of the Year honors as he tied an NCAA record with 29 touchdown passes.

Brown had the most successful season of his career in 2005, leading Texas to its first National Championship since 1970. Texas made a return trip to the Rose Bowl for its first appearance in the BCS National Championship game, where the Longhorns ended USC's 34-game winning streak and extended their own winning streak to 20 with a 41-38 victory. The team was led by Maxwell Award winner Vince Young. Young, who was also the Heisman runner-up and Davey O'Brien and Manning Award winner, finished his career as Texas' all-time winningest quarterback with a 30-2 record. Texas' offense set UT records in points scored (652) and total yards (6,657), while ranking first in the nation in scoring (50.2 ppg), second in rushing (274.9 ypg) and third in total offense (512.1 ypg). Texas was also highly ranked on defense. Led by UT's first-ever Thorpe Award winner Michael Huff, the Longhorns finished sixth in scoring defense (16.4 ppg) and 10th in total defense (302.9 ypg).

In 2004, the Longhorns managed their fourth consecutive 10-win season, while defeating six teams ranked in either the AP Poll or ESPN/USA Today Poll. It was also their third 11-win season in four years and was capped with Texas' first BCS selection and a 38-37 Rose Bowl Championship over No. 13 Michigan.

UT was led by All-Americans on both sides of the ball in senior running back and Doak Walker Award winner Cedric Benson and senior linebacker, Nagurski Trophy winner and Butkus Award winner Derrick Johnson. Behind Benson, the offense ranked second nationally in rushing offense (299.2 ypg), seventh in total offense (464.4 ypg) and 12th in scoring offense (35.3 ppg). The Longhorns rushed for over 300 yards six times, the most since 1977, and put up at least 400 yards in nine of their 12 games.

With Johnson taking the lead, the defense ranked 18th nationally in scoring defense (17.9 ppg), 16th in rushing defense (107.4) and 32nd in turnover margin (+5). They held teams to 14 points or less on six different occasions.

Under his guidance in 2003, Texas rallied from a 4-2 start to post six straight victories and finished with a 10-3 record and No. 12 national ranking. The Longhorns were led by a balanced offense and defense that was one of only four programs nationally that ranked among the NCAA's top 25 in total offense and total defense. Texas averaged 232.5 rushing yards per game (8th NCAA) and produced its most yards on the ground (3,023) since

MACK'S MILESTONE

With a victory against Texas A&M in 2008, Mack Brown became the first head coach in UT history to reach the 200-victory plateau (227-113-1/.667) during a career. Brown became just the 19th coach, who has spent at least 10 years at a NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) school, to win 200 games and the seventh-youngest coach to do so. He also is one of only two active coaches, who have spent at least five years at an FBS school, to reach the 200-victory mark. In addition, Brown is one of only five active coaches at FBS schools who have won 100 games at their current school (141-39/.783). Of the 80 coaches that have ever won 100 games at a FBS school, Brown is the 12th fastest to reach the century mark (124 games) and the fourth-fastest among active coaches.

1977. It also averaged 206.6 passing yards per game to mark just the third time in school history that the Horns averaged 200 yards rushing and passing in the same season. Led by its first-ever Butkus Award finalist and consensus first-team All-American, LB Derrick Johnson, UT's defense ranked 25th nationally allowing 329.9 yards per game.

Brown's 2002 squad found itself once-again mentioned among the national title contenders until late in the season. With an 11-2 record and a No. 6 final ranking, the Horns posted back-to-back 11-win seasons for the first time in school history and consecutive Top 10 finishes for the first time since 1977-78. Texas capped the year with a 35-20 victory over LSU in the Cotton Bowl. The Longhorns also won or shared the Big 12 South title for the third time in the last four seasons.

Led by first-team All-American and Lombardi Trophy finalist DE Cory Redding and first-team All-Big 12 performers LB Derrick Johnson and CB Rod Babers, the Longhorns defense finished the year ranked among the nation's top 16 for the fourth straight year.

On offense, QB Chris Simms and WR Roy Williams had record-setting years and RB Cedric Benson posted a second straight 1,000-yard rushing season. Williams and consensus first-team All-American OL Derrick Dockery both earned first-team All-Big 12 honors as the Horns averaged 33.8 points per game (16th NCAA).

In 2001, Brown saw his efforts in rebuilding the UT program into a national power reach new heights and provide promising hope for the future. The Longhorns came within three points of a possible berth in the National Championship game for the first time in decades. Texas opened the season with its first preseason Top Five ranking since 1983 and with wins in its final six games, claimed the Big 12 South title for the second time. The Horns were ranked among the nation's Top 10 in 16 of the 17 polls in 2001 and only a narrow 39-37 defeat at the hands of No. 9 Colorado in the Big 12 Championship game prevented Brown's team from likely playing for the national title. With a 47-43 victory against No. 21 Washington in the Holiday Bowl, Texas posted a school record-tying 11 victories (11-2) for the first time since '83 and just the fifth time in school history. The win also secured the program's first Top 10 finish since that year.

Led by unanimous first-team All-American and UT's first-ever Thorpe Award finalist CB Quentin Jammer and All-Americans LB D.D. Lewis and Redding, the Longhorns topped the nation in total defense (236.2 ypg). Jammer, the first Longhorns' defender since Jerry Gray in 1984 to earn unanimous first-team All-America honors, and Lewis shared team MVP honors. The Longhorns were one of only two teams nationally that ranked among the NCAA's top 10 in all five major statistical categories. True freshman LB Derrick Johnson was tabbed The Sporting News' Freshman of the Year and named the Holiday Bowl Defensive MVP.

Offensively, Texas' balanced attack was led by a passing game that posted, at the time, the fourth-most yards (3,003) on UT record and a scoring attack that ranked first in the Big 12 and sixth nationally (39.2 ppg). OT Mike Williams earned first-team All-America honors and was joined by WR Roy Williams as first-team All-Big 12. True freshman RB Cedric Benson set freshman records for rushing yards (1,053) and rushing TDs (12) en route to Big 12 Offensive Freshman of the Year honors.

In 2000, Brown's youthful Longhorns overcame a pair of tough losses as well as injuries that sidelined its first, second and third-string tight ends and slowed its All-America candidate at defensive tackle — Shaun Rogers. Despite starting as many as five true freshmen and featuring a 44-man depth chart that included 36 underclassmen, UT rallied from a 3-2 start to run off six consecutive victories. UT lost a shootout with No. 8 Oregon in the Holiday Bowl and closed out the year with a 9-3 record (7-1, Big 12) and a final No. 12 national ranking, its best finish in the polls since 1983.

"What makes Coach Brown so successful is the way he carries himself. He's a player's coach. He gets very involved with practice and really likes being around the guys. He knows his stuff and works you hard, but no matter what is going on in your life, he's a guy you can talk to."

— Quentin Jammer, Longhorns All-American cornerback and 2002 NFL first-round draft pick

Texas' explosive offense ranked 14th nationally in total offense (439.0 ypg) and eighth in scoring (38.6 ppg.). RB Hodges Mitchell, a first-team All-Big 12 choice for a second consecutive year, led the way. Mitchell rushed for 1,118 yards, and for the second year in a row, he established himself as the only player in UT history to gain 1,000 rushing and 300 receiving yards in a season. His path was paved by consensus first-team All-American and Outland Trophy finalist OT Leonard Davis. With the loss of nearly every pass catcher from 1999, the greatest challenge Brown and his offensive staff faced in 2000 was honing the skills of a stable of young wide receivers. That project was a success as true freshmen B.J. Johnson and Roy Williams rewrote the Longhorns record books while each earned second-team Freshman All-America honors.

Texas' revitalized defense was led by two-time first-team All-American and Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year DT Casey Hampton. An Outland Trophy semifinalist and first-team All-America in 1999, Hampton became the first lineman in UT history to lead the team in tackles in back-to-back seasons and finished his career then ranked second on UT's all-time tackles for loss list (54). He was joined by Jammer on the first-team All-Big 12 unit, as Texas led the nation in pass efficiency defense (88.3 rating) and ranked seventh in total defense (278.3 ypg).

Despite the loss of Heisman Trophy winner Ricky Williams, All-Big 12 wide receiver Wane McGarity and four starters from a veteran offensive line, Brown's 1999 squad registered a 9-5 record and claimed the Big 12 South Division Championship. The offense set a school record with 3,580 passing yards and registered the second-most total yards in school annals (5,336). Defensively, UT began its climb back among the nation's best, ranking sixth in total defense (286.7 ypg).

WR Kwame Cavil set UT and Big 12 records with 100 receptions for 1,188 yards en route to second-team All-America and first-team All-Big 12 honors that year. Sophomore quarterback Major Applewhite set UT marks with 3,357 passing yards and 21 TDs while earning co-Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year recognition. Mitchell became the first back in UT history to rush for 1,000 yards and record 300 receiving yards en route to first-team All-Big 12 honors and earned a spot among the Dr Pepper Doak Walker Award semifinalists. OG Roger Roesler earned first-team All-Big 12 recognition and third-team All-America honors.

DE Aaron Humphrey, who posted 20 sacks in his two years under Brown and finished his career then ranked third on UT's all-time TFLs list (50.5), also ranked eighth on the Longhorns all-time sack chart (24.5) and earned Longhorns MVP honors in 1999. DE Cedric Woodard, a 2000 NFL Draft pick of the Baltimore Ravens, had 19 TFLs in 1999 and 40 for his career (No. 8 on UT's all-time list at the time).

In 1998, running back Ricky Williams ran away with virtually every major college football award. Williams claimed the Heisman Trophy, Maxwell Award, Walter Camp and Associated Press Player of the Year honors and the Dr Pepper Doak Walker Award as Texas rebounded from a 4-7 season to finish 9-3 and ranked 15th nationally. After starting the year with a 1-2 record, the Longhorns won six consecutive games and eight of their final nine contests, including snapping No. 7 Nebraska's 47-game home winning streak with a 20-16 victory. Brown's first UT team capped the year with a 38-11 victory against No. 25 Mississippi State in the Cotton Bowl, the Longhorns' first New Year's Day bowl victory since 1981.

Williams led the nation in rushing with a school-best 2,124 yards and set a school record with 28 rushing TDs. The Longhorns tallied the fourth-most yards of offense in school history (5,177) at the time. WR Wane McGarity, TE Derek Lewis and offensive linemen Ben Adams and Jay Humphrey all earned first-team All-Big 12 honors for an offense that was among the best in UT history. Adams and Humphrey also were tabbed first-team All-American.

Defensively, the youthful Longhorns featured a predominantly underclassmen unit but re-established themselves after ranking 85th in total defense (399.2 ypg) and 104th in scoring defense (33 ppg) in 1997.

Born in Cookeville, Tenn., Brown was a three-sport star at Putnam County High School, where he lettered three times in football. He went on to attend Vanderbilt (1969-70) and graduated from Florida State. He lettered twice as a running back for the Seminoles (1972-73). An injury sidelined him for much of the 1973 season and that led to the start of his coaching career as he became a student coach. He completed his bachelor's degree in education in 1974.

Brown began his full-time coaching career in 1975 at Southern Mississippi, where he worked with the receivers for three seasons. He earned a master's degree in administration from Southern Miss in 1976. Brown then coached the wide receivers at Memphis State in 1978 and at Iowa State in '79. He was promoted to offensive coordinator at Iowa State in 1980, and in his time at Ames, the Cyclones broke 17 school and Big Eight Conference offensive records and produced league leaders in rushing and total offense. Brown went on to lead the quarterbacks at LSU in 1982, when the Tigers went 8-2-1 and played Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

In just his 10th season of full-time coaching, Brown had become a head coach, taking over the Appalachian State program in 1983. At the age of 32, he directed the Mountaineers to their first winning record in four years with a 6-5 slate. After one season, he left to become offensive coordinator at Oklahoma. In his only year on Barry Switzer's staff, the Sooners were 9-2-1, won the Big Eight title and earned a berth in the Orange Bowl.

Brown helped Oklahoma develop its best passing attack in years, as he coached quarterbacks Danny Bradley, a first-team All-Big Eight selection, and Troy Aikman, a three-time Super Bowl Champion signal caller with the Dallas Cowboys.

Brown became head coach at Tulane in 1985 and quickly went about rejuvenating the Green Wave's sagging football fortunes. Tulane had suffered three consecutive losing seasons before Brown's arrival, but by his third season in 1987, he led the Green Wave to a 6-5 mark and a berth in the Independence Bowl (just the program's fifth bowl game since 1940). That season, the Green Wave set school records for total offense and points, ranking 11th nationally in scoring (32.5 ppg). That remarkable season earned Brown a spot in the Independence Bowl Hall of Honor in 2002. He also served as athletics director his final two years at Tulane.

In 1988, Brown took over a North Carolina program that had suffered two losing seasons in its previous three years and three non-winning seasons in its previous four years. While rebuilding the foundation, Brown's Tar Heels squads posted back-to-back 1-10 seasons in 1988 and '89. In 1990, Carolina was 6-4-1 and the Tar Heels were beginning a run of eight consecutive winning seasons and six straight bowl game appearances. UNC's 54-18 (.750) record during his last six years ranked as the ninth-best nationally during that period. His final two seasons were the most impressive. He compiled a 20-3 (.870) mark and led the Heels to a No. 4 final ranking in the USA Today/ESPN poll and No. 6 ranking by The AP in 1997.

At UNC, Brown recruited and coached several of the finest players in school history. From his 1997 squad, DE Greg Ellis (No. 8, Dallas Cowboys), LB Brian Simmons (No. 17, Cincinnati Bengals) and DT Vonnie Holliday (No. 19, Green Bay Packers) earned All-America recognition and were selected among the first 19 picks in the 1998 NFL Draft.

Along with that trio of first-rounders, Brown also helped develop several other Tar Heels standouts. Marcus Jones, a consensus first-team All-America defensive tackle, earned ACC Defensive Player of the Year honors in 1995.

"I have never seen anyone make friends better or quicker with the high school coaching community." — Eddie Joseph, former exec. vice president, Texas High School Coaches Association

Corey Holliday, the leading receiver in Tar Heels history, was a CFA/Hitachi Scholar-Athlete and is a former member of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Dwight Hollier, who made more than 500 tackles during his Tar Heels career, also played in the NFL. Natrone Means, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards in his final two seasons at UNC, went on to lead the San Diego Chargers to Super Bowl XXIX and the Jacksonville Jaguars to the 1996 AFC title game.

QBs Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas combined to rewrite Carolina's passing and total offense records. CB Thomas Smith came to UNC in 1989 as a walk-on from a small high school in North Carolina and departed as a first-round pick of the AFC Champion Buffalo Bills. RB Leon Johnson, one of the premier all-purpose offensive threats in ACC history, played eight seasons in the NFL. CB Dré Bly, a three-time All-American who recorded an ACC-record 20 interceptions during his career, played 11 seasons in the NFL. Freddie Jones, a second-round draft choice of the San Diego Chargers in 1997, was one of the NFL's top pass-catching tight ends and played eight seasons in the NFL.

After leading UNC to a 10-1 regular season record and a No. 6 national ranking, Brown accepted the head coaching position at Texas on Dec. 4, 1997.

One of the most respected coaches in the college game, Brown has served on numerous national committees. He has been a member of the NCAA Football Rules Committee and the NCAA Football Issues Committee. He has been chairman of the Football Coaches' Committee and a member of the Board of Directors of the College Football Association. A past member of the American Football Coaches Association's (AFCA) Ethics Committee, Brown also has served on the AFCA Public Relations Committee. He has been invited to coach in five postseason all-star games, including the Japan Bowl, Hula Bowl (twice) and East-West Shrine Game (twice).

He and his wife, Sally, have four children — Matt, Katherine, Barbara and Chris. Sally enthusiastically involves herself in football team activities. In 1999, she retired as president of Marin Development in North Carolina. She is past president of the Public, Private Partnership (PPP), an organization that fostered improved relations between the University of North Carolina and the town of Chapel Hill. She also volunteered time to chair the fund-raising efforts for the UNC Black Cultural Center and was a member of a Carolina Alumni Advisory Committee.

Brown's human touch and dedication to family has also been evident in his life as an involved citizen in the Austin community with hiswife Sally. The Browns serve as honorary co-chairpersons of the Capital Campaign for the Helping Hands of Austin. They have been instrumental in the opening of The Rise School of Austin (an early childhood education program that integrates children who have disabilities with their typically developing peers) and serve on the school's Board of Directors. Because of the Browns' dedication and longstanding personal commitment to the Rise School, a plan to build a permanent 20,000 square foot facilitywas announced on August 26, 2011, and it will be called the "Sally and Mack Brown Rise School of Austin." They lend their name along with legendary UT QB James Street to the annual James Street/Mack Brown Golf Tournament benefiting The Rise School.

The Browns also contribute privately to numerous other causes in Austin, and in April 2011, Brown was named the 2011 Lady Bird Johnson Humanitarian Award Winner by the American Red Cross. In September 2008, he and Sally were named the Citizens of the Year for Caritas of Austin, which provides meals and aid for the homeless. The Browns themselves have spent many hours serving food at Caritas.

Earlier in that year, The University of Texas honored Mack Brown with The Mack Brown Distinguished Chair for Leadership in Global Affairs. The Chair is part of the Robert S. Strauss Center for International Security and Law, a university-wide global affairs research center named for renowned lawyer and public servant, Ambassador Robert S. Strauss. The center is part of the LBJ School of Public Affairs.

In June 2007, Brown paired with Attorney General of Texas Greg Abbott to commend fathers who provide a nurturing home for their children, and asked dads from across the state to join in the fight against domestic abuse.

In May 2009, Brown went on an eight-day trip to visit U.S. troops in Germany, Turkey, Iraq, Kuwait, Djibouti and Spain as part of the Coaches Tour 2009.

The Browns have previously endorsed a new Texas license plate, which was designed to raise public awareness for child abuse and neglect and the need for Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) volunteers. After the Bonfire tragedy at Texas A&M in 1999, the couple initiated a blood drive on the UT campus that attracted more than 250 blood donors.

Major Applewhite

Co-Offensive Coordinator/Running Backs

A record setting quarterback at UT and former graduate assistant coach for Mack Brown, Major Applewhite is a 10-year coaching veteran who joined the Texas staff in January 2008 as assistant head coach and running backs coach before being promoted to co-offensive coordinator in January 2011.

Since Applewhite began coaching running backs in 2008, Doak Walker Award semifinalist Jamaal Charles, Chris Ogbonnaya, Cody Johnson and Jamison Berryhill have all gone on to the NFL, along with the anticipated signing of Fozzy Whittaker following his rehabilitation from injury. This season the running backs combined for 2,300 yards and 23 touchdowns on 443 carries while adding 36 receptions for 285 yards and one touchdown. Four different backs recorded five or more rushing touchdowns and four players had over 300 rushing yards, led by two true freshmen, Malcolm Brown (707 yards, 5 TD) and Joe Bergeron (454 yards, 5 TD), leading to Brown being named Big 12 Newcomer of the Year by the Associated Press.

In 2010, the running back corps combined for 1,396 rushing yards and 14 TDs, while catching 47 passes for 322 yards. During Applewhite's tenure, the current Texas RBs who have started at least one game in their careers have fumbled only eight times and lost only three. Of those eight, only four belonged to backs on the 2010 team and of those, only one was lost (Fozzy Whittaker 2-0, Cody Johnson 1-0, Tre' Newton 1-1).

The running backs rushed for 1,665 yards and 24 TDs in 2009. Redshirt freshman Tre' Newton emerged to lead the team in rushing, helping fill the void of Ogbonnaya, who was drafted by the St. Louis Rams. Newton combined with junior Vondrell McGee and sophomores Cody Johnson and Fozzy Whittaker, who each had at least 50 carries.

In 2008, Applewhite guided a running backs unit that had to replace Doak Walker Award semifinalist Jamaal Charles, who went to the NFL. Ogbonnaya, McGee, Whittaker and Johnson stepped in and combined to rush for 1,371 yards and 20 TDs, including 12 TDs by Johnson, which tied the UT freshman record. The group did not lose a fumble during the entire season and showed its versatility by combining for 65 receptions for 640 yards and three TDs, led by Ogbonnaya, who set the UT single-season record for receptions by a running back with 46. He also finished second on the single-season receiving yards list with 540. Ogbonnaya earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors and was named Second-Team Academic All-America.

Applewhite returned to his alma mater after spending the 2007 season as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Alabama, where he was the youngest coordinator in the NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS).

In Applewhite's one year at Alabama, the Crimson Tide bounced back from a losing season in 2006 to post a 7-6 record under first-year coach Nick Saban. Under his guidance, Alabama improved its offensive output by nearly 40 yards per game (335.9 to 373.8) and increased its scoring from 22.9 points per game to 27.1. His offense generated 256 yards passing and 388 total yards to cap the year with a 30-24 win over Colorado in the Independence Bowl.

In 2007, the Crimson Tide gained 510 yards of offense (363 passing/147 rushing) en route to a 41-17 victory over a Tennessee team that finished the year ranked 12th nationally. Trailing 20-10 in the fourth quarter against a Georgia team that finished the year ranked No. 2, Applewhite's offense scored 10 points in the final six minutes, including a 10-play, 88-yard drive that tied the game and sent it to overtime in an eventual 26-23 loss. Alabama registered 450 yards of offense (327 passing/123 rushing) in a 41-38 win over Arkansas.

Prior to Alabama, Applewhite spent a season as offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at Rice where, as the youngest coordinator in NCAA Division I, he directed an offense that scored the most points (350) and gained the third-most yards (4,486) in Owls' history. Under his guidance, Rice produced a 1,000-yard rusher, a 1,000-yard receiver and a 1,000-yard passer for the first time in school history en route to the program's first appearance in a bowl game since 1961. The 2006 Rice offense produced a 109-point improvement in scoring over the previous season.

Before his stint at Rice, Applewhite joined former Longhorn defensive coordinator Greg Robinson at Syracuse where he served as quarterbacks coach in 2005. Applewhite's coaching career began where he starred, at Texas, where he served as a graduate assistant coach and worked with the offensive line for two seasons (2003-04). In his final year in 2004, the Longhorns went 11-1, beat No. 12 Michigan in the Rose Bowl and earned a No. 4 final ranking - it's highest since 1981.

The Longhorns' team captain in 2001, Applewhite helped Texas to four straight bowl games (1999 and 2000 Cotton Bowls/2000 and 2001 Holiday Bowls) and posted a 22-8 record as a starter. He capped his career by throwing for a UT record 473 yards and a Longhorn-bowl-game best four TDs en route to Offensive MVP honors in a 47-43 victory over No. 20 Washington in the 2001 Holiday Bowl. The 1999 co-Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year set then-UT records for career (8,353) and season (3,357/1999) passing yards, as well as career TD passes (60). He threw for 2,453 yards and 18 TDs, UT freshman records at the time, in claiming Big 12 Freshman of the Year honors in 1998.

A native of Baton Rouge, La., Applewhite threw for 50 touchdowns and ran for eight more in two years as a starter at Catholic High School. He was tabbed an honorable mention prep all-America by USA Today after leading Catholic High to a 13-1 record and No. 10 national ranking as a senior. He was 25-2 as a starter.

Applewhite completed his degree in sport management at Texas in December 2002. His wife, Julie, is also a UT graduate and the couple has a daughter, Lila, who was born in January 2009.

Bryan Harsin

Co-Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

Bryan Harsin was named co-offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Texas in January 2011. Harsin joined the Longhorns after 10 seasons as a member of the Boise State staff, including the last five as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. A finalist for the 2009 Broyles Award, honoring the nation's top assistant coach, Harsin has guided offenses that have consistently ranked among the nation's best in almost every major statistical category.

In his first season at Texas, he had the task of putting a new offense in place with a young group that featured 10 different freshmen and sophomores starting for the Longhorns. Despite its youth, the offense was able to put up over 500 yards of total offense four times and rank 21st nationally in rushing offense with 202.6 yards per game. The team ran for over 400 yards in back-to-back games against Kansas (441) and Texas Tech (439), marking just the fifth and sixth 400-yard rushing performances by Texas since 1980. Harsin helped guide three different starting quarterbacks to 2,360 yards and 12 touchdowns in addition to the offense creating four other passing TDs.

He was at the helm of the offense during a five-year period where the Broncos posted a 61-5 record that included two undefeated seasons, which were capped by Fiesta Bowl wins over TCU in 2009 (14-0) and Oklahoma in 2006 (13-0). They reached at least 12 wins in four of his five seasons as coordinator and had three Top 10 finishes, including ranking No. 5/6 in 2006, No. 4/4 in 2009, and No. 10/10 entering the 2010 bowl season. In 2008, they finished just outside the Top 10 at No. 11/13.

In the time since becoming offensive coordinator at Boise State in 2006, Harsin's offenses were in the top five nationally in scoring four times, capped by ranking first in 2009 (42.2 ppg) and second in 2010 with 45.1 ppg. They also ranked second in 2006 (39.7 ppg), fourth in 2007 (42.4 ppg) and 12th in 2008 (37.6 ppg). In all, Boise State averaged 41.4 ppg during his time as coordinator.

The Broncos ranked in the Top 10 in total offense in three of Harsin's seasons as coordinator and have been no lower than 18th in all five of his years, culminating in 2010 with an average of 521.3 ypg, which set the BSU school record and ranked second nationally. In those five seasons, the Broncos offense averaged 459.9 ypg.

Harsin's offenses averaged more than 200 yards both rushing and passing twice during his tenure. In 2006, Boise State produced the sixth-ranked rushing offense in the nation with 214.2 ypg, while in 2010 it had the nation's sixth-ranked passing attack with 321.1 ypg, which is the fourth-best mark in school history. During that span, the offense averaged 272.4 yards passing and 187.5 yards rushing per game.

In addition, the Broncos ranked in the top 12 in pass efficiency all five years and was in the top 10 in four of those. They led the nation in fewest sacks allowed in 2009 with just five, were third in 2010 with only eight and were fifth in 2008 with 13.

As quarterbacks coach, Harsin guided Kellen Moore into becoming one of the nation's most productive quarterbacks. In 2010, Moore was named first-team All-America by the Football Writers Association of America and became Boise State's first Heisman Trophy finalist. He was also a finalist for the Maxwell Award, Davey O'Brien Award and Manning Award and was named the nation's top quarterback by The Touchdown Club of Columbus.

In 2010, Moore became the first Boise State quarterback to eclipse 10,000 career passing yards and is one of just six active players with 10,000 passing yards. He also notched his third 3,000-yard passing season in 2010 and owns three of the top four single-season marks in Bronco history. He is the only player in school history to throw for 3,000 yards in three different seasons.

Moore also became Boise State's all-time leader in a number of statistical categories, including total offense (10,811), passing yards (10,867), completions (831), touchdowns (99) and 200-yard passing games (34).

Moore's single-season numbers from 2010 also rank in the all-time top 10. His 3,845 passing yards is the second-highest single-season total in school history, his 245 completions rank fourth, his 383 attempts are fifth and his 35 touchdowns are tied for second.

A large part of the offensive success in 2009 came on the arm of Moore, who finished the season with a school record 39 touchdown throws and just three interceptions. Moore ended the year ranked second in the country in pass efficiency (161.7) en route to setting the NCAA record for interception-to-attempt ratio at .69 percent (3-of-431).

ESPN.com, SI.com and CBSSports.com named Moore first-team All-America, the Associated Press named him third-team All-America, while he also finished seventh in the 2009 Heisman voting and earned Western Athletic Conference Offensive Player of the Year honors. Also earning first-team All-WAC honors in 2009 under Harsin's guidance were wide receivers Austin Pettis and Titus Young, and offensive lineman Nate Potter.

In his third season as offensive coordinator, Harsin's 2008 unit was taken over by Moore, who was a redshirt freshman. Moore would compile one of the most outstanding seasons by any Broncos quarterback, finishing the year with a NCAA freshman record 69.4 completion percentage (281-of-405), 25 touchdown passes and just 10 interceptions. He was also named WAC Freshman of the Year.

Following the 2007 season, offensive tackle Ryan Clady became the first player in Boise State history to be taken in the first round of the NFL draft when he was selected No. 12 overall by the Denver Broncos. Clady, who entered the draft one year early, was named a first-team All-America by the American Football Coaches Association and Sporting News.

In Harsin's first season as offensive coordinator, the 2006 Broncos went undefeated and RB Ian Johnson led the country in rushing touchdowns and scoring. He also set a school single-season record with 1,713 yards. He was named to four separate All-America teams and finished eighth in the Heisman Trophy voting.

From 2002-05 Harsin served as tight ends coach at BSU. That unit played a vital role in a Broncos offense that led the nation in scoring twice and finished in the top 10 in scoring in each of those four years. In 2005, four Broncos tight ends combined to catch 27 passes for 298 yards and three touchdowns. In 2004, Harsin helped the tight ends contribute to the top-scoring offense in school history (48.9 ppg).

In his four seasons as tight ends coach and one as a graduate assistant, Boise State had a record of 53-11, making the Broncos record in his 10 seasons there 114-16.

Prior to coaching the tight ends, Harsin was a graduate assistant with the Broncos in 2001. He was a member of the Bronco football team from 1995-1999, earning three varsity letters. He served as Boise State's backup quarterback in 1999 when the team went 10-3 and won the Crucial.com Humanitarian Bowl.

After graduating from Boise State in 2000 with a degree in business management, Harsin entered the coaching profession at Eastern Oregon, coaching running backs and receivers during the 2000 season.

Harsin and his wife, Kes, have two daughters, Devyn Lynn and Dayn Mykena, and a son, Davis. Harsin is a graduate of Capital High School in Boise.

^National Champions

Manny Diaz, the former defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Mississippi State and Middle Tennessee, joined the Texas coaching staff in the same position in January 2011.

During his first season at Texas, Diaz led the top defense in the Big 12 as the Longhorns ranked first in the conference in total defense, rushing defense and pass defense. Overall the unit ranked 11th nationally in total defense and was sixth against the run despite facing six offenses that ranked in the top 15 nationally. The defense shut out Kansas, holding the Jayhawks to 46 yards which is the second fewest allowed in school history. All 12 opponents were held to below their average total yards with eight managing more than 100 yards below the average and two over 200 yards less. Two senior linebackers led the defensive effort under the guidance of Diaz. Emmanuel Acho was a first team All-Big 12 selection and Keenan Robinson was a Butkus Award semifinalist. The two linebackers combined for 237 tackles, 29 TFL, four sacks 31 pressures and three forced fumbles and both were selected in the 2012 NFL Draft.

In 2010 with the Bulldogs, Diaz guided a defense that ranked 22nd in the nation in scoring defense (19.9 ppg), 17th in rushing defense (214.9 ypg) and 17th in tackles for loss (7.0 pg). That was a dramatic turnaround for MSU from the season prior to his arrival. In 2009, the defense finished 71st in scoring defense, 62nd in rushing defense and 89th in TFL. Mississippi State also finished ranked 13th in red zone defense (.73) and 22nd in turnovers forced (28) nationally in 2010.

The 2010 defense held seven opponents to 20 points or fewer, which includes only 17 points to Auburn, which had the nation's fourth-ranked scoring offense, and 14 points in the Gator Bowl to a Michigan offense that entered the game averaging 34.3 ppg. Under Diaz, LB Chris White earned first-team All-SEC honors and was named Nagurski National Player of the Week following a game against Florida where the Bulldogs held the Gators to just seven points in Gainesville.

Mississippi State's nine wins in 2010 were the most for the school since a 10-2 record in 1999 and marked just the second winning season for the program since 2001. The Bulldogs finished ranked No. 15/17, its highest final ranking since finishing No. 13/12 in 1999. That is the only time MSU has ranked higher than 18th in the final polls since 1981.

Prior to Mississippi State, Diaz spent four seasons as defensive coordinator at Middle Tennessee. Diaz also coached linebackers for two years after mentoring the safeties during his first two seasons in Murfreesboro.

In four years under Diaz, the Middle Tennessee defense led its conference in sacks and tackles for loss twice, and finished no lower than third in the league in either category during his tenure. In 2009, the Blue Raiders finished second nationally in tackles for loss, stopping more than eight and a half plays per game behind the line of scrimmage. Diaz's defense also ranked sixth nationally in sacks that season, posting nearly three per game.

Also in 2009, Diaz tutored defensive end Chris McCoy who was tabbed the Sun Belt Conference co-Defensive Player of the Year. McCoy led the league and ranked sixth nationally in tackles for loss. Safety Jeremy Kellum and cornerbacks Alex Suber and Marcus Udell were also named first team all-SBC. Defensive end Jamari Lattimore along with linebackers Cam Robinson and Danny Carmichael earned second-team honors. Overall, Diaz's unit produced 17 all-conference players during his time there and put up three of the top four fewest yards allowed averages at Middle Tennessee in its FBS era.

Before joining Middle Tennessee, Diaz played a major role for one of the country's top-ranked defenses by coaching safeties in 2004 and 2005 and handling the linebackers in 2002 and 2003 for North Carolina State.

In 2005, the Wolfpack finished eighth nationally in total defense, sixth in third-down percentage, and 12th in scoring defense en route to a 7-5 record and a shutout win over South Florida in the Meineke Car Care Bowl. He also served as special teams coordinator and his kickoff return unit finished fifth nationally, while his punt return team blocked four kicks.

In his first year as safeties coach and special teams coordinator in 2004, N.C. State's defense finished the year as the top-ranked unit in the country in total defense by allowing just over 220 yards per game. The Wolfpack defense also held national powers Ohio State and Florida State to under 130 yards of total offense during the season. Diaz, who coached All-ACC performer and former New York Jet Andre Maddox, also had his punt return team block three kicks and take two returns for touchdowns.

Diaz handled the linebackers for N.C. State in 2002 and 2003. In 2003, the Wolfpack won the Tangerine Bowl and finished 7-5 with Diaz sharing play-calling duties for all 11 games. He also made all the defensive calls during the bowl win over Kansas.

In his first year as a full-time coach, Diaz helped the Wolfpack to one of their best seasons ever, finishing 11-3 and defeating Notre Dame in the Gator Bowl. He shared in the play-calling duties, and N.C. State ended the year ranked 14th nationally in total defense and 10th in scoring defense. In back-to-back games against Florida State and Notre Dame, N.C. State did not allow an offensive touchdown.

Diaz spent the 2000 and 2001 seasons at NCSU as a graduate assistant working primarily with the linebackers. During that time, the Wolfpack went to two bowl games and became the first ACC team to beat FSU in Tallahassee.

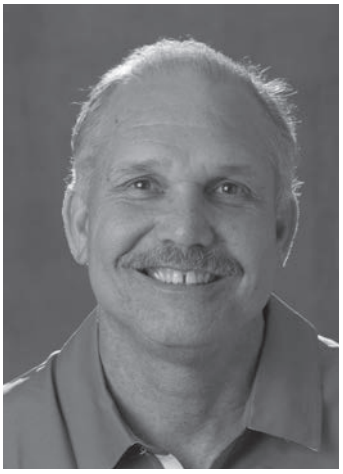
Diaz, whose father recently concluded his second term as mayor of the City of Miami, began his coaching career at Florida State in 1998, working alongside defensive coordinator Mickey Andrews for two seasons. During his stint, the Seminoles won a National Championship in 1999 and were runners-up in 1998.

He worked at ESPN from 1995 to 1997 after earning his B.S. in communications from FSU, and in high school, he was a Miami Herald Honorable Mention All-Dade County Scholar-Athlete for football, basketball and baseball in 1991.

The Miami native is married to the former Stephanie Cerow and they have three sons, Colin, Gavin, and Manny.

Duane Akina

Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Backs



A 34-year coaching veteran who has spent 25 of his seasons as an assistant working with defensive backs, Duane Akina has tutored three Thorpe Award winners, six Thorpe Award finalists and 25 defensive backs who have played in the NFL, in addition to two more entering the league in 2012.

In his 12 seasons at UT, Akina's secondary has helped the Horns rank among the nation's Top 10 in pass defense six times and featured consecutive Thorpe Award winners in Michael Huff (2005) and Aaron Ross (2006) to go along with two finalists in Earl Thomas (2009) and Quentin Jammer (2001) and 11 first-team All-Big 12 picks. Eleven of the Texas DBs he has tutored are currently in the NFL.

In his first season at Texas in 2001, he helped guide one of the nation's premier secondaries that ranked third in passing defense (146.7 ypg) and fourth in pass efficiency defense (88.0 rating). The Longhorns allowed only 4.77 yards per pass attempt, which was the lowest in the nation, while their six touchdown passes allowed were tied for the second-fewest nationally. Akina's top pupil was CB Quentin Jammer, who became UT's first unanimous consensus first-team All-America defender since Jerry Gray in 1984. Jammer, who set a UT single-season record with 24 pass breakups and eclipsed the school's career PBUs mark with 57, also became the first Longhorn to earn a spot as a Thorpe Award finalist.

Despite losing two starters to the NFL (Jammer and Ahmad Brooks), Akina guided a secondary that was again among the nation's best in 2002. Led by first-team All-Big 12 performer and Thorpe Award semifinalist Rod Babers, the secondary ranked seventh nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.1 rating), eighth in passing defense (165.2 ypg.) and allowed just 5.37 yards per attempt (third NCAA). Babers posted 21 PBUs (No. 3 on UT's single-season list) and finished his career ranked third on the UT all-time PBU chart (49). Akina also helped train S Michael Huff, who earned third-team Freshman All-America honors.

In 2003, the Longhorns ranked ninth nationally in pass defense (177.3 ypg) and third in completion percentage allowed (47.2). CB Nathan Vasher was a Thorpe Award semifinalist, earned first-team All-Big 12 honors and tied the oldest-standing mark on the Longhorn record book with his 17th career interception. He also broke the UT record for career pass breakups with 64.

After being named co-defensive coordinator in 2004, Akina helped guide a defense that finished 18th in scoring defense (17.9), 16th in rushing defense (107.4), 32nd in turnover margin (+5) and 23rd in total defense (320.1) in the country.

Under Akina's direction, Huff became a member of the Jim Thorpe Award watch list and three of the four starters in the secondary were named to All-Big 12 teams.

The pattern continued in 2005 as Akina led a defense and secondary that ranked fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.7), eighth in pass defense (172.0 ypg), eighth in scoring defense (16.4 ppg) and 10th in total defense (302.9 ypg). Akina also mentored Huff as Texas' first-ever Jim Thorpe Award winner and produced three All-Big 12 performers out of the secondary.

Despite losing two players who wound up starting for their NFL teams in Huff (Raiders) and Cedric Griffin (Vikings), Akina continued to show his ability to develop great talent in 2006. He helped Aaron Ross become Texas' second consecutive Thorpe Award winner, while also earning various publication's Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year. Safety Michael Griffin also capped his outstanding career with All-America honors.

The duo of Michael Griffin and Ross went on to be drafted back-to-back in the first round, 19th by the Titans and 20th by the Giants, respectively. Both earned starting positions with Ross and the Giants advancing to the Super Bowl. Tarell Brown was the third DB drafted that year (UT first since 1984), as he was chosen in the fifth round by the 49ers.

In 2007, Akina guided a Texas defense that was sixth-best in the nation against the run (93.4 ypg). Safety Marcus Griffin earned first-team All-Big 12 honors and was named first-team All-America by ESPN.com.

Akina returned his full focus to the defensive backs in 2008. With only one returning starter in CB Ryan Palmer, Akina guided the emergence of two freshmen at the starting safety positions. By season's end, Earl Thomas was named first-team Freshman All-America by the Football Writers Association of America, Sporting News and College Football News, while Blake Gideon earned second-team honors from College Football News. Palmer earned second-team All-Big 12 honors, and the unit helped Texas rank second in the Big 12 in pass efficiency defense.

In 2009, Akina guided a secondary that helped the defense lead the nation in interceptions (25), rank 10th in pass efficiency defense and 19th in passing yards allowed. It also featured the Longhorns' third Thorpe Award finalist in five years in consensus All-America honoree S Earl Thomas, who led the nation in passes defended and tied for second in interceptions with a UT record eight. Thomas also tied the UT single-season record with two INT returned for TDs.

During the 2010 season, the Longhorns ranked sixth in the nation in both pass defense (161.6 ypg) and total defense (300.2 ypg). Cornerbacks Curtis Brown and Aaron Williams both earned second-team All-Big 12 honors, while S Blake Gideon was tabbed honorable mention All-Big 12. Three defensive backs from last year's team - Williams, Brown and CB Chykie Brown - were selected in the 2011 NFL Draft in the second, third and fifth rounds, respectively.

In 2011, Akina's group once again helped Texas lead the Big 12 in pass defense, holding teams to 209.9 yards per game, while also leading the Big 12 and ranking 10th nationally in pass efficiency defense. The secondary featured two successful young cornerbacks as sophomore Carrington Byndom and true freshman Quandre Diggs tied for 12th in the NCAA in passes defended. Diggs earned Big 12 Freshman Defensive Player of the Year and CBSSports.com Freshman All-America honors while also recording four interceptions and two caused fumbles. Junior Kenny Vaccaro was a first team All-Big 12 selection as well with Akina's guidance, while senior S Blake Gideon completed his career starting all 52 games in which Texas played in his career. Gideon and S Christian Scott both signed free agent contracts in the NFL.

Akina joined the UT program after spending the previous 14 seasons at Arizona, where he served as the associate head coach and was tabbed defensive coordinator in December 2000. During his tenure at Arizona, he was a versatile coach who worked with both sides of the ball. Akina spent his final five seasons as defensive backs coach and nine of his 14 seasons working with the Wildcats' secondary. He also was UA's offensive coordinator from 1992-95.

As the secondary coach at Arizona, Akina helped guide the Wildcats' "Desert Swarm" defensive attack, one of the nation's most aggressive and productive groups. His prize pupils were Darryll Lewis, the 1990 Jim Thorpe Award winner, and Chris McAlister, a finalist for the Thorpe Award and winner of the Mosi Tatupu National Special Teams Player of the Year award in 1998. Lewis was a Pro Bowler for the San Diego Chargers and played 10 seasons in the NFL. McAlister, meanwhile, earned a spot in the 2004 Pro Bowl and was a member of the 2000 Super Bowl Champion Baltimore Ravens.

During his time as offensive coordinator, Akina guided some of the Wildcats' most productive offenses. In 1994, he helped develop the UA offense into a unit that recorded more than 200 yards passing per game. Arizona's offense registered 2,211 passing yards and 1,776 rushing yards that season, which marked the first time in a decade that the team had registered more yards passing than rushing. In 1995, Akina directed the Wildcats' passing attack to 204.3 yards per game, which at the time, ranked fifth on the school's all-time list.

Akina joined the UA staff in January 1987 after spending a season as defensive backs coach with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League. Prior to that, he spent five years as an assistant coach at the University of Hawaii. Akina coached the defensive backs in 1981-82 and '84-85 and tutored the outside linebackers in 1983 at UH.

A native of Honolulu, Akina is a 1979 graduate of the University of Washington. He earned three letters as a quarterback, and upon completing his eligibility, he served as a graduate assistant coach at UW. Akina worked with the Huskies' quarterbacks in 1979-80.

Hawaii's Prep Athlete of the Year at Honolulu's Punahou High School in 1974-75, he was a three-time all-league selection as a quarterback in football and a guard in basketball. Akina and his wife, Donna, have five children, Kainoa, Keoni, Dionicia, Alli and Kamalii. Kainoa has a wife, Daya.

Bruce Chambers

Co-Recruiting Coordinator/Tight Ends

One of the most respected high school coaches in Texas for 14 years, Bruce Chambers has continued that success at The University of Texas. Chambers is in his ninth season as UT's tight ends coach after spending the previous five years working with the running backs. He also became UT's recruiting coordinator in 2005. Five of the Longhorn RBs and TEs he has worked with are currently in the NFL.

Chambers' tight ends combined for 33 receptions for 376 yards and seven touchdowns in 2011. Two seniors, D.J. Grant and Blaine Irby, returned to action after each missed the 2009 and 2010 seasons with injuries. Both players caught three touchdown passes to tie for the team lead.

Senior Greg Smith and sophomore Barrett Matthews saw a majority of the snaps at tight end with redshirt freshman Dominique Jones contributing late during the 2010 season. Smith is now entering his second season as a free agent signee with the Carolina Panthers.

In 2009, Smith saw the majority of snaps at tight end and provided excellent blocking and timely receiving for a position that had seen its share of injuries over the course of two seasons. In 2008, sophomore Blaine Irby emerged following the loss of Jermichael Finley to the NFL. Through the first three games, Irby caught 10 passes for 95 yards and two TDs, but his season was then cut short by injury. With injuries also to young TEs Josh Marshall and Ian Harris, Smith moved over from the offensive line and combined with senior Peter Ullman to provide solid blocking.

In 2007, Chambers led a tight ends group highlighted by Finley. The sophomore started all 13 games and caught 45 passes (No. 2 on the UT single-season list) for 575 yards (No. 3 on the UT single-season list) and two TDs.

Chambers had the difficult task of replacing statistically the greatest tight end in UT history for 2006 after David Thomas' graduation. However, under Chambers' guidance, Finley broke all of the freshman tight end receiving records. He finished with 31 receptions for 272 yards and three TDs and was named honorable mention Freshman All-America.

In 2005, Chambers guided Thomas to one of the best seasons by a tight end in UT history. Thomas, who earned first-team All-Big 12 honors, set the single-season record for receptions by a tight end with 50, finished second on the single-season list with 613 yards and tied for third with five TD receptions. In all, Thomas rewrote the record book, finishing his career as Texas' all-time tight-end leader in receptions (98), yards (1,367) and TDs (15).

During his second season as tight ends coach in 2004, Chambers helped improve the productivity of senior Bo Scaife and Thomas, who was in his junior season. Scaife was named first team All-Big 12 after catching 26 passes for 348 yards and two TDs, while Thomas earned second team All-Big 12 honors with 25 receptions for 430 yards and five TDs. The tight ends were also instrumental in the running game in 2004. Their blocking helped UT finish second nationally in rushing (299.2 ypg).

In 2003, Chambers guided a unit that combined to catch 30 passes for 415 yards and five TDs. Scaife and Thomas each earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors from The Associated Press.

In his first five seasons at Texas, Chambers coached three of the nine 1,000-yard rushers (Ricky Williams, 1998 / Hodges Mitchell, 1999-2000 / Cedric Benson, 2001-02) in school history and became the first position coach since Fred Akers (with Roosevelt Leaks and Earl Campbell in '73 and '74-75, respectively) to have two different backs earn first-team all-conference honors in three consecutive seasons (Williams, 1998 / Mitchell, 1999-2000). He coached a 1,000-yard rusher in each of his five years as UT's running backs coach.

The Longhorns featured one of the Big 12's top backfields in Chambers' first year at UT, as Williams, the Heisman Trophy winner, led the nation in rushing (193.1 ypg) and posted the fifth-highest rushing total in NCAA history (2,124 yards). Williams went on to earn Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year accolades and first-team All-America honors for the second consecutive year and was a first-round selection (No. 5 overall) of the New Orleans Saints in the 1999 NFL Draft. Williams' success was due in part to his lead blocker and versatile backfield mate Ricky Brown, who earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors despite limited carries in '98.

In 1999, Mitchell stepped to the forefront of the Longhorns backfield. Not only did he earn first-team All-Big 12 accolades under Chambers' direction, but he also became only the eighth running back in UT history to rush for 1,000 yards in a season and the first in school history to rush for 1,000 yards and tally 300 receiving yards in a single season. Mitchell's 1,343 rushing yards in 1999 also marked the fifth-highest rushing output in UT history, while his 1,824 all-purpose yards rank seventh on the school's single-season chart.

Under Chambers' direction, Mitchell again earned first-team All-Big 12 honors in 2000. He posted a pair of 200-yard rushing games, set a Big 12 and UT single-game all-purpose yardage record (375, at Kansas), registered another 1,000-yard rushing season (1,118/No. 11 on UT's all-time list) and posted the third-most all-purpose yards in a season (1,931). Mitchell finished his career sixth on UT's all-time rushing chart (2,664 yards) and fourth on the career all-purpose yardage list (4,945).

In 2001, Chambers faced the task of preparing true freshman Cedric Benson for action. Benson went on to become the first freshman in UT history to rush for 1,000 yards and was tabbed the Big 12 Offensive Freshman of the Year, the Longhorns Offensive MVP and third-team All-Big 12. His 13 UT freshman records were highlighted by his 1,053 rushing yards, 12 rushing TDs and five 100-yard rushing games (all in a row). Benson also rushed for a UT freshman-best 213 yards against Kansas.

Under Chambers' direction, Benson followed up his fine freshman season with 1,293 yards (No. 6 on UT's season list) in 2002.

In Chambers' first five seasons, the Longhorns turned in 19 games of 200 or more yards rushing, including a 434-yard rushing day against Rice in 1998 and a 396-yard effort at Kansas in 2000. He also guided three different UT players who rushed for 200 yards in a game.

Chambers joined the UT staff from Carter High School in Dallas, where he helped coach one of the state's most successful football programs for 14 seasons. He was the head coach and athletics director during his final two years and also taught speech and journalism classes at the school.

Chambers' tie to high school coaching and his understanding of young men, parents and the job of the high school coach made him a prime candidate when Mack Brown was forming his staff at UT.

In his 14 seasons at Carter, the Cowboys advanced to the state playoffs each year, won the 1988 State Championship, earned four regional titles and claimed 13 district crowns.

A graduate of North Texas, Chambers was Carter's head coach in 1996 and '97, compiling a record of 18-6. His Cowboys teams were bi-district finalists and District Champions both years.

From 1993-95, Chambers served as Carter's varsity offensive coordinator and assistant head coach. The Cowboys were area finalists and District Champions during all three of those years.

Prior to that, Chambers coached on the defensive side of the ball from 1989-92 and served as coordinator. During that time, Carter was a state semifinalist and two-time District Champion.

A four-year letterman as a wide receiver and a two-time letterwinner in track & field at North Texas, Chambers earned his degree in journalism in 1982. He began his coaching career in 1984 as a freshman coach at Carter and then moved over to tutor the junior varsity's offense from 1986-88.

Chambers' wife's name is Cathy.

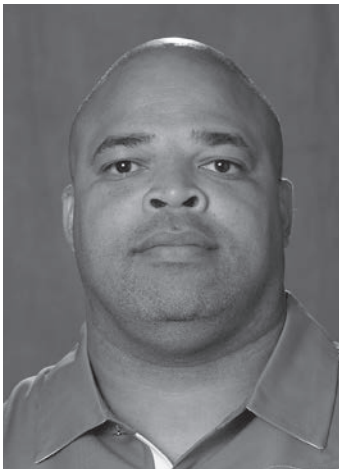
Bo Davis

Defensive Tackles



Bo Davis joined the Texas coaching staff as defensive tackles coach in January 2011. He spent eight of the previous nine years as a member of Nick Saban's staffs at Alabama, LSU and with the Miami Dolphins.

Davis helped the defense lead the Big 12 in total defense (11th NCAA), rushing defense (sixth NCAA), pass efficiency defense (10th NCAA) and pass defense in his first season. The defensive tackles group was led by first-team All-Big 12 selection Kheeston Randall who was key to stopping the run inside while recording five tackles for loss, one sack and eight quarterback pressures. Randall went on to be selected by the Miami Dolphins in the 2012 NFL Draft. As a group the defensive tackles tallied 17 tackles for loss, six sacks and 21 pressures.

He came to Texas after spending four seasons with the Crimson Tide as defensive line coach where he was a part of defenses that consistently led the Southeastern Conference and ranked in the Top 10 in the nation in most of the major statistical categories.

Alabama posted a record of 42-10 (.808) during Davis' four-year stretch, including a mark of 35-4 (.897) in the last three seasons. The Tide also won three of its four bowls in that span and the 2009 BCS National Championship.

Alabama finished in the top 10 in each of the last three seasons, ranking No. 10 in 2010 following a 49-7 win over No. 7 Michigan State in the Capital One Bowl, No. 1 in 2009 and No. 6 in 2008.

In 2010, Davis helped guide a defense that ranked fourth in the nation in scoring defense (13.5 ppg), fifth in total defense (286.4 ypg), ninth in rushing defense (110.2 ypg) and seventh in pass efficiency defense (103.5), while leading the SEC in all four categories. Under Davis, defensive lineman Marcell Dareus earned second-team All-America and first-team All-SEC honors.

Davis' 2009 defensive line was again key in setting the tone for a defense that ranked second nationally and led the SEC in the same four categories - rushing defense (78.1 ypg), pass efficiency defense (87.7), total defense (244.1) and scoring defense (11.7 ppg). Nose guard Terrence Cody earned consensus All-America honors for the second straight season and was a finalist for the Lombardi Award, Nagurski Trophy and Bednarik Award. Lorenzo Washington and Brandon Deaderick anchored the defensive end positions while Dareus emerged as a pass-rusher and led the team with 6.5 sacks.

In 2008, Alabama ranked second nationally in rushing defense, allowing just 74.1 yards per game on the ground. UA also ranked third in the country in total defense (263.5 ypg) and seventh in scoring defense (14.3 ppg). Davis added Cody to the starting lineup at nose guard and the junior was named All-America in his first season.

Under Davis' watch in 2007, senior defensive end Wallace Gilberry put together one of the finest seasons by an end in Alabama history. Gilberry earned first team All-SEC status, leading the league in tackles for loss (27) and finishing second in sacks (10).

Davis joined the Crimson Tide staff after serving the 2006 season as an assistant defensive line coach and assistant strength and conditioning coach with the Miami Dolphins under Nick Saban.

Prior to his stint with the Dolphins, Davis spent four years (2002-05) as an assistant strength and conditioning coach at LSU under Saban and current Tigers head coach Les Miles. LSU went to four straight bowls in that span, winning two of them, including the 2004 Sugar Bowl for the 2003 National Championship, while posting a 41-11 (.788) record.

Davis joined the LSU strength and conditioning staff as assistant coordinator in June 2002. He came to the Tigers from North Shore High School in Galena Park, Texas, where he served as an assistant coach from 1997-2002 and coached former Longhorns All-American and current Baltimore Ravens DT Cory Redding.

Davis earned second team All-SEC honors as a senior nose guard at LSU in 1992 after starting all 11 games, recording 66 tackles, including four tackles for loss. He lettered for the Tigers from 1990-92 and finished his college career with 90 tackles, one sack and one fumble recovery.

A native of Magee, Miss., Davis graduated from LSU in 1993 and then served as a graduate assistant with the LSU strength and conditioning program from 1995-1997.

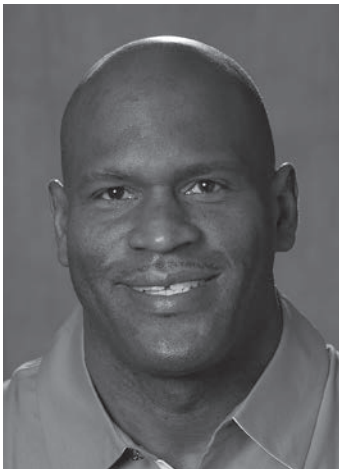
Oscar Giles

Defensive Ends



Oscar Giles is in his eighth season as defensive ends coach at The University of Texas. This is Giles' second coaching stint with the Longhorns after serving as a graduate assistant in 1999. He also was an all-conference player at Texas.

Under Giles in 2011, Alex Okafor and Jackson Jeffcoat started all 13 games at defensive end with each player ranking in the top 10 in the Big 12 in sacks and tackles for loss. Okafor was an AFCA All-American and unanimous first-team All-Big 12 selection after recording a team-high seven sacks to go with 14 TFL and 17 pressures. Jeffcoat was a second-team All-Big 12 choice and led the team with 21 TFL and eight sacks, while nine pressures on the year. The two ends helped the defense rank first in the Big 12 in total defense (11th NCAA), run defense (sixth NCAA), pass efficiency defense (10th NCAA) and pass defense.

In 2010, senior DE Sam Acho became one of the most decorated players in UT history. Acho won the William V. Campbell Trophy, the Wuerffel Trophy and the ARA Sportsmanship Award, along with becoming UT's seventh two-time Academic All-American, a second-team All-America selection by the WCFF, a member of the AFCA Good Works team and a Lott Trophy finalist, while recording 59 tackles, 17 TFL, nine sacks, 18 pressures, five forced fumbles and five fumble recoveries. His five fumble recoveries led the nation and tied the UT single-season record. Acho finished his career ranked second in UT history in fumble recoveries with nine, and 10th in sacks with 23.5, and was chosen in the fourth round of the 2011 Draft by the Arizona Cardinals. Senior Eddie Jones was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection and notched 52 tackles (32 solo), six sacks, 10 TFL, 14 pressures and one forced fumble. His six sacks and 14 pressures both ranked second on the team behind Acho. True freshman Jackson Jeffcoat also emerged to earn Big 12 Honorable Mention Defensive Freshman of the Year honors and contributed six TFL, 2.5 sacks and seven pressures despite playing in only eight games due to injury.

In 2009, Giles helped mold senior DE/LB Sergio Kindle into the first player in college football history to be a finalist for both the Hendricks Award (nation's top DE) and Butkus Award (nation's top LB). Kindle led the Longhorns with 22 TFL and 36 pressures en route to first-team All-America honors. Junior Sam Acho led the team with 10 sacks and was named a semifinalist for the Lott Trophy. Jones contributed five sacks and seven TFL to a unit that helped the defense rank first in rushing defense, third in total defense, 12th in scoring defense, along with being in the top eight in both sacks and TFL. Alex Okafor also earned Freshman All-Big 12 honors.

Under Giles' guidance, the 2008 season saw Brian Orakpo become one of the most dominant players in college football and one of the most honored in UT history. An eventual first round pick of the Washington Redskins, Orakpo became Texas' 19th unanimous All-American and won the Nagurski Trophy (nation's top defensive player), Lombardi Award (nation's top lineman) and Hendricks Award (nation's top defensive end). He was also the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year and a finalist for the Lott Trophy (nation's top defensive IMPACT player). Orakpo helped the Texas defense lead the nation in sacks, finishing the season with 11.5 sacks for minus-100 yards, 19 TFL, 30 pressures and four forced fumbles. Giles also helped senior Henry Melton make a successful transition from RB to a starting role at DE where he registered four sacks and 10 TFL and went on to be drafted by the Chicago Bears in the fourth round.

In 2007, Giles led a group that helped Texas rank sixth in the nation against the run (93.4 ypg). Seeking to replace NFL draftees Tim Crowder (second round, Broncos) and Brian Robison (fourth round, Vikings), veterans Orakpo and Aaron Lewis began the season as starters, but both missed significant time due to injury. Despite missing more than four games, Orakpo led the team in sacks, while sophomore Lamarr Houston stepped in to lead the team in TFL and pressures.

The 2006 season saw Giles' defensive ends produce Texas' first 10-sack season since 1998. Crowder, who earned second-team All-America honors, was a finalist for the Hendricks Award and led the team with 10.5 sacks. Robison also pitched in with 5.5 sacks and 15 pressures on his way to second-team All-Big 12 honors. Brian Orakpo added 4.5 sacks and 11 pressures. Overall, the defensive ends produced 24.5 sacks, 44 TFL and 59 pressures.

In his first season with Texas, Giles aided in the Longhorns No. 10 ranking in total defense (302.9 ypg) and a No. 8 ranking in scoring defense (16.4 ppg). Three of the defensive ends earned conference honors with Crowder and Robison being named honorable mention All-Big 12, while Orakpo earned Defensive Freshman of the Year honors. Orakpo was also named Defensive Freshman of the Year by The Sporting News.

Giles spent the previous two seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Houston, where he worked with the Cougars' defensive line. He joined the Houston staff prior to the 2003 season after spending three seasons at SMU. Giles helped the Cougars to a 7-6 mark and a spot in the Hawaii Bowl in 2003, the first bowl appearance for UH in eight seasons.

After joining the SMU staff in the spring of 2000, Giles tutored a defensive line that developed into a unit that led the Western Athletic Conference and ranked 22nd nationally in total defense (320.1 yards per game) in 2001. He was kept on by new Mustang coach Phil Bennett and remained at SMU for the 2002 season.

Giles was a graduate assistant coach at Texas in 1999, where he assisted with defensive backs and helped the Longhorns earn a Big 12 South Division Championship, a spot in the Big 12 Championship game and a Cotton Bowl berth.

Prior to accepting a graduate assistant position at UT, Giles coached the defensive line and served as a strength and conditioning coach at Southwest Texas State (now Texas State) in 1998.

A four-year letterwinner at Texas (1987-90), Giles played defensive end and linebacker for the Atlanta Falcons and went on to play in the Canadian Football League from 1994-97 and helped the Toronto Argonauts win the Grey Cup Championship in 1996.

A three-year starter at UT, Giles earned AP All-SWC honors as a senior when he helped the Longhorns to the 1990 SWC Championship and an appearance in the 1991 Cotton Bowl. Texas was 10-2 and finished the year ranked 12th that year. Giles also helped the 1987 Longhorns to a No. 19 final ranking and a victory in the Bluebonnet Bowl. He led Texas in sacks in 1988 (6.5) and 1989 (7.0) and finished with 22 in his career (T-No. 10 on the UT all-time list). A semifinalist for the Outland Trophy and two-time GTE Academic All-SWC selection, his nine career fumble recoveries are tied for second on the UT all-time chart. Giles was awarded UT's Tenacity Award twice during his collegiate career.

A native of Palacios, Texas, Giles earned his Bachelor of Science degree in speech communications from Texas in 1991. Giles and his wife, Kim, have two daughters, Olivia and Kourtney.

Stacy Searels

Offensive Line

Stacy Searels, the former offensive line coach at Georgia and LSU, and an All-America offensive lineman as a player at Auburn, was named offensive line coach at Texas in January 2011.

During his first season at Texas, Searels helped the Longhorns rank 21st nationally and third in the Big 12 with 210.4 rushing yards per game. His unit paved the way for two 400-yard rushing games and six outings with 200 or more rushing yards. The 441 rushing yards against Kansas and 439 rushing yards against Texas Tech were two of just six 400-yard rushing performances by Texas since 1980. Senior OG David Snow earned first-team All-Big 12 honors and went on to sign a free agent contrac with the Buffalo Bills, while sophomore OG Mason Walters was named to the second team. Two freshmen also earned freshman All-America honors with OT Josh Cochran named first-team, and C Dominic Espinosa named second-team.

Searels joined the Longhorns after coaching the offensive line at Georgia for four seasons beginning in 2007. He added the duties of running game coordinator in 2009. During his time in Athens, the Bulldogs ranked in the Top 25 in the nation in fewest sacks allowed three times, including ranking sixth and leading the SEC in 2009 with just 12.

In 2010, Georgia finished the season ranked 30th in the nation in scoring offense with an average of 32.1 ppg. That included a seven-game stretch to end the regular season where the offensive line helped the team average 41.0 ppg. During that time, the Bulldogs scored no fewer than 31 points and topped the 40-point mark five times. Senior Clint Boling led the line and was named to the Pro Football Weekly All-America Team, along with being a first-team All-SEC selection.

Boling also earned first-team All-SEC honors in 2008 and 2009 under Searels. In 2009, Georgia completed an 8-5 season with a win over Texas A&M in the Independence Bowl. The Bulldogs averaged 161.0 rushing yards per game and ranked sixth in the nation in fewest sacks allowed.

In 2008, Searels took a line that was led by Boling, but also featured three freshman starters, and the unit ranked among the best in the nation in fewest sacks allowed, giving up just 17 (21st NCAA). The offense also ranked 22nd in total offense (426.0 ypg), 29th in scoring offense (31.5 ppg) and 16th in passing offense (277.7 ypg).

Even while blocking for a high-powered passing attack, the line helped RB Knowshon Moreno garner All-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association and become a finalist for the Doak Walker Award, while averaging 107.7 rushing yards per game. Georgia finished the season 10-3 and ranked No. 13/10 after defeating Michigan State in the Capital One Bowl.

In his first season at Georgia, as in 2008, Searels was faced with starting three freshmen, one of whom was Boling, whom he helped tutor into Freshman All-America honors in 2007. He also guided C Fernando Velasco into becoming a second-team All-SEC selection. Behind that line, Moreno earned first-team All-SEC honors and the Bulldogs completed an 11-2 campaign that ended in a Sugar Bowl win over Hawaii and a final ranking of No. 2/3. The offense averaged 177.2 rushing yards per game, while ranking 34th in the nation in scoring offense (32.6 ppg) and 13th in fewest sacks allowed (15).

Searels arrived at Georgia in January 2007, after serving four years coaching the offensive line at LSU from 2003-06. During that time, the Tigers won a National Championship (2003), a SEC Championship (2003), and two SEC West titles (2003 and 2005), while compiling a 44-8 record.

LSU's offensive unit in 2006 finished first in the SEC in total offense (417.5 ypg/11th NCAA) and scoring offense (33.7 ppg/ninth NCAA), second in rushing offense (165.8/31st NCAA) and third in passing offense (251.7/18th NCAA) and fewest sacks allowed (19/24th NCAA). The Tigers closed that season ranked third in both polls with an 11-2 record.

Searels made a habit of producing All-America linemen for LSU. He coached two first-team All-Americans in Stephen Peterman and Rimington Award winner Ben Wilkerson and a second-team All-America selection in Andrew Whitworth. Five of his Tigers linemen earned spots on NFL rosters.

In addition, during that four-year stretch, LSU's offensive line produced a pair of first-team Academic All-Americans in Rodney Reed and Rudy Niswanger. LSU had an offensive lineman named first-team Academic All-America in four straight years.

Niswanger became one of the most decorated student-athletes in school history in 2005, winning the Draddy Trophy as college football's top scholar-athlete, as well as being the inaugural recipient of the Wuerffel Trophy.

In Searels first season at LSU, the Tigers went 13-1 and won the 2003 National Championship with a 21-14 win over Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. The offense finished the season ranked 19th in the nation in scoring offense (33.9 ppg), 27th in rushing offense (185.7 ypg), 31st in total offense (418.4 ypg) and 11th in pass efficiency (149.0).

Searels joined the staff at LSU after a two-year stint as offensive line coach at Cincinnati. While with the Bearcats, Cincinnati played in two bowl games, as well as winning the school's first conference title since 1964 by capturing the 2002 Conference USA crown.

Prior to joining Cincinnati, Searels served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State from 1994-2000, helping the I-AA Mountaineers to five playoff appearances and a pair of Southern Conference titles.

While at Appalachian State, Searels was presented with the NCAA Award of Valor, recognizing him for his act of courage following a head-on collision involving a van carrying members of the Mountaineers football team and support staff on Sept. 30, 2000.

Searels got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at Auburn in 1992, working with a Tigers squad that posted a perfect 11-0 mark in 1993.

A three-year starter on the offensive line at Auburn, Searels earned first-team All-America honors from both the Associated Press and Football News as a senior in 1987. He blocked for Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson in 1985 and All-America Brent Fullwood in 1986.

Searels was a first-team All-SEC selection as both a junior and senior, and he was honored with the team's Ken Rice Award as the school's best blocking lineman in 1987. He played in both the Japan Bowl and the Senior Bowl before becoming a fourth-round draft pick by the San Diego Chargers in 1988. He played two seasons with the Chargers before moving to the Miami Dolphins in 1990. He ended his professional career in 1991 with the New York/New Jersey Knights of the World League of American Football.

A native of Trion, Ga., Searels graduated from Auburn with a degree in marketing and transportation in 1990. He followed that with a master's degree in higher education administration from Auburn in 1995.

Searels is married to the former Patricia Hale, and they have two daughters, Taylor and Savannah.

Darrell Wyatt

Co-Recruiting Coordinator/Wide Receivers

In 2011, Wyatt's receivers corps led by sophomore Mike Davis, freshman Jaxon Shipley and junior Marquise Goodwin. Davis led the team in his sophomore season with 45 catches for 609 yards and one touchdown. Shipley missed three games but earned second-team freshman All-America honors after tying for the team lead with three TD catches while also throwing three TD passes. He had 44 receptions for 607 yards. Goodwin missed the opener while competing in track and field, but came on strong to end the year with 30 grabs for 372 yards and one touchdown, while also rushing for 187 yards on 20 carries, an average of 9.4 yards per attempt.

Prior to joining the Longhorns, Wyatt spent 2010 as co-offensive coordinator/wide receivers coach at Kansas. Under new head coach Turner Gill, the Jayhawks were transitioning from an offense that lost one of the nation's top quarterbacks in Todd Reesing and two of the nation's top 10 wide receivers in Dezmon Briscoe and Kerry Meier. Despite that, Wyatt helped guide junior WR Daymond Patterson to 60 receptions.

In 2008-09, Wyatt was the associate head coach/offensive coordinator/wide receivers coach at Southern Mississippi. In two seasons with the Golden Eagles, Wyatt's offenses were among the nation's best.

The 2009 season saw USM produce the nation's 18th-ranked scoring offense (32.9 ppg) and rank 31st in total offense (416.4 ypg). The offense's 428 points that season were a school record. Wyatt guided a balanced attack that ranked 33rd in rushing offense (181.4 ypg) and 43rd in passing offense (235.0 ypg), with an even higher ranking pass efficiency offense that was 13th in the nation with a 147.3 rating. RB Damion Fletcher and WR DeAndre Brown both ranked in the top 50 in the nation in rushing and receptions, respectively, while QB Martevious Young was in the top 20 in pass efficiency. Fletcher finished his career as one of a handful of backs, along with Texas' Cedric Benson to rush for over 1,000 yards in all four seasons. He also finished as USM's all-time leader in all-purpose yards (6,253) and rushing yards (5,302) and was a second-team All-Conference USA selection along with Brown and TE Leroy Banks, while OL Ryan Hebert earned first-team honors.

In 2008, USM broke 36 offensive school records en route to producing 5,636 yards of total offense and 433.5 ypg (20th NCAA), which were both school USM records. The offense ranked in the top 40 nationally in both rushing offense (192.5 ypg) and passing offense (241.1 ypg), while averaging 30.6 ppg, which was 31st nationally. Many of the season's records included Brown, who was a freshman in 2008 and set the school single-season receptions record with 67 to go along with 1,117 receiving yards. His 85.9 receiving yards per game ranked 22nd in the nation, and he was named first-team freshman All-America, Conference USA Freshman of the Year and first-team All-Conference USA. Meanwhile Fletcher was also named first-team All-CUSA and rushed for 109.4 yards per game, which led the conference and ranked 17th nationally. QB Austin Davis also ranked 17th in the nation in total offense with 279.7 ypg.

Wyatt spent the 2007 season as passing game coordinator and wide receivers coach at the University of Arizona. The Wildcats ranked 10th in the nation in passing at 308.5 yards per game, led by junior WR Mike Thomas, who ranked 17th nationally in receptions after pulling in 83 for 1,038 yards and 11 TDs and earned first-team All-Pac 10 honors. Thomas ended his career as Arizona's all-time leading receiver and was selected by the Jacksonville Jaguars in the 2009 NFL Draft. Eight players on the Arizona roster had at least 20 receptions and 200 receiving yards, while five players had at least 35 receptions and 400 receiving yards.

Wyatt gained NFL expereince in 2006 as wide receivers coach with the Minnesota Vikings. Five different receivers finished the season with 20-plus catches, led by Travis Taylor's 57.

Before coaching in Minnesota, Wyatt spent four seasons at Oklahoma. He helped the Sooners to four bowl games as the wide receivers coach and was the passing game coordinator in his final year. In 2004, he coached three receivers who were first-day picks in the 2005 NFL Draft, and who started professionally as rookies.

Wyatt spent the 2001 season at Oklahoma State as passing game coordinator and wide receivers coach. At OSU, he guided WR Rashaun Woods, who ranked seventh in the nation in receptions that year and went on to become a first-round selection in the 2004 NFL draft. He joined the Cowboys following his first stint at Kansas, where he spent four seasons, the last of which was as offensive coordinator in 2000.

Wyatt started his coaching career at Trinity Valley CC (1989-91) in Athens, Texas, before continuing at Sam Houston State (1992-94), Wyoming (1995) and Baylor (1996).

He started his collegiate playing career as a wide receiver at Trinity Valley CC before playing two seasons at Kansas State (1987-88). He graduated from KSU with a degree in sociology in 1989.

Wyatt is a native of Killeen, Texas, and earned All-Central Texas honors in football at Killeen High School. He and his wife Cindy have two children, Desmond and Charese.

DID YOU KNOW?

★ UT has had three different players post the rare double of a 100-yard rushing and 100-yard receiving game during their careers. Johnny "Lam" Jones first accomplished the feat when he rushed for 122 yards against SMU in 1976 and posted 115 receiving yards against TCU in '77. Eric Metcalf did him one better by becoming the first player in Longhorns history to post a 100-yard rushing and 100-yard receiving contest in the same season. Metcalf accomplished the feat in 1985 when he rushed for 123 yards against TCU and posted 120 receiving yards against Rice. Ivan Williams joined the club in 2002 following his 111-yard receiving performance at Nebraska. Williams previously posted a pair of 100-yard rushing games in 2001 (152 vs. Texas Tech; 103 at Houston).

Texas and The AP Poll

The storied history of Texas football has led to a number of impressive finishes in the national polls. In addition to National Championships in 1963 (AP, UPI), 1969 (AP, UPI), 1970 (UPI) and 2005 (AP, BCS), the Longhorns have finished second in the country twice (1950, UPI/1981, AP). In all, Texas has finished the season nationally ranked by The Associated Press 44 of 73 times. UT has completed the season ranked in the AP Top 10 on 26 occasions. During one impressive 12-year stretch (1959-70), the Longhorns finished the season ranked in the Top Five eight times.

ALL-TIME FINAL AP POLL

The AP Poll began in 1936. From 1936-61, the wire sevice ranked 20 teams. From 1962-67, only the top 10 teams were recognized. From 1968-88, The AP again resumed its Top 20 before expanding to 25 teams in 1989. Points were awarded based on a team's finish in the final AP poll each year. Texas at No. 1 in The AP Poll

Texas has spent its share of time at the top of The Associated Press Poll. The Longhorns have reached the top spot 14 different times for a total of 45 weeks. UT's longest stint at the top of The AP Poll was nine weeks in 1963. That stay at the top of the poll began on Oct. 15, following a 28-7 win against No. 1 Oklahoma, which upped UT's record to 4-0. The Longhorns remained in the top spot for the rest of the season. Texas was ranked No. 4 by AP prior to the 1964 season, but after a season opening 31-0 win against Tulane, the Longhorns vaulted to the top spot, a position they held for three weeks until a 14-13 loss to No. 8 Arkansas dropped them to 4-1.

The 1896 Texas varsity was the first team to play out of state, as the team ventured east for games against Tulane (a 12-4 victory) and LSU (a 14-0 loss). The games were played on a Saturday and Monday in New Orleans and Baton Rouge, respectively, which was a particularly brutal travel schedule for that time.

The 1928 Longhorns were the first to wear "Texas orange" (burnt orange) jerseys. The change was made because the bright orange jerseys UT had worn faded from repeated washings. Burnt orange jerseys were worn for the next decade until a wartime dye shortage forced UT to go back to the bright orange. The darker orange was not re-adopted until Darrell Royal did so prior to the 1962 season.

Jan. 1	(#5) vs. #6 Alabama	W	27-7

A chartered DC-4 provided the transportation, as the Texas football team used air travel for the first time for its 1947 game at Oregon. The trip, though reportedly very rough, didn't slow UT as Longhorn senior quarterback Bobby Layne outdueled Oregon sophomore Norm Van Brocklin in Texas' 38-13 win.

Darrell K Royal - Texas Memorial Stadium

TEXAS MEMORIAL STADIUM

A concrete stadium to replace wooden Clark Field was a long-time dream of University of Texas athletics director L. Theo Bellmont. In 1923, that dream turned to reality as Bellmont met with 30 student leaders and initiated a plan to build a stadium. The idea was presented to the Board of Regents, who approved the project in December 1923. A Central Stadium Committee was named at the Regents meeting on Jan. 16, 1924, and the project was underway.

Heralded as "the largest sports facility of its kind in the Southwest" upon its completion in 1924, the first unit of the stadium consisted of the east and west stands with a seating capacity of 27,000. A product of University of Texas and state pride, the stadium was financed through donations from both students and alumni. The estimated cost of the structure was $275,000.

The enthusiasm was at an all-time high, and UT was forced to construct temporary bleachers to accommodate the overflow crowd of approximately 33,000 people at the dedication ceremonies during the 1924 Texas A&M game.

The UT student body decided to dedicate the stadium in honor of the 198,520 Texans — 5,280 of whom lost their lives — who fought in World War I. On Veteran's Recognition Day 1996, the stadium was rededicated to veterans of all wars in an effort to insure the memory of those who fought valiantly to preserve freedom.

HONORING DARRELL ROYAL

The University of Texas honored legendary head football coach Darrell Royal by adding his name to the Longhorns' stadium (Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium) in 1996. Royal, who led UT to three National Championships and 11 Southwest Conference titles in 20 seasons (1957-76), was recognized and the stadium officially named for him the weekend of the Notre Dame game that year.

1926: A north-end horseshoe with 13 arches was added increasing stadium capacity to 40,500. Cost: $125,000.

1948: Twenty-six rows were added to the east and west stands. Additionally, a south section was built to push the stadium capacity to 60,130. Cost: $1.4 million.

1955: Eight sets of 100-foot towers were erected, four on the east and west sides, to fully illuminate Memorial Stadium. On Sept. 17, 1955, 47,000 fans attended the first night game in UT football history. Texas Tech defeated the Longhorns 20-14 for the first home-opening loss in UT history. Cost: $200,000.

1967-1972: Artificial turf, a tartan track and aluminum seats were installed at Memorial Stadium. On Sept. 27, 1969, 65,200 fans looked on as UT defeated Texas Tech 49-7 in the first game played on the new artificial surface. The 15,990-seat upper deck was in place for the 1971 season, increasing the stadium capacity to 77,809.

1986: The Neuhaus-Royal Complex at the south end of the stadium was completed. The complex includes the UT weight room, training facilities, meeting rooms and locker rooms. Cost: $7 million.

1996: The Astro Turf was removed and a state-of-the-art Prescription Athletic Turf System was installed at the cost of $1.25 million and a Sony Jumbotron in-stadium video system and retrofitted north end zone scoreboard were installed at a cost of $2.8 million. Total Cost: $4.05 million.

1997: Fourteen stadium suites were added to the west side of stadium. Concession plaza and visitors' locker room/track locker room were reconstructed underneath west and northwest stands.

1998: Fifty-two stadium suites and a 13,000 square-foot club room designed for 1,200 people were added on the east side of the stadium. On the east side, a 16-row, 5,000-seat upper deck was constructed to increase the seating capacity to 79,471.

1999: The Mike A. Myers Track and Soccer Stadium, located east of the football stadium, was completed. The Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium track was removed and the field lowered to accommodate new field-level seats, which boosted the capacity of the stadium to 80,082.

2002: The Prescription Athletics Turf originally installed in 1996 was replaced with TifSport Certified Bermudagrass. Cost: $75,000.

2006: A new DAKtronics Prostar Video Board and Facia Boards were added, as well as a new public address system. Also, the press box and the Carpenter-Winkel Centennial Room were renovated.

2007-08: Stadium expansion for the north end zone, which features an academic center, a war memorial plaza and 9,000 additional seats, was completed for the 2008 season. The lower level was completed for the 2007 season with the upper deck and suites added to complete the project for 2008, bringing the seating capacity to 94,113.

2009: Stadium expansion continued as permanent stands were added to the south end zone for the 2009 season. With the addition of the permanent structure, Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium now has a stadium capacity of 100,119.

Darrell K Royal - Texas Memorial Stadium

As Texas Football moves into the 21st century, Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium continues to evolve as a state-of-the-art facility at the forefront of college football.

Currently, the Longhorns' locker room is undergoing renovations that will be completed for the 2011 season, featuring 135 new wide-space lockers connected to a state-of-the art exhaust system. It will also include a nutrition bar, a lounge area with gaming stations, a 60-inch LED screen in the center of room along with five other LED screens throughout the area, and a new sound system and speakers.

In 2009, south end zone seating was upgraded and expanded, increasing the stadium's capacity to 100,119, making it the sixth-largest collegiate stadium in the country and the largest in the southwest.

In addition, renovations were completed on Moncrief Athletics Complex that provided a new football academic center approximately three times the size of the previous area, along with a new indoor practice area, defensive meeting room, hall of fame and a newly-designed facility entrance.

Also, in June of 2009, installation of a new FieldTurf playing surface was completed, providing a state-of-the art surface that not only holds up to challenging weather conditions, but also allows the stadium to be a multi-use facility.

In 2008, renovations to the north end zone, named the Red McCombs Red Zone, were completed with the addition of an upper deck, approximately 2,100 club seats and 47 suites. That end of the stadium also includes a new academic center for UT athletics, a war memorial plaza and a food court.

Including the 2007 renovations to the lower deck of the north end zone, the project added a total of approximately 9,000 additional seats, raising capacity to 94,113 for the 2008 season.

Two major upgrades were made for the 2006 season, including a new video board and temporary bleacher seating in the south end zone, which expanded the stadium's capacity by over 4,000 seats to a total of 85,123.

At the time, the scoreboard was the nation's largest high-definition video display board and remains the largest in collegiate athletics thanks to DAKtronics. The $8-million Prostar Video Board is 55 feet high by 134 feet wide and offers complete flexibility, with the capability to show one large single video image, multiple video images and a combination of live or recorded video with real time scores and stats, out of town game information, sponsors' messages, graphics and animation.

In the past few years, the stadium has also had renovations to the press box, the Carpenter-Winkel Centennial Room and other renovations to the interior of the Moncrief Athletics Complex, most notably to the players' lounge.

The stadium was previously renovated in August 1999 with the removal of the track and the lowering of the field by six feet to allow the addition of several rows of seats.

It was part of a project that included removal of the artificial turf from the stadium, the construction of Frank Denius Fields practice facility, the Red and Charlene McCombs Softball Field, the Mike A. Myers Track and Soccer Stadium and extensive remodeling of Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium/Jamail Field and the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletic Center.

The first stages of the ambitious project were completed in 1996. They included the installation of a sophisticated grass playing field in the stadium and the completion of the Frank Denius Practice Fields.

Progress continued in 1997 with the addition of 14 stadium suites on the west side. The first major construction to the facility since the upper deck was added in 1972 also included a total remodeling of the underside of the stands, including a new concession plaza and a visitors' locker room in the northwest corner of the stadium.

The changes that took place at Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium for the 1998 football season included the addition of a 5,000-seat upper deck on the east side. The massive construction included 52 new stadium suites and a 13,000 square-foot private club room.

In the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletic Center, significant expansion and upgrades included a new locker room, training room, trophy room, players' lounge, football academic center and an addition almost doubling the space in the strength and conditioning area.

The football coaching and academic staffs were moved to the facility, housing the key elements of the entire football program in a single complex for the first time.

The final phase of the construction began shortly after the 1998 season ended, when the 75-year-old stadium floor was excavated to a depth of six feet to allow a reconfiguration and addition of seats and the removal of the track to provide a more intimate football setting.

FREDDIE STEINMARK SCOREBOARD

In a pregame ceremony prior to UT's game with Miami on Sept. 23, 1972, the scoreboard at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium was dedicated to the memory of Freddie Steinmark.

The small (5-foot-10, 166 pounds) but tough Steinmark was a starting safety for UT as a sophomore and junior in 1968-69. During that time, the Longhorns won 20 of 22 games and two conference titles with Steinmark providing five interceptions as a sophomore and two as a junior. Steinmark, who also earned Academic All-Southwest Conference honors in 1968 and '69, led the team in punt returns (25 for 177 yards) as a sophomore and averaged 6.1 yards on 38 punt returns during his career.

Following the final regular season game of his junior year, he became a national symbol of courage and determination as he began a year-and-a-half battle against cancer. In fact, just six days before a diagnosis of bone cancer forced the amputation of his left leg, Steinmark started and played in UT's 15-14 win at Arkansas that clinched the 1969 National Championship.

Determined to live, he astounded the doctors by appearing on crutches less than a month later at the 1970 Cotton Bowl against Notre Dame. After UT won the game, 21-17, Darrell Royal and the Longhorns presented the game ball to Steinmark. Within six weeks, he walked on an artificial leg across the stage to accept his letter jacket at UT's awards banquet.

Steinmark continued his college education without interruption and served as a student freshman coach during fall 1970, which would have been his senior season.

However, his battle with cancer was one that could not be won on heart alone. Despite all the doctors could do, Steinmark died on Sunday, June 6, 1971. Born Jan. 27, 1949, in Wheatridge, Colo., he was just 22 years old.

As Longhorns players exit the dressing room for a game, they pass by the Steinmark Scoreboard and touch his picture in recognition of the courage he showed in his fight for life and facing his cancer.

Great Games & Moments in Texas Football History

In honor of the Centennial Year of Texas Football, a Blue Ribbon committee met in the summer of 1992 to select great games and moments in Texas football history. Additional games from 1992-present have been added to the list. These were their selections.

GREAT GAME

Texas 18, Dallas 16
Thursday, November 30, 1893
Fairgrounds Park (Dallas)

Texas' very first football game was an astounding upset, as the varsity sent a band of 15 or 16 players (the exact number was not recorded) north to face the "Champions of Texas" Dallas Foot Ball Club. The Dallas team, which had been undefeated for several years and unscored on for quite some time as well, fell to the boys from Texas, 18-16. The Thanksgiving Day battle was witnessed by nearly 2,000 fans, the largest crowd to see a Dallas game up to that time.

GREAT GAME

Texas 7, Texas A&M 3
Thursday, November 25, 1920
Clark Field (Austin, Texas)

The legend of the Texas/Texas A&M rivalry took hold with this historical meeting. Texas was undefeated and had outscored opponents 275-10. A&M was unbeaten and had not been scored on in two years. The largest crowd in state history (est. 20,000) was on hand to see the Longhorns win 7-3. The winning score was set up by a tackle-eligible pass play in which Tom Dennis made an astounding one-handed catch. Francis Domingues rammed the ball over the goal line on the next play for the winning score. Said the Cactus yearbook: "Down on Clark Field, the largest crowd that had ever witnessed a football game in Texas had assembled to view the annual clash of the Longhorns and Farmer, a clash upon which the championship of the Southwest depended. And when Old Sol completed his journey across the sky, and the curtain had been rung down on the 1920 football season, that same crowd had seen the Red and White of A&M bow down before the Orange and White of Varsity in one of the greatest games ever staged in these parts.

"Thanksgiving Day, 1920, will forever be remembered in the annals of Texas football history, at Varsity at least, for the 7-3 drubbing that marked the close of an undefeated season for the Longhorns and that gave the Aggies the first taste of defeat they had in two long years."

GREAT MOMENT

Texas 16, Vanderbilt 0
October 20, 1923
The Fairgrounds (Dallas)

Facing powerful Vanderbilt at Dallas' State Fair, one of Texas' finest teams gave a great performance. The highlight was an incredible run, right along the sideline, by UT's great back, Oscar Ekhardt. Onlookers said, "he flattened tacklers like dominoes," until almost down at the 8-yard line. He regained his balance with one hand and plowed over for the score that led to a 16-0 victory. Said the Fort Worth Star-Telegram of Eckhardt's run, "Eckhardt, knocked to earth, rose like a phoenix and blazed down the line until he crossed the thin white marker. In all, he drove 20 yards through the gold and black to put his name in the Texas Varsity hall of fame."

GREAT GAME

Texas 7, Notre Dame 6
Saturday, October 6, 1934
Notre Dame Stadium (South Bend, Ind.)

Texas defeated the Irish, 7-6, in a game that brought UT to national prominence. The defeat was Notre Dame's first opening-game setback since 1896. Texas' future All-America basketballer Jack Gray recovered a Fighting Irish fumble on the opening kickoff, and four plays later, Bohn Hilliard went off tackle for an 8-yard touchdown. Hilliard added the extra point for all the scoring UT would need. Said Coach Chevigny addressing a basketball crowd at Gregory Gym nine months earlier, "I shall do my best to make the flag of Texas fly high among those of the schools of the nation."

GREAT MOMENT

Texas 7, Notre Dame 6
Saturday, October 6, 1934
Notre Dame Stadium (South Bend, Ind.)

Bohn Hilliard stepped through the Notre Dame defense for an eight-yard score that brought a 7-6 Longhorns victory in 1934. Hilliard's run followed Jack Gray's recovery of a Fighting Irish fumble on the game's opening kickoff.

GREAT MOMENT

#2 Minnesota 47, Texas 19
November 14, 1936
Memorial Stadium (Minneapolis)

Hugh Wolfe's 95-yard kickoff return was the lone bright spot as Texas fell to the eventual National Champions. The return stood as a UT record for 42 years. Said Wolfe, "The kickoff return was a fluke. I picked out the biggest one and ran straight at him, faked left, cut right to see nothing but daylight and the man who held the ball for the kick. He was just getting to his feet when I said "good-bye." Shirley Temple could have made that TD."

GREAT GAME

Texas 14, Arkansas 13
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

With Texas trailing 13-7 and just 30 seconds remaining in the game, many of the crowd of 17,000 were heading for the exits when UT fullback R.B. Patrick flipped a short pass to Jack Crain. Sixty-seven dramatic yards later, those same fans were pouring from the stands after Crain crossed the goal line with the tying score. After several minutes, the field was cleared and Crain booted the extra point. It was UT's first SWC-opening win since 1933, and the win single-handedly revitalized the Texas program.

GREAT MOMENT

Texas 14, Arkansas 13
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

With 30 seconds on the clock, Jack Crain pulled in a short pass from R.B. Patrick and weaved his way to a 67-yard touchdown to defeat favored Arkansas 14-13 in 1939. The moment was the turning point in what became the "Renaissance game" of the Dana X. Bible coaching era at Texas.

GREAT GAME

Texas 7, Texas A&M 0
Thursday, November 28, 1940
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Noble Doss' "impossible catch" on the third play of the game set up Texas' only touchdown, a Pete Layden
1-yard run on the very next play, as the Longhorns ended Texas A&M's 19-game winning streak with a 7-0 victory at Memorial Stadium. The UT win prevented the Aggies from repeating as National Champions and also knocked A&M from a sure Rose Bowl appearance. Texas finished the season 8-2, its best record since 1932.

GREAT MOMENT

Texas 7, Texas A&M 0
Thursday, November 28, 1940
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Noble Doss' incredible over-the-shoulder pass reception on the third play of the 1940 Texas/Texas A&M game led to the winning TD in the 7-0 Longhorns victory that ended the Aggies' bid for back-to-back National Championships.

GREAT GAME

#4 Texas 71, Oregon 7
Saturday, December 6, 1941
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Texas took out its frustration of not being awarded a Rose Bowl bid by overwhelming Oregon, 71-7, at Memorial Stadium. Less than 24 hours later, the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor.

GREAT GAME

#11 Texas 14, #5 Georgia Tech 7
Friday, January 1, 1943
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

Texas' very first bowl game was a success, as the Longhorns defeated fifth-ranked Georgia Tech, 14-7. Backs Roy Dale McKay and Jackie Field led the way to the win. Texas, not in the Top 10 at the time, was looked on with contempt by many in the media. Said International News Services' Lawton Carver before the game: "Texas doesn't belong in the same league with Georgia Tech."

GREAT GAME

#7 Texas 23, #1 SMU 20
Saturday, November 4, 1950
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Seventh-ranked Texas defeated the top-ranked Mustangs, 23-20. The Longhorns limited SMU great running back Kyle Rote to minus-three yards on seven carries.

GREAT MOMENT

#5 Texas 27, Baylor 20
Baylor Stadium (Waco, Texas)

GREAT GAME

#13 Texas 35, Baylor 33
Saturday, November 8, 1952
Baylor Stadium (Waco, Texas)

In a wild offensive show, Texas edged the Bears 35-33 at Waco. Billy Quinn capped a 74-yard drive with a 1-yard run with 39 seconds on the clock for the UT win. The game featured 46 and 54-yard touchdown runs by Texas and a 67-yard punt return and 28-yard pass play for scores by Baylor.

GREAT GAME

#10 Texas 16, #8 Tennessee 0
Thursday, January 1, 1953
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

With memories of a 20-14 Cotton Bowl setback to Tennessee in 1951 still fresh in their minds, the Longhorns went out and dominated the Volunteers, 16-0. The hard-charging UT defense, led by Harley Sewell and Carlton Massey, limited the Vols to six first downs and an amazing total of minus-14 rushing yards. The game was the first Cotton Bowl to be nationally televised (by NBC Sports).

GREAT GAME

Texas 35, TCU 34
Amon Carter Stadium (Fort Worth, Texas)

GREAT GAME

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

Texas, a 13-point underdog, came into the Oklahoma game having lost six in a row and nine of the last 10 to its hated neighbors to the north. The Longhorns struck first on a 10-yard TD pass from Bobby Lackey to Rene Ramirez and surprised the Sooners by converting a two-point conversion for an 8-0 lead. Bud Wilkinson's Sooners cut the lead to 8-6 with a third-quarter TD. Then, with Texas starting a drive from its own 24-yard-line, the Sooners' Jim Davis picked a fumbled ball off the back of Texas' Mike Dowdle and raced 24 yards for a touchdown to put OU up 14-8 with 12:52 to play.

Texas, which had not registered a first down in the second half, took over on its own 26 with 6:50 left in the game. Substitute QB Vince Matthews drove the Longhorns to the OU 7-yard-line. On third down, Royal replaced Matthews with Lackey, and on his first play back, Lackey hit Bobby Bryant with a jump pass to tie the game. With 3:10 to go, Lackey added the extra point for the one-point Texas lead. Lackey then completed a trifecta by intercepting an Oklahoma pass in the waning moments to seal the win.

#3 Texas 27, SMU 0
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

Halfback James Saxton ran wild in Texas' 27-0 win. The senior scatback rushed for 173 yards on 16 carries to help improve the Longhorns' record to 7-0. "I don't believe there are three backs in the United States who could have made that run," SMU coach Bill Meek said of Saxton's 80-yard, third-quarter scamper that jump-started UT. The game was a watershed for Texas in the Royal Era, as upsets of Michigan State and Mississippi that day propelled the Longhorns to a No. 1 national ranking. It made the '61 squad the first under Royal to assume the top spot in the country.

GREAT GAME

#3 Texas 12, #5 Mississippi 7
Monday, January 1, 1962
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

No. 3 Texas and No. 5 Mississippi hooked up in Texas' first bowl game victory under Darrell Royal. The Longhorns, despite their national ranking, went into the game as three-point underdogs. Many felt Mississippi's 17-pound weight advantage per lineman was too much for Texas to handle. However, it was the UT defense that held on to a 12-0 halftime lead and stymied the vaunted Ole Miss passing game. Quarterback Mike Cotten and halfback James Saxton led the offense, while Defensive MVP Bob Moses, Don Talbert and Johnny Treadwell led the defensive charge to Royal's first bowl triumph.

GREAT GAME

#1 Texas 7, #7 Arkansas 3
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

No. 1 Texas and No. 7 Arkansas, both undefeated at 4-0, teed it up in Austin in the first of what was to be a memorable string of games between the Longhorns and Razorbacks in the 1960s. Arkansas jumped out to a 3-0 lead and carried that advantage into the third quarter. It was then that the Hogs mounted a drive that took them to the Texas 5-yard line. With Arkansas first-and-goal, UT linebacker Johnny Treadwell told his teammates, "All right, we've got them right where we want them. They have run out of room. They can't throw a long pass. They've got to come right at us." Two plays later, Arkansas fullback Danny Brabham rammed into the line from the three and was met by Treadwell and Pat Culpepper. Culpepper's helmet popped the football loose from Brabham and Texas recovered in the end zone for a touchback. The Longhorns turned the ball back over but again stopped the Hogs, this time on fourth-and-one at the Texas 12-yard line. It was after a 2-yard loss by quarterback Duke Carlisle that Texas began a 20-play, 90-yard drive that culminated in a game-winning 3-yard touchdown run by Tommy Ford with 36 seconds remaining. Prior to Texas' "Big Drive," the Longhorns had just one first down in the second half.

GREAT MOMENT

#1 Texas 7, #7 Arkansas 3
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

"The tackle," a vicious hit by linebackers Johnny Treadwell and Pat Culpepper that stopped Arkansas' Danny Brabham cold on the Texas 3-yard line, was the biggest play in No. 1 UT's 7-3 win. On the third-quarter play, Culpepper's helmet met the ball squarely and forced a fumble that Texas recovered in the end zone for a touchback. The fired-up Longhorns turned the momentum gained from that play into a 20-play, 90-yard, game-winning touchdown drive to defeat No. 7 Arkansas, 7-3.

GREAT MOMENT

#1 Texas 7, Baylor 0
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

In the biggest play of Texas' National Championship season, Duke Carlisle made a sensational leaping interception of what looked like a sure last-minute, game-tying Baylor touchdown pass. With 29 seconds remaining in the game and Baylor at the Texas 19-yard-line, Bears quarterback Don Trull dropped back looking for his favorite receiver, Lawrence Elkins. Elkins, running a post pattern, eluded UT's Joe Dixon and looked to be wide open as he approached the goal line. It was then that Carlisle, who had covered nearly 15 yards since the ball left Trull's hand, closed on Elkins to make the miraculous interception. "Thank you, Duke. You saved my life," said Dixon to Carlisle after the game. Texas went on to finish the season 11-0 and win its first National Championship in school history.

#2 Texas 28, #1 Oklahoma 7
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

No. 1 Oklahoma and No. 2 Texas met in what at the time was called the "Game of the Century." The Texas ground game, with Tommy Ford carrying the ball, led the Longhorns to a 14-0 halftime lead. UT picked up where it left off in the second half and cruised to a 28-7 win. A large crowd of fans greeted the Longhorns in Austin following the win. Darrell Royal was named UPI "Coach of the Week" and Scott Appleton earned AP "Lineman of the Week" honors for his 18-tackle performance against the Sooners. Royal also had high praise for his sophomore guard/linebacker Tommy Nobis. "I knew Tommy was a good one, but I had no idea a sophomore could come up and play as well as he has." With the win, Texas obtained the No. 1 ranking and never relinquished it in on the way to its first National Championship.

GREAT GAME

#1 Texas 28, #2 Navy 6
Wednesday, January 1, 1964
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

"Tune in your television to the Cotton Bowl and you'll laugh yourself silly … Texas is the biggest fraud ever perpetrated on the football public," Eastern sports writer Myron Cope said. Never mind that Texas was ranked No. 1 by AP and UPI and had already been awarded the MacArthur Trophy by the National Football Foundation. The Longhorns still had something to prove. No. 2 Navy, darling of the east led by Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach, had scrambled its way to the Cotton Bowl where they were just two-point underdogs to the Longhorns. Led by Duke Carlisle's aerial assault, Texas rolled to a convincing 28-6 win to put an exclamation point on its first National Championship season.

GREAT GAME

#5 Texas 21, #1 Alabama 17
Orange Bowl (Miami)

For the second time in two years, the Longhorns faced one of the all-time quarterback greats in a bowl game. This time it was Joe Namath and top-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide, who were undefeated. No. 5 Texas was anxious to take its shot at the team set to succeed them as National Champions in the first major bowl played at night. Texas jumped out to a 21-7 halftime lead and hung on for a 21-17 win. The courageous Namath, playing on one good leg, managed to complete 18-of-37 passes for 255 yards and two touchdowns, but the Texas ground game, outgaining Alabama 212-49, proved to be the difference. Ernie Koy led UT's rushers with 133 yards on 24 carries. Arkansas, who defeated Texas 14-13 earlier in the season, benefited most from the UT upset as the Football Writer's Association of America and Helms Foundation — two groups who waited until after the season — named the Razorbacks National Champions.

GREAT GAME

Texas 26, Oklahoma 20
Saturday, October 12, 1968
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

Texas' "Wishbone" offense came of age in this 26-20 defeat of the Sooners. With the Longhorns trailing 20-19 at their own 15-yard-line and 2:37 left in the game, quarterback James Street stepped under center anxious to start UT's sputtering offense. Four big pass completions put the Longhorns at the OU 21 with 55 seconds left to play. It was then that UT took to the ground. Fullback Steve Worster carried for 14 yards and on the next play rumbled seven yards for the winning score with 39 seconds remaining. The drive was the turning point for the wishbone.

GREAT MOMENT

Saturday, October 12, 1968
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

It was only a 7-yard run, but it meant the world to Texas and its new "Wishbone" offense. Steve Worster's touchdown run to cap a 85-yard drive established UT's wishbone offense as not just the one-dimensional "run only" threat. The drive, which began with four pass completions by James Street, was a masterful mesh of pass and run that instilled confidence in the Longhorns players. That confidence translated into 28 more wins in a row, including the 1969 National Championship.

GREAT GAME

#1 Texas 15, #2 Arkansas 14
Saturday, December 6, 1969
Razorback Stadium (Fayetteville, Ark.)

Texas was undefeated in 18 games while Arkansas had won 15 in a row. The Longhorns was ranked No.1 by AP and Arkansas was at No. 2. UT was leading the nation in rushing and Arkansas was atop the national list for scoring defense. President Richard Nixon was on hand to proclaim the winner National Champion. Something had to give. Arkansas scored first and took a 7-0 lead to the locker room at halftime.

Arkansas' Bill Montgomery passed to Chuck Dicus for a 29-yard touchdown in the third quarter to up the Razorbacks lead to 14-0. Late in the third period, Texas QB James Street led the Longhorns on an 80-yard drive capped by a 42-yard touchdown gallop by the senior quarterback. After converting the two-point conversion, UT trailed 14-8.

Arkansas drove right back to the Texas 7-yard line and was poised to score when UT defensive back Danny Lester picked off a Montgomery pass in the end zone. Texas fumbled on its next possession but got the ball back 62 yards from the Arkansas goal line with 7:58 to play. Three plays netted seven yards, and on fourth-and-three from the 43, Street called a time out. Royal called for the "53 veer pass," and seconds later, tight end Randy Peschel was on the receiving end of a 44-yard strike from Street. Two plays later, Jim Bertlesen slammed over from two yards out as the stunned Arkansas crowd looked on. Happy Feller added the extra point and Tom Campbell's interception of a Montgomery pass at the Texas 21-yard-line with 1:22 left sealed the victory.

Razorback Stadium (Fayetteville, Ark.)

It was fourth-and-three with Texas down 14-8 when head coach Darrell Royal called for the "53 veer pass." It was a play that had been called only a few times all season with tight end Randy Peschel in the game and it hadn't met with much success. "Although this pass is supposed to be long, if you can't get open, cut outside or do something to get enough for a first down," Street said to Peschel in the huddle. "But if you can get behind him [the halfback], run like hell." Peschel ran by Arkansas defensive back Jerry Moore and the ball arrived in the UT tight end's hands 44 yards later. The play deflated the Razorbacks and gave the Longhorns the momentum to pull out the victory.

Thursday, January 1, 1970
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

No. 1 Texas took on No. 9 Notre Dame, which was ending a 44-year self-imposed bowl moratorium. The Irish, despite being seven-point underdogs, outweighed the Longhorns by nearly 20 pounds per man, but that was not enough to prevent UT from registering the 500th win in school history. Trailing 17-14 with 6:52 left to play, the Longhorns took over at their own 24 yard-line. In the 17-play, 76-yard TD drive that followed, UT converted two fourth-and-two situations, the last coming at the Notre Dame 10-yard-line when James Street completed a clutch pass to Cotton Speyrer that took the UT to the two. From there, it took three plays before Billy Dale pushed the ball over for the win and cemented Texas' second National Championship. "I thought of going for the field goal and a tie fleetingly, but that was the conservative in me and it didn't come through strong enough to make me do it," Royal said of the final fourth-and-two.

Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

In one of the most dramatic plays in school history, quarterback Eddie Phillips and wide receiver Cotton Speyrer combined on a 45-yard catch-and-run to raise UT's unbeaten streak to 23 games, eclipsing the old mark of 22 set by Arkansas in 1963-65. On third-and-19 with 20 seconds left, Texas called for "86 pass, Ted crossing, Sam post." Speyrer, who lined up at right end, angled over the middle, jumped and hauled in the pass at the 20-yard-line, then raced to the end zone with 12 seconds remaining on the clock. The Memorial Stadium crowd erup-ted as yet another Darrell Royal gamble paid off for the Longhorns.

Saturday, January 1, 1973
Cotton Bowl (Dallas, Texas)

No. 7 Texas capped an outstanding 10-1 season with a 17-13 defeat of No. 4 Alabama. Quarterback Alan Lowry's 34-yard touchdown run on a bootleg with 4:22 left in the game proved to be the difference in UT's upset of the favored Crimson Tide. Alabama, led by offensive tackle John Hannah and running back Wilbur Jackson, jumped out to a 13-3 halftime lead, but Texas, behind its star tackle Jerry Sisemore and top running back Roosevelt Leaks, stormed back in the second half. Lowry, who ran for 117 yards on 16 carries and tossed for 61 more yards on 5-of-11 passing, beat out Leaks, who rushed for 120 yards on 25 carries, for Outstanding Offensive Performer honors. Royal was especially proud of this team's performance. After all, he had called the team "average as a day's wash" in the preseason.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas, Texas)

With 4:22 left in the game, quarterback Alan Lowry called a bootleg and took off from the Alabama 34-yard line. Not known as an exceptional sprinter, the 4.7 40-yard dash man turned the corner and headed down the sideline for the winning score. Replays and photos show that Lowry may have caught the sideline at the 10-yard-line when he cut back to elude the final Crimson Tide tackler. But it didn't matter, as the winning touchdown stood and UT finished the season at 10-1.

GREAT GAME

#5 Texas 13, #2 Oklahoma 6
Saturday, October 8, 1977
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

No. 5 Texas ended six years of frustration by defeating Oklahoma for the first time since 1970. It was the storybook style with which the Longhorns did it that makes this game stand out. Starting quarterback Mark McBath and backup John Aune both went down in the first quarter with season-ending injuries setting the stage for little-used junior Randy McEachern, who went into the season not even listed in the UT media guide. McEachern proceeded to lead the Longhorns on an 80-yard touchdown drive just before the half to give UT a 10-3 lead at intermission.

Russell Erxleben put the Longhorns up 13-6 with a 58-yard field goal (he knocked through a 64-yarder in the first half) with 8:08 remaining. It was then that Oklahoma started at its own 20-yard-line and advanced to the UT 4-yard line facing a fourth-and-one with 4:10 to go. OU quarterback Thomas Lott rolled left and cut upfield where he was met by All-Americans Brad Shearer and Johnny Johnson for no gain. OU then held Texas at its own six when Erxleben, forced to punt from his own end zone, boomed a 69-yarder to put Texas out of danger. Earl Campbell had a great day on the ground for the Longhorns with 124 yards on 23 carries, including a 24-yard run for UT's only touchdown.

Saturday, November 26, 1977
Kyle Field (College Station, Texas)

It was the Earl Campbell show as the Tyler Rose galloped for 222 yards and four touchdowns against the Aggies in a wild UT win. For good measure, the 220-pound fullback added the only TD reception of his career when he toted a screen pass 60 yards. The performance all but put the Heisman Trophy on Campbell's mantle, as the game was witnessed by a national television audience. Campbell wasn't the only offensive star for the Longhorns, as quarterback Randy McEachern threw for a school record-tying four touchdowns. Texas' 57-point total still stands as the most points scored by either team in this storied rivalry. The win gave the Longhorns their first undefeated regular season (at 11-0) since 1970. UT's bid for a national title was sidetracked by Notre Dame, who defeated the Longhorns 38-10 in the Cotton Bowl.

Earl Campbell Wins the Heisman Trophy

The Heisman Room — Downtown
Athletic Club (New York)

Live television entered the life of the Heisman Trophy the day Earl Campbell became Texas' first winner of the award in 1977. After a number of top finishers just missed the brass ring for the Longhorns, UT's first winner spent a laid-back Dec. 8 lounging in his hotel room in a "bull session" with members of the media—waiting for the first-ever prime-time telecast of the announcement of the award.

After years of announcing the award in a quiet formality at the end of the annual dinner sponsored by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York, the 1977 Heisman moved uptown to the New York Hilton. There, with entertainers Connie Stevens and Leslie Uggams escorted on stage by a dancing troupe dressed in cheerleader outfits, the award was announced to the nation at the end of an hour-long CBS-TV special. The hosts for the telecast were actor Elliot Gould and O. J. Simpson.

The one-hour special, which was greatly panned by TV critics of the day, climaxed in the naming of Campbell over finalists running back Terry Miller of Oklahoma State and Notre Dame tight end Ken MacAfee. Campbell thanked his mother, Ann, who had reared Earl and 10 other children on money she made raising roses in Tyler, his teammates, and God. "I really don't have words to express my feelings," he said. "I hope I can represent what it stands for and will do everything I can toward that aim." Mrs. Campbell and head coach Fred Akers both were among the small contingent of Texans who made the trip to New York. Campbell wore a yellow rose in the lapel of his tuxedo, emblematic of his nickname, "The Tyler Rose."

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

No. 3 Alabama and No. 6 Texas teed it up in the 1982 Cotton Bowl with identical 9-1-1 records. It marked the last chance for Paul "Bear" Bryant to beat Texas while at Alabama. On the other hand, UT coach Fred Akers was looking for his first Cotton Bowl victory. Alabama took a 10-0 lead into the fourth quarter, before Texas finally got on the board. With 10:38 remaining in the game, quarterback Robert Brewer called a timeout with Texas facing third and long at the Alabama 30-yard-line. Brewer stunned the Crimson Tide with a quarterback draw on the next play, racing to the end zone untouched. On UT's next possession, Terry Orr scored from eight yards out to cap an 11-play, 80-yard drive to put UT up 14-10 with 2:05 remaining. Alabama's Joey Jones returned the ensuing kickoff to the Texas 38, and 'Bama QB Walter Lewis took over with 1:54 left. On the very next play, UT's William Graham picked off a Lewis pass at the one. The Longhorns took a safety to insure better field position and make the final margin 14-12. Texas finished the season ranked No. 2 by AP and fourth by UPI.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

It was a play that looked as though it was drawn up on dirt in the playground — so simple, yet so effective. No. 3 Texas was trailing No. 6 Alabama 10-0 in the fourth quarter, when fans began to wonder if the Longhorns would ever score. But Robert Brewer's quarterback draw on third-and- long surprised everyone in the stadium. The 30-yard touchdown run, that saw Brewer score untouched, gave Texas the momentum it needed to pull off a 14-12 victory in the 1982 Cotton Bowl.

GREAT GAME

Texas Stadium (Irving, Texas)

No. 2 Texas took sole possession of the Southwest Conference lead with a 15-12 win at the No. 9 Mustangs. Both SMU and Texas entered the game with undefeated 5-0 records and with nationally-ranked defenses. Texas had to come from behind two times and survive six turnovers en route to the win. The teams traded field goals throughout the first three quarters before Todd Dodge came off the bench to engineer a 62-yard scoring drive. Dodge's 7-yard touchdown pass to Bill Boy Bryant put the Longhorns up 13-6 early in the fourth quarter. SMU then drove 80 yards to tie the game, but Jerry Gray was able to bat down SMU QB Lance McIlhenny's two-point conversion pass attempt. UT added a safety for the final margin. The win snapped SMU's 21-game unbeaten streak.

Saturday, November 26, 1983
Kyle Field (College Station, Texas)

With a national television audience looking on, Texas A&M sought to play spoiler and hang a loss on No. 2 Texas' perfect regular season record. A&M jumped out to a 13-0 lead setting the stage for an aerial assault courtesy of the right arm of Rick McIvor, who entered the game just before the half. McIvor led the Longhorns to 45 points in 15 minutes to turn the tide of the game. He completed 8-of-12 passes for 170 yards and four touchdowns, tying the UT record for TD passes in a game. When you add receiver Bill Boy Bryant's touchdown pass off a double reverse, the five total TD passes set a new school team record. The win marked Fred Akers' second unbeaten regular season in seven years. Texas suffered a heartbreaking 10-9 loss to Georgia in the Cotton Bowl to dash its National Championship hopes.

GREAT MOMENT

War Memorial Stadium (Little Rock, Ark.)

Texas, down 14-10, started at its own 44-yard-line with 1:48 left on the clock and one timeout to spare. In keeping with the great tradition of exciting Texas/Arkansas matchups, quarterback Bret Stafford answered the call and led the Longhorns on a 11-play, 56-yard drive that culminated in a 18-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Tony Jones with no time left on the clock. Jones, who made the reception just inside the goal line, took a couple of hard hits just as he caught the ball, but the 5-foot-7, 140-pounder somehow managed to hang on. The game was the first in UT history to be decided on the final play of the game.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

Texas hadn't beaten Oklahoma since 1983, and it looked as though that streak would stay intact when freshman QB Peter Gardere broke the UT huddle at the Longhorns 34-yard-line with 3:42 left. Having seen its 21-7 halftime lead turn into a 24-21 Sooners advantage, the UT half of the Cotton Bowl rallied behind the Longhorns for one last drive. Four Gardere completions later, the Horns were at the Oklahoma 25-yard-line with a little more than two minutes left in the game. Then, on second-and-10, Gardere rifled a strike to an outstretched Johnny Walker at the goal line for the winning score. On the seven-play drive, Gardere went 5-of-5 for 58 yards. Two Wayne Clements field goals, a 44-yard TD run with a fumbled punt by Mical Padgett, a Gardere to Tony Jones TD pass and a two-point conversion after a blocked PAT rounded out the UT scoring on the wild afternoon. Gardere would go on to defeat OU three more times, making him the first quarterback in Texas history to lead the Longhorns to four wins against the Sooners.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

It was a case of lightning striking twice, as for the second consecutive year, Texas mounted a late fourth-quarter drive to beat No. 4 Oklahoma. This time, UT took over at its own nine-yard line with 7:12 left, having mustered just more than 100 yards of total offense to that point. Twelve plays later, sparked by the runs of freshman Butch Hadnot, UT faced fourth-and-seven at the Oklahoma 16-yard-line. After a Longhorns timeout, quarterback Peter Gardere dropped back, and given extra time from a great block by halfback Phil Brown, spotted Keith Cash in the end zone. The 16-yard scoring pass ended the drive that ate up 5:12 off the game clock. Wayne Clements' extra point gave the Longhorns a 14-13 lead with two minutes to go. OU managed a valiant drive to the UT 29-yard-line, but with time running out, the Sooners' R.D. Lashar watched his 46-yard field goal attempt sail wide left.

GREAT GAME

Texas 45, #3 Houston 24
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Undefeated, third-ranked Houston rolled into Austin with its unstoppable "run-and-shoot" offense led by Heisman Trophy candidate David Klingler. In the previous three years, UH had run up 173 points (57.7 per game) on the Longhorns in winning three consecutive games. In 1990, it was a different story. The UT defense, that would go on to finish the season ranked No. 1 nationally in pass defense, grounded the Cougars in impressive fashion. At the same time, Texas rolled up 626 yards of total offense of its own, the most by a Longhorns team since 1969. In all, UT intercepted Klingler four times and held the Cougars to 81 yards on 31 plays when the game was being decided in the second and third quarters. In the meantime, UT quarterback Peter Gardere completed 20-of-28 passes for 322 yards and fullback Butch Hadnot rushed for 134 yards and two TDs to lead the Longhorns. A raucous sellout crowd enjoyed every minute of the win that helped propel Texas into the 1990 Cotton Bowl.

GREAT MOMENT

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

In a game filled with drama surrounding the first career start of UT redshirt freshman quarterback James Brown, the future Longhorns all-time passing leader, the 1994 version of the UT/OU "Red-River Classic" came down to the final drive. Brown's spectacular job (17-of-22 passing for 148 yards and a TD/51 rushing yards and a score) in replacing the injured Shea Morenz, became the side note when the Longhorns defense produced the game-winning stand.

With UT leading 17-10 with 43 seconds remaining in the game, Oklahoma lined up for a fourth-and-goal play from UT's 3-yard line. Sooners QB Garrick McGee pulled out on what appeared to be an option right, then, to the Longhorns' surprise handed back to RB James Allen running left. Allen seemed to have a clear route to the corner of the end zone until Longhorns LB Robert Reed met him, turned the play inside and got a piece of Allen's legs. "Something told me," Reed said. "Robert, take a seat right where you are. Wait. The play is coming back to you." Allen still appeared destined for the end zone before UT 343-pound NG Stonie Clark dealt a crushing blow that sent Allen to the turf just one foot shy of a game-tying score. "I saw the reverse, got on my horse and got over there. As soon as I saw him turn it inside, my eyes lit up," Clark said.

Brown's first start against the Sooners marked the first time in 30 years a Longhorns QB had his debut as a starter against OU. Andy White filled in for injured Bill Bradley in 1966, but the Sooners won that game, 18-9.

GREAT GAME

Texas 63, Baylor 35
Floyd Casey Stadium (Waco, Texas)

In a roller coaster season that saw the Longhorns lose four games in a six-game stretch midway through the year, the Baylor game revitalized the spirits of the UT football program. Led by a splendid quarterbacking performance by redshirt freshman James Brown, the Longhorns manhandled the Bears 63-35 in claiming a share of the Southwest Conference title and earning a spot in the Sun Bowl.

Despite a 10 a.m. kickoff on Thanksgiving Day, Brown was hot from the start, completing 18-of-25 passes for 289 yards and a school-record five TDs. With the game tied at 21 with three minutes left in the half, Brown began a 35-0 scoring spree over the next one-and-a-half quarters which put the Bears away. In that span, Brown threw four TD passes as UT mounted a 56-21 lead.

With the win, Texas upped its record to 7-4 and claimed a share of its first of three consecutive conference titles. The Longhorns went on to earn their first bowl bid since 1990 and in a stunning 35-31 come-from-behind victory over No. 19 North Carolina at the Sun Bowl, posted their first bowl victory in eight years.

Saturday, October 21, 1995
Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

In a pivotal game that ignited a six-game winning streak, a run to the final Southwest Conference Championship and a berth in the Nokia Sugar Bowl, Phil Dawson became the first Longhorns place-kicker to win a game on the final play when he connected on a 50-yard field goal into a stiff 20 mph headwind to lift No. 16 Texas past No. 14 Virginia, 17-16. It marked the first time in history that the Longhorns claimed a victory in a home game on the final play and only the second time on record that UT won a game as time expired.

The Longhorns' final series, a 14-play, 47-yard drive, was loaded with dramatic plays. With less than one minute left, UT was faced with a fourth-and-one at its own 43-yard-line. Wane McGarity kept the drive alive by diving over left tackle and barely getting the first down. After three incomplete passes, Texas was faced with a fourth-and-10 with 30 seconds left. James Brown patiently waited, stepped up in the pocket and found Mike Adams on the sideline for 12 yards and the first down. Brown stopped the clock by spiking the ball. With 10 seconds left, on a designed play, Brown then gained 11 yards on a keeper to set up Dawson's dramatic kick.

Kyle Field (College Station, Texas)

No. 9 Texas capped a six-game winning streak, snapped an Aggies 31-game home winning streak (the longest active streak in the nation at the time) and secured the final Southwest Conference Championship with a 16-6 victory at No. 16 Texas A&M. The victory gave the Longhorns a perfect conference record (7-0) for the first time since 1990 and earned them a berth in one of the four Alliance Bowls (Nokia Sugar Bowl).

Led by true freshman Ricky Williams' 163 yards rushing and two touchdowns and the courageous effort of junior quarterback James Brown, playing on a badly sprained ankle, the Longhorns claimed their first victory in College Station since 1983 and stopped an Aggies four-game series winning streak. The Longhorns rushed for 246 yards against an A&M defense that was allowing just 91.8 yards per game. On defense, the Longhorns forced six turnovers and were the first opponent to keep the Aggies out of the end zone since 1987.

In one of the most lopsided games in the storied history of the rivalry, Texas pounded Texas A&M 51-15 to claim the first-ever Big 12 South Division Championship and earn a trip to the inaugural Big 12 Championship game. James Brown turned in one of his finest personal performances as a Longhorn with 336 passing yards and four TDs as Texas won its fifth consecutive game. Ricky Williams added 145 rushing yards and a TD as the Longhorns rolled up 594 yards of offense and allowed the Aggies just 227 in the most lopsided series win since 1982 (53-16).

Inaugural Big 12 Championship
Trans World Airlines Dome (St. Louis)

In one of the biggest upsets of the 1996 college football season and one of the greatest wins in recent UT football history, the unranked and three- touchdown underdog Longhorns stunned No. 3 Nebraska 37-27 to claim the first-ever Big 12 Championship. A career-best 353 yards on 19-of-28 passes by James Brown and 120 yards rushing and three touchdowns by fifth-year senior Priest Holmes helped lead the Longhorns to the stirring win against the two-time defending National Champions in St. Louis.

The pivotal play of the game came on a fourth-and-inches call with 2:48 remaining from the Longhorns 28-yard-line. Brown faked the run, rolled left and tossed a pass that TE Derek Lewis took for a 61-yard gain to set up the game-clinching touchdown. Holmes scored from 11 yards out on the very next play and UT pulled off the upset and earned a spot in one of the four Alliance Bowls for the second year in a row (Tostitos Fiesta Bowl). That was the first time since 1972-73 that the Longhorns advanced to back-to-back New Year's Day bowl games. It also secured the Longhorns' third consecutive conference title, marking the first time since 1971-73 that a UT team had accomplished that feat.

Inaugural Big 12 Championship
Trans World Airlines Dome (St. Louis)

"Roll left" was a staple of the Longhorns' goal-line and short-yardage offense. Leading two-time defending National Champion Nebraska 30-27 with 2:40 left in the inaugural Big 12 Championship game and the ball sitting at its own 28-yard-line, Texas put "roll left" to work in turning out one of the most courageous fourth-and-inches plays in college football history.

"I was prepared to punt, but when they stretched the chain and we needed two inches, I thought, heck, if you're going to be a champion you have to go for it. You have to seize the day," head coach John Mackovic said.

"Come to run," QB James Brown was told, meaning his first inclination should be to dive the two inches necessary for the first down and let the Longhorns'offense try to run out the rest of the clock. Brown quickly stepped under center and received the ball immediately. He was prepared to run after faking a handoff to Priest Holmes and pivoting to his left. The hole seemed plenty big enough, especially after Ricky Williams knocked down linebacker Ryan Terwilliger. But the junior signal caller stunned everyone when he stopped and lofted a pass downfield to a wide open Derek Lewis for what turned into a 61-yard completion.

"It was sitting there as big as the sun, so long that I swear I said, 'Come on, get here,'" Lewis said afterward.

"You can't stop that play if we execute it," Brown added. "The defense doesn't have enough people to cover everybody."

The play, later voted College Football's Play of the Year, set up Priest Holmes' third TD run of the game and allowed the three-touchdown underdogs to claim their first Big 12 Championship with a 37-27 victory.

Ricky Williams Announced He Will Return For Senior Season
Thursday, January 8, 1998

After leading the nation in rushing and scoring, winning the Dr Pepper Doak Walker Award (nation's outstanding running back) and finishing fifth in the Heisman Trophy voting, Ricky Williams made a startling announcement that he would wait on NFL riches and return for his senior season at Texas.

On January 8, 1998, in Bellmont Hall's Carpenter-Winkel Centennial Room, Williams stunned the press conference crowd and kicked off a history-making season with his declaration that he would pass on a certain top five selection in the NFL Draft to return to Austin. "When I came to Texas three years ago, I set personal and team goals. I also wanted to get my degree from The University of Texas and that's why I'm staying another year." Williams' went on to say he delayed becoming a millionaire for his love of the college experience and that he hoped his decision would set a good example for kids in emphasizing the value of education. "There's certain things money can't buy, like camaraderie and the team being together and loyalty," Williams added. "Money can't buy those things." Mack Brown praised the decision of what he said assured a successful recruiting class. "What a great statement for college football, that a guy would turn down all that money to stay in college."

DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

In a game filled with emotion, Ricky Williams placed a No. 37 decal on his helmet to honor his fallen friend Doak Walker who passed away on Sunday, Sept. 27. After dedicating his season to the memory of Walker, Williams went on to rush for a UT record and match the 11th-best rushing day in NCAA history with 350 yards (eclipsing Roosevelt Leaks UT mark of 342 yards set against SMU in 1973) in a 54-33 victory over Iowa State. The game marked Williams' initial assault on the NCAA record book.

The future Heisman Trophy winner, who rushed for 350 yards and five touchdowns on 37 carries and caught two passes for 17 yards, set or tied six NCAA records on the day. Williams' 1-yard TD run with 6:37 remaining in the fourth quarter was his 65th career TD run and 66th career TD overall, pushing him ahead of Anthony Thompson as the NCAA's all-time leader in rushing TDs and total TDs. He also set NCAA records for scoring among non-kickers and rushing yards in consecutive games (668, 318 vs. Rice; 350 vs. Iowa State) and tied the NCAA marks for fastest to 1,000 rushing yards in a season (five games) and TDs in consecutive games (11).

Williams set five UT records in the game as well. Including his single-game rushing record, he also eclipsed UT marks for all-purpose yards (367), consecutive 300-yard rushing games (two), career all-purpose yards (6,015) and fastest to 1,000 yards (five games/on 144 carries).

The 1998 season produced a number of touching stories, but none was more important than the tremendous bond formed between the 1997 Doak Walker Award winner Ricky Williams and the man for whom the award was named.

Walker, the Heisman Trophy winner at SMU in 1948 and a NFL Hall of Famer, had befriended Williams just prior to being paralyzed in a skiing accident (Jan. 30, 1998) at age 71 that would lead to his death. A week after Walker died (Sept. 27, 1998), Williams wore a No. 37 sticker on his helmet in his honor against Iowa State. The following week against Oklahoma, Williams, who normally wore No. 34, chose to wear 37 in Walker's honor.

"I met him and he made a big impact on my life. He was so humble. He kept fighting back through good and bad. He lived the way I want to live my life." Williams said. "When I looked down at his number before the game, I started to get real emotional. It was an extremely special day."

The game was against Oklahoma and played in Dallas' historic Cotton Bowl, known as "The House That Doak Built." Williams rushed for 139 yards and two touchdowns on 31 carries in Texas' 34-3 victory. After his first scoring run, a 20-yard dash with 4:39 left in the first quarter, Williams pointed to his heart and then to the sky in tribute to Walker. He later repeated the tribute on a 78-yard run, but unfortunately that play was called back for holding. "I wanted that one for Doak," Williams said.

Following the victory, Mack Brown and the Longhorns team presented Doak Walker's children and their families, who witnessed the game, with the game ball in an emotional dressing room ceremony and Williams honored the family with his soiled game jersey. "We dedicated this game to Doak Walker and his memory," Brown said. "It was a very emotional game. The team gave the Walker family the game ball and Ricky gave the family his jersey and apologized for it being as blood-stained and dirty as it was."

GREAT GAME

Texas 20, #7 Nebraska 16

Memorial Stadium/Tom Osborne Field
(Lincoln, Nebraska)

Texas faced a daunting task in playing their third Top 10 opponent of the season and facing Nebraska's national-leading 47-game home winning streak. However, on the back of their future Heisman Trophy winning running back, the arm of their redshirt freshman quarterback and the heels of their top defensive effort of the year, the Longhorns took a major step toward respectability in a stunning 20-16 upset of No. 7 Nebraska in Lincoln. "The key thing that we did was come in here to win the ballgame," Ricky Williams said. "We didn't come to get a moral victory or to play a good game. We came to win and we believed that we would win. That's the reason we beat them."

UT pulled a rare feat in Lincoln, jumping out to a 7-0 lead on its first possession and controlling the game with a 10-3 halftime lead. The Huskers responded by claiming a 13-10 lead in the third quarter, but the Longhorns didn't crater. On the UT's first possession of the final period and facing a third-and-10 play from its own 19-yard-line, Major Applewhite connected with little-used WR Bryan White on a 76-yard pass play. The throw set up Kris Stockton's 19-yard field goal that knotted the game at 13. Nebraska claimed a 16-13 advantage with 8:33 remaining in the game. Facing one of the nation's top defenses, Texas took over at its own 15-yard-line and White again made the big play. On third-and-21 from the UT 35-yard-line, White skirted the sidelines in catching a 37-yard pass that gave the Longhorns a first-and-10 at the Huskers 28. Williams rushed five consecutive times to move the ball to the Nebraska 2-yard-line, where on third-and-goal, Applewhite found Wane McGarity working his way back across the end zone on a 2-yard TD pass with 2:47 remaining. The play was tabbed the College Football Play of the Week.

The game served as a significant mark in Ricky Williams run for the Heisman Trophy as he rushed 37 times for 150 yards against Nebraska's vaunted "Black Shirt" defense, which entered the game ranked 17th nationally (106.5 ypg) against the run. Applewhite completed 14-of-26 passes for 269 yards and two TDs, but possibly the most surprising effort came from the Longhorns defense, which behind a 13-tackle, two-sack, five TFLs effort from LB Anthony Hicks held Nebraska to 311 yards of offense, more than 100 yards below its season average (412.5 ypg).

DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Although the Longhorns' loss to Texas Tech on Nov. 14 prevented the UT/Texas A&M rivalry from being a battle for the Big 12 South Division title, there was no lack of enthusiasm as the two teams met for the 105th time. The atmosphere at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium was electric as a record crowd of 83,687 fans were on hand, a national audience tuned in via ABC Sports and a star-studded cast lined the sidelines as Ricky Williams rushed to history and the Longhorns waged war with the No. 6 Aggies.

Leading 23-7 at one point, the Longhorns saw their rival come charging from behind to take a 24-23 lead with only 2:20 remaining in the game. Texas made one of the most dramatic drives of the season as it took over at its own 23-yard-line. The drama began as Major Applewhite converted on a 6-yard strike to TE Derek Lewis on third-and-two pass with 1:22 left in the contest. Again facing third-and-two, Applewhite moved the ball to midfield on a 4-yard pass to Bryan White with less than a minute left. Then, following a 7-yard toss to Wane McGarity, Applewhite found Kwame Cavil on a 25-yard pass which moved the ball to A&M's 19-yard-line. Williams 7-yard run set up Kris Stockton's second game-winning field goal of the season. Stockton's 24-yarder split the uprights and secured the Longhorns' 26-24 upset victory.

Williams led the way, breaking Tony Dorsett's 22-year-old NCAA rushing record in style. The senior running back, who entered the game needing just 62 yards to break Dorsett's mark of 6,082 yards, rushed for 259 yards and a touchdown on 44 carries. That effort came against an Aggies defense that was allowing just 250.8 yards of total offense (No. 2 nationally) and 104.8 rushing yards per game (No. 13 NCAA) on the year. Applewhite completed 24-of-35 passes for 232 and a score, but it was the Longhorns defense that may have saved the game. UT held the Aggies to minus-seven rushing yards on 25 attempts (the lowest output by a Longhorns opponent since SMU had minus-23 yards on 28 attempts in 1991) and held A&M to just 173 yards of offense on the day.

Needing only 11 yards to break Tony Dorsett's 22-year old NCAA rushing yardage record, Ricky Williams surpassed the mark in dramatic fashion, breaking three tackles and sprinting 60 yards for a touchdown on a run that was voted The College Football Play of The Year.

With 1:13 remaining in the first quarter, the Longhorns lined up for a first-and-10 from their own 40-yard-line. With Dorsett among a star-studded cast of sideline witnesses and a then-UT record crowd of 83,687 looking on, Williams displayed all of the traits that established him as one of the greatest players in college football history as he rushed to NCAA history.

Offensive coordinator Greg Davis signaled the play, 'L King Zin 53' and quarterback Major Applewhite made the call. Williams took the handoff on the isolation play over left guard, slipped past lunging Aggies linebacker Warrick Holdman and darted through the hole formed by left tackle Leonard Davis and left guard Roger Roesler. Following the lead block of fullback Ricky Brown, Williams charged toward the left sideline and broke through the tackle of A&M strong safety Rich Coady. "I had a smile after I broke that one tackle," Williams said. "I knew I had broken the record." The future Heisman Trophy winner then sprinted down the sideline, and at the 12-yard-line, set up the block of wide receiver Wane McGarity and overpowered cornerback Jason Webster's tackle attempt at the goal line as he plunged into the end zone.

"I was standing on the sideline saying, 'Go, go, go!'" Dorsett said. "What a way to break a record that has been standing for so many years. Before the game I thought 'Wouldn't it be great if he broke it on a long run' and he did."

After being mobbed by his teammates and receiving Dorsett's handshake, the action was halted to present Williams with the historic game ball.

"He got it the right way," head coach Mack Brown said. "That's a run that I will remember for the rest of my life."

"I've just seen something that people will be talking about for a long time," said five-time Cy Young Award winner Roger Clemens, who was on the sidelines. "What a way to end it."

Later Williams surpassed another major record as he racked up 295 all-purpose yards to break Napolean McCallum's NCAA career all-purpose yardage mark. He did that, astonishingly, without returning a kick.

Williams, who finished his career with 21 NCAA marks and 46 UT records, was honored with a video tribute and a presentation on the field following the game. "It has been a special year because of Ricky Williams," Brown said. "He's the greatest player that I have ever seen. I think he's one of the best, if not the best, college football player ever."

"I hope I'm considered one of the best," Williams said. "I'm just happy that I can make people proud, but I never thought when I was a freshman that things would turn out this way."

Ricky Williams Wins Heisman Trophy

The Heisman Room
Downtown Athletic Club (New York)

Upon his arrival at Texas, Ricky Williams said that Earl Campbell's Heisman Trophy looked lonely in a trophy case and vowed to fill the void.

Many thought the opportunity was lost after Williams felt shunned and disappointed in finishing fifth and failing to even earn a trip to New York after leading the nation in rushing and scoring as a junior. Instead a motivated Williams, who was a big fan of the college experience, stunned everyone by passing on NFL millions to return for his senior year. He followed with a dramatic and emotional record-setting season that was rewarded with the 64th Heisman Memorial Trophy.

In a storybook season that couldn't have been scripted better in Hollywood, Williams claimed the coveted trophy in a landslide victory. He captivated the country with a dramatic return to college. He honored his fallen friend Doak Walker, who was being recognized for his 50th anniversary of winning the Heisman Trophy in 1998. Williams also broke Tony Dorsett's 22-year old NCAA rushing record en route to eclipsing 21 NCAA marks as well as 46 UT standards while transforming a struggling 4-7 Longhorns team in 1997 to one of the nation's top turnaround seasons in 1998. The first player in UT history to finish among the Heisman Trophy's top five vote getters twice, Williams' route to the trophy featured the greatest percentage of votes cast (43% of 920 voters) in the prestigious award's history. He also secured the third-most points (2,355) and first-place votes (714), as well as the fourth-largest margin of victory (1,563 points) in history.

Although the ceremony appeared to be a formality, it didn't put a damper on the enthusiasm. As Williams nervously awaited the announcement in New York, his teammates' reaction was being fed from the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex team meeting room live via satellite to ESPN. When their teammate's name was called, the room erupted. Williams was quick to thank his teammates, coaches and family in his acceptance speech.

"This is a team award," Williams said. "You can't become a finalist without the effort and hard work of the whole team. The best part of this entire season is that I was a part of a Texas team that won eight games."

UT later went on to post its ninth victory of the season against No. 25 Mississippi State in the 1999 Cotton Bowl (38-11).

The remarkable success of the 1998 Texas Longhorns was marked by a burning desire of a team to erase a bad memory of the previous season by "being champions." They accomplished that with a rousing 38-11 victory against No. 25 Mississippi State in the 1999 Southwestern Bell Cotton Bowl. The much-anticipated return to Dallas by the No. 20 Longhorns marked their first New Year's Day bowl victory since the 1982 Cotton Bowl and climaxed a 9-3 season that found UT winning eight of its final nine games and rebounding from a 4-7 season in 1997. The enthusiasm surrounding the Longhorns program was evident as Texas fans helped sell out the Cotton Bowl Stadium in 48 hours after the pairings were announced.

DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

With a record crowd of 84,082 on hand at Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium and the ESPN GameDay set on location, No. 18 Texas upset No. 3 Nebraska 24-20, marking the third consecutive victory for the Longhorns against the Huskers. UT overcame a 13-3 halftime deficit to out score Nebraska 21-7 in the final 30 minutes and deliver the Huskers what would be their only loss of the season.

The game-winning play came with the Longhorns trailing 20-17 midway through the fourth quarter. Two plays after Major Applewhite connected with Ryan Nunez on a 39-yard strike, UT capped its victory-clinching drive with a 17-yard touchdown pass from Applewhite to Mike Jones with 5:51 remaining in the game. Texas' defense pressured Nebraska quarterback Eric Crouch into three consecutive incomplete passes on the final drive and the Longhorns secured their first victory over a Top Five-ranked opponent in Austin since 1990.

The Longhorns scored 14 third-quarter points in the win. Texas' first score came after the Longhorns pinned the Huskers deep in their own territory and forced a short punt. Taking over at its own 35, UT drove for a score in four plays capped by a Chris Robertson 1-yard TD plunge. Two possessions later, UT took over at its own 42-yard-line and Applewhite connected with Kwame Cavil three times in a row, including a 13-yard scoring pass to give the Longhorns their first lead (17-13) since the opening quarter.

Nebraska reclaimed the lead with just less than eight minutes remaining, which set up UT's game-winning drive.

Fresh off of its dramatic victory against No. 3 Nebraska, No. 12 Texas' battle at 4-3 Iowa State came down to the final play. As time expired, PK Kris Stockton capped a nine-play, 71-yard drive with an 18-yard field goal that allowed the Longhorns to escape with a 44-41 victory.

The win marked just the third time in school history that the Longhorns won a game on the final play. It was just the second time on UT record that a field goal as time expired secured a UT victory.

Texas, which held a 41-27 fourth quarter lead, saw Iowa State charge back to tie the game at 41 with 3:20 remaining. On the Longhorns' final possesion, Major Applewhite connected with Ryan Nunez on a 38-yard strike on the first play from scrimmage. Then, Hodges Mitchell carried the ball seven times for 33 yards to take UT to the 1-yard line and set up Stockton's game-winning kick.

With a sellout crowd of 81,692 on hand, The University of Texas honored 1998 Heisman Trophy winner Ricky Williams by retiring the jersey he made famous, No. 34, when he rushed into the NCAA record books as a senior. Williams joined 1977 Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell as the only Longhorns to have their jersey number retired.

In a pregame ceremony, Williams was joined by his mother, Sandy, and Longhorns head coach Mack Brown as UT remembered its star with a video documentary and the presentation of a commemorative framed jersey. The event was capped off by the unveiling of a banner featuring the two-time consensus first-team All-American on the Moncrief-Neuhaus Athletics Complex in the south end of the stadium.

"I want to say that it is an honor and a pleasure to be standing on this wonderful field one more time," Williams said in addressing the crowd.

The No. 13 Longhorns presented Williams with a game ball following their convincing 42-7 victory against the Oklahoma State Cowboys.

No. 12 Texas extended its regular season winning streak to six games with a 43-17 victory against No. 22 Texas A&M. Sophomore QB Chris Simms completed 18-of-24 passes for 383 yards (No. 3 on UT's all-time chart and the most by a Longhorn against the Aggies) and three touchdowns as UT finished the regular season with a 9-2 (7-1, Big 12 South) record.

Simms, who was making his second start against the Aggies and his fifth start of the season, led UT to touchdowns on each of its four possessions and completed all eight of his passes for a school-record 234 yards in the third quarter alone. The Longhorns entered that frame with a 10-7 advantage, but their 27-point outburst pushed the lead to 37-17 entering the final quarter.

True freshmen receivers B.J. Johnson and Roy Williams were Simms' favorite targets on the day. Johnson caught six passes for a UT freshman-record 187 yards and a 70-yard touchdown, while Williams had four grabs for 85 yards and a score. Williams also scored on a 20-yard reverse as the Longhorns ammassed 492 yards of offense against a tough Aggies defense.

Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego)

In what was the biggest comeback in Texas football history, the No. 9 Longhorns overcame a 19-point third-quarter deficit en route to a thrilling 47-43 victory against No. 21 Washington in the Culligan Holiday Bowl. An ESPN television audience saw the Longhorns' post their first 11-win season since 1983 and their first Top 10 national finish (No. 5) in 19 seasons.

Texas fell behind 13-0 midway through the second quarter before bouncing back to claim a 14-13 lead with 1:55 left in the half. The Longhorns, who trailed 36-17 at the 3:51 mark of the third period, rallied for scores on four (three TDs/one FG) of their final five possessions in posting a 30-7 advantage in the final quarter-and-a-half.

Senior QB Major Applewhite set UT bowl game records in completing 37-of-55 passes for 473 yards and four touchdowns. He was named the game's co-Most Outstanding Offensive Player. The Longhorns tallied a UT all-time bowl game best 592 total yards and 47 points and sophomore WR Roy Williams set a Longhorns bowl game record with 11 receptions (for 134 yards). Classmate B.J. Johnson added six catches for 157 yards and freshman LB Derrick Johnson, the game's Defensive MVP, posted nine tackles, a sack and registered a fourth-quarter interception that set up the scoring drive that put UT ahead 40-36 with six minutes left in the game.

After that score, the Huskies went 80 yards in seven plays to reclaim the lead at 43-40 on a Willie Hurst 34-yard TD run with 1:49 left in the game. However, Washington left too much time for Applewhite and the UT offense. Keyed by 25 and 32-yard receptions by Johnson, the Longhorns covered 80 yards on seven plays and ran 1:11 off the clock to secure the thrilling, come-from-behind victory.

Cole Pittman Dedication Game

DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium (Austin, Texas)

Somehow, somewhere, somebody knew. It was the most poignant of moments as No. 4 Texas played North Carolina in 2001 in a game dedicated to the memory of Longhorn player Cole Pittman, whose life had tragically been taken in a car accident the previous spring. In an emotional pre-game ceremony, Pittman's family had been honored. Much had been made of honoring Pittman's number, No. 44, so it seemed that fate took a hand as the Longhorns put their last touchdown on the board. As the team gathered for an extra point kick attempt, the Texas bench scurried furiously with another plan. As all of the players held up four fingers in tribute to No. 44, Mack Brown ordered quarterback Major Applewhite onto the field for what appeared to be a two point attempt. Instead, Applewhite, ironically a Louisiana native as Pittman was, stepped back and knelt down on one knee. Then, as emotion spread through the stadium, folks realized what was going on. Through a strange accumulation of points, which included safeties and several other quirks in scoring, the Texas total after the final touchdown stood at 44. And that is how Cole Pittman's former teammates chose to leave it, in a 44-14 victory that forever memorialized their fallen friend and teammate.

The challenge was clear — one week after losing a Top Five showdown with Oklahoma, the 2002 Texas Longhorns found themselves with the daunting task of playing a rapidly rising Kansas State team on the road. En route to an 11-2 season, the Horns rose to the occasion, snapping the Wildcats' eight-game home win streak with a 17-14 victory.

It was Texas' first victory over K-State, which finished the year ranked No. 7 nationally, in their three games in Big 12 competition. But more importantly it dramatically swung the momentum of Texas' second straight 11-win season.

Dusty Mangum's 27-yard field goal with 1:32 remaining gave Texas the final margin, but it took a blocked field goal attempt on the game's final play to secure its sixth victory of the year.

With seven seconds ticks left on the clock, overtime seemed almost inevitable as 17th-ranked Kansas State lined up for a 36-yard field goal that would tie the game. Texas, clinging to a 17-14 lead that had come from Dusty Mangum's 27-yard field goal with 1:32 left to play, had played admirably in the wake of a tough loss to Oklahoma the week before. Now, with just seconds remaining, the Wildcats' Jared Brite prepared for a field goal that would tie the 2002 meeting between the two Big 12 powers in Manhattan. As the ball was snapped, Longhorn tackle Marcus Tubbs crashed through the middle of the Wildcat defense and blocked the kick. As the ball bounced harmless a few yards down field, the Longhorns fell on it with one-second left to seal the victory.

Before the largest crowd (78,268) in Nebraska's Memorial Stadium history, Texas snapped the Cornhuskers' national leading 26-game home winning streak with a 27-24 victory in 2002. It was only the second home loss in 11 years for Nebraska. In 1998, Texas had ended the Huskers' 47-game home winning streak.

Chris Simms passed for a UT record 419 yards and Roy Williams had a school best 13 catches for 161 yards and two touchdowns. But Williams' biggest catch, a 10-yard completion with 1:34 remaining that would have given Texas a first down and allowed them to run out the clock, was nullified by an offensive pass interference call. Nebraska's DeJuan Groce returned the insuring punt 44 yards to the UT 16 and two snaps later set up the games most dramatic play. With only 10 seconds remaining, and Nebraska camped deep in Texas territory, Nathan Vasher leaped high to pick off Husker QB Jammal Lord's pass at the UT one-yard line. Vasher's interception foiled a brilliant comeback by the Cornhuskers, who had trailed, 27-17 with less than three minutes remaining.

It was a big game for fullback Ivan Williams, who had six pass receptions for 111 yards (most-ever by a UT fullback), and Cedric Benson set the tone on the ground with 86 yards on 28 carries as the Horns registered 498 yards of offense.

One more shot into the endzone, thought Nebraska coach Frank Solich, and then, kick a short field goal that would tie the game and send it into overtime. As quarterback Jammal Lord faded back to pass from the Texas 16-yard line, he saw a wide-open receiver near the goal line at the right side of the field. Texas, which had broken the Cornhuskers' 47-game home winning streak back in 1998, was trying to end a similar 26-game run in 2002. The Horns held on to a 27-24 lead as Lord threw and Longhorn corner back Nathan Vasher responded. Vasher, with a tremendous burst and soaring leap, broke in front of the receiver, and came down with the game-saving interception.

Moments before, it had appeared Texas' hopes in a nationally televised game, complete with an ESPN GameDay appearance in Austin, were fading fast. But Phillip Geiggar's great strip and recovery of a Kansas State fumble had given the 'Horns a chance.

Trailing 20-17 with 9:55 left in the fourth quarter, Texas was on its own 12 when redshirt freshman Vince Young came on the field as the Longhorn signal caller. From there, Young went to work.

In 10 plays, the highlight of which was a 52-yard pass from Young to Tony Jeffrey, Texas consumed 4:36 on the clock. Young scored what proved to be the winning touchdown on a one-yard run.

Kansas State would go on to win the Big 12 Championship and earn a BCS bid, but the moment gave Texas its first glimpse of the competitiveness and clutch play of Young.

It was a storybook ending for a game that took on all of the trappings of an Old West shootout. And in the end, the moment belonged to a guy who, as a kid, had appeared on a poster promoting the team he was about to beat. Chance Mock's roots were at Texas Tech, where his Dad was an outstanding player. But when it came time to choose a college, he picked Texas. And on a night when the two teams combined for over 1,000 yards of offense, it was his "chance" (if you'll pardon the play on words) to shine.

Texas Tech had come from two touchdowns behind to take a 40-35 lead and only 2:03 remained when Mack Brown inserted Mock, a junior who had been the 'Horns starter at the first of the season, in the game. The Longhorns had the ball at their own 14.

Mock's first pass was incomplete, but on his second try, he connected with Roy Williams for 54 yards to the Tech 32. On third down from the Tech 30, he hit a critical 10-yard pass to Tony Jeffrey, and then one for 11 yards to the Raider nine.

Only 46 seconds remained when Mock connected with B. J. Johnson for a touchdown that gave the 'Horns the lead. He then rushed for the two-point conversion that netted the final score of 43-40. Of the 86 yards to victory, Mock had either passed or run for 85 of them.

In one of their more dominant victories over a good opponent in the early part of the 21st century, Texas re-established itself as a contender for Big 12 and national honors as it crushed No. 12 ranked Nebraska, 31-7.

Quarterback Vince Young and running back Cedric Benson became the first tandem in UT history to rush for over 150 yards each and the Texas defense held Nebraska to just 175 total yards. Texas also controlled time of possession, keeping the football for over 11 minutes in both the first and fourth quarters of the game.

Benson rushed for 174 yards and three touchdowns on 28 carries, and Young added 163 yards and one TD on 14 carries.

In a battle of two of college football's winningest teams, the Longhorns' stretched their Big 12 Conference record to 5-1 over the 'Huskers.

The victory was the third in a string of six straight wins that carried Texas to a No. 5 national ranking at the end of the regular season.

Following a timeout, the Texas defense forced Arkansas QB Matt Jones from the pocket and DT Larry Dibbles punched the ball from his grasp. Safety Michael Griffin was there for the recovery to prevent Arkansas from an opportunity at a go-ahead score. The Razorbacks got one last chance, but S Phillip Geiggar intercepted the desperation heave as time expired. The Texas defense forced turnovers on all three Arkansas possessions in the final 9:58 after the Razorbacks had pulled within two.

Sixth-ranked Texas turned in the biggest comeback in Longhorn history by rallying from 28 points down to defeat No. 19 Oklahoma State, 56-35. Trailing 35-7 with 1:21 left in the first half, Texas scored 49 unanswered points. The comeback surpassed the UT record of 19 points set in a 47-43 win over Washington in the 2001 Holiday Bowl and was just three points shy of the largest in NCAA history.

QB Vince Young and TE Bo Scaife sparked the run by connecting on a five-yard TD pass with three seconds to go in the first half to cut the lead to 35-14. The Longhorns scored on their final seven drives of the game and were able to tie the score at 35 with 3:44 left in the third quarter on a 48-yard TD run by freshman RB Ramonce Taylor. UT ended up with 600 yards of total offense as RB Cedric Benson accounted for 141 rushing yards and five rushing TDs. Meanwhile, Young set UT records for consecutive completions with 12 and single-game completion percentage at 85.7 (18-of-21) en route to 278 yards passing and 401 yards of total offense.

Memorial Stadium (Lawrence, Kansas)

For the second straight week, No. 6 Texas had its back against the wall attempting to avoid a loss that would damage hopes of a BCS Bowl bid. Down to what was potentially their final play, the Longhorns faced 4th-and-18 on their own 45 with just over one minute left. QB Vince Young dropped back, surveyed the field and took off to his right. When Young calmly stepped out of bounds, 22 yards and a Jayhawk defender were behind him. Four plays later, he found WR Tony Jeffery in the left side of the end zone for a game-winning 21-yard TD with 11 seconds showing on the clock.

GREAT GAME

#6 Texas 38, #13 Michigan 37
Rose Bowl (Pasadena, California)

It was one of the great games played on one of the grandest stages in college football. Two of the game's most storied programs met for the first time as No. 6 Texas outdueled No. 13 Michigan, 38-37, for the Rose Bowl Championship.

The combination of Doak Walker Award-winning RB Cedric Benson and QB Vince Young proved to be too much for the Wolverines to contain. Texas finished with 264 yards rushing, including a UT quarterback record 192 yards from Young, who recorded four rushing TDs for the second time in the season.

Young broke a 14-14 halftime tie by hitting the right sideline for a 60-yard TD run just over two minutes into the third quarter. Michigan answered 30 seconds later with a 50-yard TD pass from QB Chad Henne to the Biletnikoff Award winner, WR Braylon Edwards, his third TD catch of the game. The Wolverines added 10 consecutive points and took a 31-21 lead into the fourth quarter.

However, the Longhorns were determined that their first appearance in the Rose Bowl would not be a loss. During a spectacular 10-yard TD run, Young appeared to have his legs wrapped by a Michigan defender in the pocket, but spun away and found the right corner of the end zone. Sandwiched between two field goals by UM's Garrett Rivas, Young added a 23-yard TD run down the left sideline with just under five minutes left. With Texas trailing, 37-35, and 2:58 showing on the clock, the stage was set for a legendary finish.

Starting at the Longhorn 34, Young rushed on five of UT's next seven plays, collecting 34 yards. Benson added three rushes, the last of which placed the ball just inside the Texas 20 with two seconds left. Following a series of timeouts, PK Dusty Mangum sent the Longhorns and their faithful into a frenzy as his 37-yard FG attempt found its way through the uprights as time expired.

The Longhorns secured their first BCS Bowl win and Rose Bowl Championship in their first appearance in either on the game's final play as PK Dusty Mangum's 37-yard FG attempt went through as time expired in No. 6 Texas' 38-37 win over No. 13 Michigan.

#2 Texas 25, #4 Ohio State 22
Saturday, September 10, 2005
Ohio Stadium (Columbus, Ohio)

In an early season match-up, the second-ranked Longhorns traveled to Columbus to face the fourth-ranked Buckeyes in a game that would shape the race for the National Championship. For the second time in three games, Texas was taking on one of the Big Ten's finest programs for the first time in school history after having defeated Michigan in the previous year's Rose Bowl.

The game turned into the classic it was expected to be and when QB Vince Young hit WR Limas Sweed for a 24-yard touchdown with just over two minutes to play, an exciting comeback win was set. The Longhorns secured a 25-22 victory, snapping Ohio State's 36-game non-conference home winning streak. It was also the highest ranked team Texas had ever beaten on the road.

Young was named the National Player of the Week for his performance after racking up 346 yards of total offense. He went 18-of-29 for 270 yards and two TDs and rushed for another 76 yards. But more importantly, Young brought Texas back from a fourth-quarter deficit for the fifth time in his career.

With the nation watching, Texas jumped out to a 10-0 lead behind a David Pino 42-yard field goal and a 10-play, 84-yard TD drive that was capped by a five-yard strike from Young to WR Billy Pittman.

The momentum swayed towards Ohio State in the second quarter. The Buckeyes started three of their four drives in Texas territory, but the stingy Longhorns defense managed to hold them to three field goals and only one TD. On the last drive of the half, Pino connected on his second field goal of the game to make the score 16-13 at halftime.

Ohio State opened the second half by forcing a turnover and got the ball at the Texas 37, but again the UT defense held and forced a field goal to make the score 19-13. The teams exchanged field goals and the score remained 22-16 throughout most of the fourth quarter.

After forcing Ohio State to miss a field goal Texas took over at their own 33 with five minutes to play. The Longhorns drove down the field to the Ohio State 24-yard line setting up Young's game-winning TD pass to Sweed.

The Longhorns defense forced a fumble and notched a safety on Ohio State's final two possessions to help secure the victory.

Ohio Stadium (Columbus, Ohio)

With just under three minutes left in a hard-fought battle between two of the countries best teams, Texas stood at the Ohio State 24-yard line, down by six points. The Longhorns had already moved the ball 43 yards on the current drive and had plenty of time to score, but QB Vince Young wanted to take the lead on the next play.

Texas lined up on the left hash mark with three wide receivers on a 2nd-and-9. Young, in the shotgun, took the snap and saw that WR Limas Sweed, who was lined up on the short side of the field, had beaten his man off the line. Young lofted a perfectly placed ball between the Ohio State cornerback and safety and into the hands of a leaping Sweed at the front corner of the end zone for the touchdown, giving Texas a lead it would not relinquish.

#2 Texas 45, Oklahoma 12
Saturday, October 8, 2005
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

The Red River Rivalry celebrated its 100th meeting, as Texas snapped a five-game losing streak to Oklahoma in a big way, 45-12. The 33-point margin of victory matched the Longhorns' largest in the series, and the 45 points are a series high for UT.

Texas mixed an explosive offense with suffocating defense, out-gaining Oklahoma in total offense, 444-171. The 171 yards was OU's lowest output in the series since 1979. The Longhorns had three scoring plays of 60 or more yards, as Vince Young completed 14-of-27 passes for 241 yards and three TDs and Jamaal Charles rushed for 116 yards and a TD. WR Billy Pittman was the recipient of two of Young's TD passes, including a 64-yarder, as he recorded 100 receiving yards for the game.

Texas wasted no time establishing itself, as Young led the Horns on a 12-play, 82-yard drive, going 5-of-5 for 60 yards, including a 15-yard TD pass to Ramonce Taylor. The Longhorns' second scoring drive was virtually the same distance, but used a little less time, as Charles spun free of several defenders on the first play and sprinted 80 yards up the middle for a 14-6 lead.

After a David Pino FG, Young and Pittman struck with just 17 seconds to go in the half. Pittman broke free down the left sideline and Young hit him in stride for a 64-yard score and a 24-6 halftime lead.

It was Young and Pittman again in the third quarter, this time on a 27-yard pass to cap a six-play, 53-yard drive. The lead pushed to 38-6 early in the fourth quarter after a five-yard TD run by Selvin Young. After a 38-yard Sooner scoring drive that was set up by two UT penalties, the final score of the game was left to the Texas defense.

After Oklahoma moved from midfield to the Texas 23-yard line, DE Brian Robison broke free and jarred the ball loose from Sooner QB Rhett Bomar. DT Rod Wright scooped the fumble and rumbled 67 yards to push the final to 45-12 and move the Longhorns to 5-0 for the first time since 2002.

#2 Texas 52, #10 Texas Tech 17
DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium (Austin)

In the national game of the week, No. 10 Texas Tech came to Austin in a battle of undefeated teams, but it was No. 2 Texas that stayed that way, 52-17.

Great Games & Moments in Texas Football History

WR Billy Pittman had a career day in receiving yards with 138, while catching both of QB Vince Young's TD passes. RB Selvin Young rushed for two scores and 77 yards in a game that featured quick strikes from the Texas offense and big plays from the defense that held the nation's top-ranked offense to 17 points.

PK David Pino put Texas on the board first with a 40-yard field goal, but it was the Red Raiders who would grab early momentum when a Vince Young interception was returned to the UT 21-yard line. Four plays later, Tech scored on a pass, and Texas trailed for just the second time that season, 7-3. Later in the first quarter, a Quan Cosby punt return placed the Longhorns at the Red Raider eight, and from there, freshman Henry Melton eventually scored on a one-yard run.

Texas Tech answered with a FG, but that would be its last score before a 28-0 Texas run. Selvin Young and Pittman took turns scoring with a 10-yard TD run by Young, a 15-yard TD reception by Pittman that followed a blocked punt by Michael Griffin and a seven-yard TD run by Young that followed a Tim Crowder interception. When it was Pittman's turn again, it was Vince Young that found him over the middle on a crossing route on the third play of the second half, and Pittman headed to the end zone for a 75-yard score, effectively putting the game out of reach and giving the Longhorns a 7-0 record for the first time since 1983.

#2 Texas 47, Oklahoma State 28
Boone-Pickens Stadium (Stillwater, Okla.)

Texas headed to Stillwater to face what appeared to be a struggling Oklahoma State team that was 0-4 in conference play, but instead ended up facing a 19-point first-half deficit. QB Vince Young turned in one of the best single-game performances in NCAA history, and, for the second straight year against the Cowboys, the Longhorns rebounded in incredible fashion. Trailing 28-9 with just over five minutes left in the first half, Texas scored 38 unanswered points to win, 47-28, tying the second-largest deficit overcome in school history.

It was just a year earlier against OSU that the Longhorns found themselves down, 35-7, before rallying for the largest comeback on UT record with 49 unanswered points for a 56-35 win. Even more, in the 2003 game, Texas had trailed, 16-7, and posted 48 unanswered points. Over the three-year span, the Longhorns outscored the Cowboys in the second half, 118-0.

Young rushed for a career-high 267 yards and two TDs, while passing for 239 yards and two more scores en route to a UT-record 506 yards of total offense. He became the first player in NCAA history to rush for over 250 yards and pass for over 230 in the same game. Tight end David Thomas also put together one of the better games at his position in UT history with 104 yards and a TD on six receptions.

A bizarre first half featured everything for the Cowboys from a quick-snap 49-yard TD pass on 4th-and-1 to a 17-yard QB draw TD following an interception to a 29-yard TD pass that was snatched from the air off a ricochet from the UT defense. That play itself followed a Texas fumble, which had followed a blocked field goal (one of four blocked kicks for UT), and gave Oklahoma State its 28-9 lead.

A field goal by PK David Pino just before the half cut the lead before Young opened the second half with one of the most memorable highlights of the season. On 3rd-and-10 at the Texas 20, Young rolled right, pump-faked a defender off of his feet and hit the sideline for an 80-yard TD run.

Just like that, Texas was within single digits at 28-19 and would even regain the lead before the end of the third quarter. Two TDs on an eight-yard run by Young, and a 21-yard TD pass to TE Neale Tweedie, plus a two-point conversion, put the Horns ahead, 34-28. RB/WR Ramonce Taylor added the final two scores with TD runs of 57 and 12 yards for the 47-28 final.

Big 12 Championship

As Texas arrived at the Big 12 Championship in Houston to face Colorado for the second time in the 2005 season, no one could have predicted the dominating performance that took place in a 70-3 win.

Seeking the first 12-win season in school history, the Longhorns hit 70 points with 7:36 remaining in the third quarter and the defense was just as strong in holding the CU offense to three points. When the clock hit zero, Mack Brown had the first conference championship of his career and roses were abound as Texas had punched its ticket to the 2006 Rose Bowl and BCS National Championship game.

National Championship

Texas entered their second consecutive Rose Bowl riding a 19-game winning streak and set to play for its first National Championship since 1970. Despite coming into the game as an underdog to the defending National Champion USC Trojans, who were on a 34-game winning streak, Texas won its fourth National Title with a thrilling come-from-behind 41-38 victory in what many people have called the greatest college football game of all time.

Vince Young was named the Offensive MVP for the second consecutive year, becoming only the fourth player in Rose Bowl history to do so, after posting a Rose Bowl record 467 total yards, scoring three TDs and recording the sixth fourth-quarter comeback victory of his career.

After a back-and-forth affair that saw Texas lead by as many as nine and trail by 12 with just under seven minutes left, the game came down to 4th-and-5 at the Texas eight-yard line with UT trailing 38-33. Texas QB Vince Young dropped back, went through his progressions, saw an opening on the right side and took off. With the help of a crushing block by right tackle Justin Blalock, he raced passed the USC defense and scampered into the right corner of the end zone to give Texas a 39-38 lead with only 19 seconds remaining. Young capped the scoring with a two-point conversion to produce the final margin of 41-38.

With 6:42 left in the game, the Horns title hopes were in jeopardy after USC's Matt Leinart hit Dwayne Jarrett to give the Trojans a 38-26 lead. But, on the very next possession, Young drove the Longhorns 69 yards in 2:39, completing 5-of-6 passes and rushing twice for 25 yards, to cut the lead to five.

On its ensuing possession, USC moved the ball to the Texas 45 and found itself facing 4th-and-2 with the game hanging in the balance. The Trojans decided to go for it, but the Texas defense, which had already forced a turnover on downs earlier in the game, came up with a huge stop, giving Texas the ball back with 2:09 and setting up the winning drive.

Overall, Texas' defense held USC 12 points below its season average, made two fourth-down stops and picked off a pass in the end zone. Defensive MVP Michael Huff led the Longhorns in tackles with 12, including a TFL, and recovered a fumble. On offense, Young had 200 yards rushing and 267 yards passing, while TE David Thomas finished his UT career with 10 catches for 88 yards.

National Championship

After helping to bring Texas to within one score and thanks to the defense being able to get the ball back with just over two minutes left in the game, Vince Young was set up to pull out another victory for the Longhorns, but this time it was for the National Championship.

With UT down five and facing a 4th-and-5 from the eight-yard line, Young checked with his three receivers in the pattern, but everyone was covered. He saw an opening on the right side. It was just enough room for him to scamper eight yards for the game-winning TD and bring Texas' fourth National Championship back to Austin.

Saturday, October 7, 2006
Cotton Bowl (Dallas)

Texas registered 131 yards on 14 plays and scored TDs on its first two possessions of the second half to rally from a 10-7 halftime deficit and post a 28-10 victory. It was the second straight victory for the Horns in the Red River Rivalry.

UT forced turnovers on all four (two fumbles/two interceptions) of OU's fourth-quarter possessions to prevent any hope of a comeback.

Offensively, UT set the tone on the first two drives of the third quarter. Colt McCoy (11-of-18/108 yards/2 TDs/0 INTs), completed all five of his third-quarter passes, including a 33-yard score to Limas Sweed and a seven-yard TD toss to Jordan Shipley. On the ground, Selvin Young (11-60-1 TD) and Jamaal Charles (12-65) combined to pound out 125 yards on 23 carries.

UT held an OU offense that was averaging 416.5 yards and 38.3 points per game to 333 yards and 10 points. In addition to his eight tackles, Aaron Ross made three of the four fourth-quarter game-sealing plays. He started by returning a fumble for a score then he intercepted passes on the Sooners final two drives to help seal the victory.

The Longhorn secondary limited OU's leading receiver, Malcolm Kelly (94.8 receiving yards per game/10th NCAA), to just 31 yards on two catches. S Michael Griffin led the way with 11 tackles and forced and recovered a fumble. CB Tarell Brown added nine stops, a pass breakup and a forced fumble.

After allowing Heisman Trophy candidate Adrian Peterson to rush for 71 yards and a TD on 12 carries as OU took a 10-7 halftime lead, UT's vaunted ground defense came back to hold the nation's third-leading rusher to just 38 yards on 13 carries during the second half.

#5 Texas 22, #17 Nebraska 20
Memorial Stadium (Lincoln, Nebraska)

On his first-ever college attempt, walk-on sophomore PK Ryan Bailey stepped in for injured P/PK Greg Johnson and hit a 22-yard field goal with 23 seconds remaining to lift No. 5 Texas to a 22-20 win at No. 17 Nebraska. It was the Horns' third straight win at Nebraska, 19th straight conference victory and 16th consecutive road win.

The field goal drive was set up by a spectacular defensive play. With the Huskers clinging to a 20-19 lead and facing a third-down and three, Nebraska completed a pass in the flat but Aaron Ross' hit knocked the ball loose. Marcus Griffin recovered the fumble and UT took over at the NU 45-yard line.

Fueled by a Quan Cosby 14-yard catch and a Selvin Young 12-yard run, the Horns drove 39 yards in eight plays to set up the winning field goal.

The game-saving forced fumble topped off another terrific outing by the UT defense, holding a Husker Big 12-leading ground game that was averaging 207.7 yards per game (11th NCAA) to just 38 yards on 24 carries and forcing three turnovers. UT also held Nebraska to 340 yards, which was more than 100 yards below their average of 448.3, and 17 points below their scoring average (37 ppg/9th NCAA).

Scott Derry led the defense with nine tackles and Michael and Marcus Griffin each chipped in eight stops.

Offensively, Texas' balanced attack threw for 220 yards and rushed for 128. Colt McCoy completed 25-of-39 passes for 220 yards and two TDs (no INTs). He increased his season TD passes total to 20, breaking the UT freshman season record.

Limas Sweed caught a career-high eight passes for 119 yards, including a 55-yard TD grab. Young (14-50) and Jamaal Charles (9-63) paced the running game, combining for 113 yards on 23 carries.

With regular place-kicker Greg Johnson hampered by injuries and the Horns down by one point with 23 seconds remaining, sophomore walk-on Ryan Bailey was called upon to kick the game-winning field goal at Nebraska. It would be the first field goal he ever attempted in a Texas uniform. With the wind and snow swirling around Memorial Stadium, Bailey prepared for the 22-yard attempt. As the snap was about to come, Nebraska decided to challenge the previous play, in effect, icing the kicker. But, it didn't work. After the review, Bailey lined up and calmly drilled the game-winner, giving Texas a 22-20 victory.

#18 Texas 26, Iowa 24
Alamo Bowl (San Antonio, Texas)

The Texas Longhorns rallied for a 26-24 victory over Iowa in the Alamo Bowl in front of a bowl-record crowd of 65,875. The game ended up being the most watched bowl game in ESPN history. The victory marked Texas' fifth bowl win in the last six years and the Longhorns won a bowl game in three consecutive seasons for the first time in school history.

Colt McCoy finished 26-of-40 for 308 yards and two TDs. The two TD passes gave him 29 on the season, which tied the NCAA freshman record set by Nevada's David Neill in 1998. Jermichael Finley led Texas with a career-high eight receptions for 46 yards. Quan Cosby added seven catches, while Limas Sweed posted three receptions for a team-high 70 yards.

Iowa jumped out to an early 14-0 lead in the first quarter, before Texas scored the next 20. Ryan Bailey kicked two field goals (27, 43), while McCoy hit Sweed for a 20-yard score and Jamaal Charles for a 72-yard TD.

But, Iowa struck back with a TD late in the third quarter. Texas answered on its next drive, but failed on a two-point conversion attempt to make the score 26-21. Iowa kicked a field goal to make the score 26-24, but some timely defense kept the Hawkeyes from threatening the rest of the game.

After giving up TDs on the first two drives, the Texas defense settled down and held Iowa to five plays or less on nine of their last 11 drives. The Longhorns finished the game with three sacks and nine TFL.

Michael Griffin and Roy Miller led the team in tackles with 10, while Scott Derry added seven tackles, including three TFL. Aaron Ross finished with three tackles, an INT and a PBU.

#17 Texas 28, Nebraska 25
DKR-Texas Memorial Stadium (Austin)

After trailing Nebraska, 17-3, in the third quarter, Texas scored 25 straight points to claim a 28-17 lead with 3:34 left in the game and would eventually defeat the Cornhuskers, 28-25. The victory was Mack Brown's 100th at Texas, adding him to a Longhorn list that includes only Darrell Royal.

Jamaal Charles rushed for 216 yards and three TDs in the fourth quarter alone to lead Texas to the come-from-behind victory. The 216 yards in a quarter were a UT record and just six yards shy of the NCAA mark for rushing yards in a quarter (222, Corey Dillon, Washington vs. San Jose State, 1996).

With Texas trailing 17-9 with 13:13 left in the game, Charles ignited the Horns' final surge by capping a four-play, 74-yard drive with a 25-yard TD run that brought the score to 17-15. He followed up that effort with a spectacular, career-long 86-yard TD run two possessions later to give the Horns their first lead since early in the second quarter. Charles completed his scoring onslaught with a 40-yard TD run that put UT up 28-17.

Behind Charles' career-high 290-yard rushing day, the Horns rushed for a season-high 364 yards and recorded 545 total yards. The 290 rushing yards were the most by any player ever against the Huskers. Charles rushed for 237 second-half yards, just four yards less than Hodges Mitchell's UT record of 241 yards in a half versus Kansas in 2000.

The Horns' defense forced five punts and recovered a fumble on the six possessions during the comeback. The defensive play of the game came with UT clinging to a 21-17 lead and Nebraska at the Longhorn 29-yard line. Frank Okam charged through the line, sacked Nebraska QB Sam Keller and forced and recovered a fumble. He returned the fumble to the UT 43-yard line, setting up the TD drive that put Texas up 28-17.

With the victory against Nebraska, head coach Mack Brown joined Darrell Royal as just the second coach in UT history to reach the 100-victory plateau. At the time, he became one of only nine active coaches at NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) schools to win 100 games at their current school. Of the 79 coaches that have ever won 100 games at a FBS school, Brown is the 13th fastest to reach the century mark (124 games) and the second-fastest among active coaches.

#14 Texas 38, Oklahoma State 35
Boone Pickens Stadium (Stillwater, Okla.)

Texas rallied from 21 points down to post its biggest fourth-quarter comeback in school history (second-largest second-half comeback ever) to defeat Oklahoma State, 38-35, in Stillwater. Ryan Bailey hit a 40-yard field goal as time expired to secure the win.

After OSU jumped out to a 21-0 lead just over a quarter into the game, Texas outscored the Cowboys 38-14 over the final 44:36 of the game. Texas also trailed by 21, 35-14, with 8:40 left in the third quarter. It marked just the fourth time in UT history that Texas posted a victory on the games' final play. The Horns recorded 311 yards en route to outscoring OSU, 24-0, in the final period.

The rally didn't come easy as the Horns were pinned inside the 10-yard line twice and scored on fourth-quarter drives of 59, 99, 91 and 57 yards.

Jamaal Charles sparked the surge, rushing for 125 yards and two TDs on seven carries (17.9 ypc) in the fourth quarter. With Texas trailing 35-14 entering the last quarter, Charles scored on TD runs of 18 and 75 yards to pull the Horns within a touchdown at 35-28 with 7:30 left. Colt McCoy, who completed 8-of-9 fourth quarter passes (including eight straight at one point) for 145 yards and a TD, completed a 60-yard strike to Jordan Shipley to set up Vondrell McGee's one-yard TD run that tied the game at 35-all with 3:22 left. After OSU missed a 32-yard field goal with 1:13 remaining, McCoy's 30-yard completion to Jermichael Finley and his 14-yard run were the key plays on an eight-play, 57-yard drive that set up Bailey's game winning field goal.

Led by an offense that featured a pair of 100-yard rushers, Texas recorded 589 yards (307 rushing/282 passing). Charles led the way, rushing for 180 yards and three TDs on 16 rushes (11.2 ypc). McCoy completed 20-of-27 passes for 282 yards and a TD. He also ran for career-high 106 yards on 16 rushes to tally 388 yards of total offense.

Defensively, the Horns stood tall down the stretch as well. After allowing TD drives on four of the first seven drives of the game, UT held the Cowboys scoreless over the final 21:20 of the game (five drives). Marcus Griffin (12 tackles) led a group of four Longhorns that recorded double-digit tackles. Roddrick Muckelroy posted 11 tackles, while Rashad Bobino and Ishie Oduegwu each notched 10 stops.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas, Texas)

No. 5 Texas trailed by as many as 11 points twice before putting on a 25-7 second-half surge in knocking off No. 1 Oklahoma, 45-35, at Dallas' Cotton Bowl. It was UT's first regular season victory over a No. 1 team since a 28-7 win over Oklahoma on Oct. 12, 1963.

After pulling within 21-20 at halftime, Oklahoma pushed its lead back to eight to open the second half, but the Longhorns responded with its 25-7 run. The Horns' 45 points matched a series high. Offensively, Texas registered 438 total yards against an Oklahoma defense that was allowing just 256 total yards per game.

Great Games & Moments in Texas Football History

WR Jordan Shipley had a career day, setting highs in receptions (11) and all-purpose yards (225), including 112 receiving yards, one TD reception and a Red River Rivalry record 96-yard kickoff return TD that cut Oklahoma's lead to 14-10. He also had a 37-yard, fourth-quarter reception that positioned UT at the one-yard line for a TD to take the lead for good, 38-35. WR Quan Cosby had 122 receiving yards and QB Colt McCoy finished the game 28-of-35 for 277 yards and one TD and rushed for 31 more yards. RB Chris Ogbonnaya tallied 15 carries for 127 yards, including a career-long 62-yarder that set up the final of three Cody Johnson rushing TDs to give the Horns a 10-point advantage with 4:02 to play.

Defensively, Texas held Oklahoma to just one TD in the final 26:15 and limited it to more than 100 yards below its season average and 14 points under its scoring average. UT held the Sooners to only 48 rushing yards on 26 attempts and starting tailback DeMarco Murray was held to six yards on seven carries. In all, the Longhorns recorded three sacks, two INTs and three forced fumbles. DE Brian Orakpo recorded two sacks and added two more TFL, while LB Roddrick Muckelroy led the team in tackles with 16. Freshman safety Earl Thomas posted two INTs.

With a victory against Texas A&M, Mack Brown became the first head coach in UT history to reach the 200-victory plateau during a career. Brown became just the 19th coach, who has spent at least 10 years at a NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) school, to win 200 games and the seventh-youngest coach to do so. Of the 80 coaches who have won 100 games at a FBS school, Brown was the 14th fastest to reach the century mark (124 games).

Tostitos Fiesta Bowl

Texas played in its third BCS bowl in five years in the 2009 Fiesta Bowl, and kept its record perfect in those games, along with winning a UT record fifth-straight bowl overall, with a thrilling 24-21 win over No. 10 Ohio State. The win resulted in the Longhorns finishing the season 12-1, the second 12-win season in school history,

The Longhorns amassed 486 total yards, including 414 passing yards, against the Buckeyes, who entered the game ranked in the Top 10 nationally in scoring defense, total defense and passing defense. After moving the ball, but struggling to score in the first half, Texas entered the third quarter trailing, 6-3. In that frame, the Longhorns scored 14 unanswered points and outgained their total yardage from the first half, while the defense held the Buckeyes to a total of two yards. Texas also held an 11:09-3:51 advantage in time of possession. The Longhorns took the opening kickoff of the half and moved 80 yards on 15 plays, capped by a 14-yard TD run by QB Colt McCoy.

McCoy earned Offensive MVP honors for the third time in three bowl wins as a starting quarterback, setting UT and BCS records with 41 completions on 58 attempts for the 414 yards, which ranked second in BCS history and third in UT history. Both of his passing TDs were to WR Quan Cosby with the first coming on a seven-yard reception with 1:04 left in the third quarter. For the game, Cosby set a career high and a UT bowl record with 14 receptions for a career-high 171 yards, the second-highest total in UT bowl history. WR Jordan Shipley also reached double-figure receptions with 10 for 78 yards.

Following Texas' run, Ohio State returned the favor with a 15-0 run to open the fourth quarter. Buckeyes RB Dan Herron finished a drive with a 15-yard TD run and the two-point attempt again failed for a 21-17 Ohio State lead with just 2:05 remaining. That would be all the time McCoy would need to lead Texas 78 yards on 11 plays in just 1:42, including the conversion of a fourth-and-three where McCoy found WR James Kirkendoll, who fought off a Buckeye defender and stretched for the first down.

Following a 14-yard completion to WR Brandon Collins, the Longhorns had the ball at the OSU 26-yard line. McCoy found Cosby on a slant to the middle of the field where he broke away from a defender and streaked 20 yards to the end zone with 16 seconds left. With the ensuing kickoff returned to the OSU 45-yard line, the Buckeyes had 11 seconds left, but DE Brian Orakpo sacked Todd Boeckman for a 10-yard loss. Orakpo finished the game with two tackles, one sack and three pressures, while DT Roy Miller earned Defensive MVP honors, holding the middle of the line, while recording three tackles, one sack and two pressures.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas, Texas)

Texas rode a strong defense to a 16-13 win over Oklahoma, giving the Longhorns their fourth win in five Red River Rivalry games.

The Sooners entered the contest averaging 35.0 points, 187.8 rushing yards and 457.0 total yards per game, but were only able to manage 13 points, minus-16 rushing yards and 311 total yards against Texas' stifling defense. The minus-16 rushing yards was the lowest amount any team had ever allowed in the Red River Rivalry and the ninth-lowest total ever given up by a UT defense.

The Horns caused five turnovers in the game. Texas held Oklahoma to 3-of-15 on third-down conversions, including 0-of-5 in the second half and 1-of-9 after the opening quarter. Sergio Kindle led Texas' defense, logging three TFL and two pressures to go with his six tackles. Earl Thomas grabbed the game-sealing INT with 3:31 remaining in the game. He also had seven tackles, two TFL and a forced fumble. Aaron Williams grabbed an INT and added three tackles and one sack.

Trailing at halftime, the Horns were able to wrestle the lead from the Sooners with some timely offense. After converting just 1-of-9 third down attempts and rushing for 40 yards on 16 carries in the first half, Texas converted 4-of-10 third downs in the second half (including 3-of-5 in the third quarter) and rushed for 102 yards on 24 carries after the intermission.

For the game, Texas rushed for 142 yards against an Oklahoma unit that entered the contest ranked third in the nation in rushing defense (53.6 ypg). Fozzy Whittaker and Cody Johnson led the ground assault. Whittaker gained 52 of his 71 yards in the second half and Johnson rushed five times for 31 yards (6.2 ypc), all in the second half.

Colt McCoy joined Peter Gardere and Bobby Layne as the only QBs in school history to post at least three wins against Oklahoma. Playing with an injured finger on his throwing hand for much of the game, McCoy completed 21-of-39 passes for 127 yards and a TD and gained 33 yards on the ground.

Marquise Goodwin caught his first career TD pass, a 14-yarder from McCoy in the third quarter. He also had a key 17-yard reception in the fourth quarter to set up UT's game-winning field goal.

McCoy completed 32-of-41 (78.0%) passes for 396 yards and four TDs. In the first half alone, McCoy completed 18-of-22 (81.8%) for 238 yards and two TDs as UT built a 27-6 lead.

Big 12 Championship

Hunter Lawrence nailed a 46-yard field goal as time expired giving Texas a 13-12 win over Nebraska and its third Big 12 Conference title. It also marked the Longhorns' 28th conference championship overall. The victory gave Texas 13 wins for the second time in school history, with the other coming in 2005.

The Longhorns defense was dominant, holding Nebraska to just five first downs and 106 yards of total offense for the game. The 106 yards of total offense for Nebraska was their lowest output since at least 1984 and the 13th-lowest total given up by Texas since 1944.

UT held Nebraska to 2-of-16 on third-down conversions for the game and limited the Cornhuskers to 26 yards on 27 plays during their nine drives in the second and third quarters. The Longhorns built a 7-6 lead at the half by holding Nebraska to just two first downs and 32 yards of total offense on 28 plays (1.1 ypp).

Texas' pass defense intercepted three passes and held NU to just six completions and 39 passing yards, the lowest totals in Big 12 Championship history.

Colt McCoy rushed for the game's only TD in the second quarter. He completed 20 passes for 184 yards and went 8-of-10 for 84 yards on the Horns' final two drives, one of which was the game-winning FG drive.

Jordan Shipley caught seven passes for 71 yards, including a 19-yarder on the game's final drive to set up the game-winning field goal. In the game, Shipley set the UT single-season receptions record, finishg the contest with 106 for the year.

Memorial Stadium (Lincoln, Neb.)

In the two teams' last meeting as members of the Big 12 Conference, Texas held No. 5/4 Nebraska's offense to 292 yards below its season average to upset the Cornhuskers 20-13.

Nebraska entered the game as the nation's only team that hadn't trailed through the season's first five games, but the Longhorns changed that, leading from start to finish in front of a sellout crowd of 85,648 at Memorial Stadium.

The Longhorns improved to 8-1 against Nebraska under Mack Brown. It marked the third time in the series that an unranked Texas squad beat a Cornhuskers' team ranked in the Top 10, including twice under Coach Brown.

The Texas' defense dominated throughout the game, holding the Cornhuskers offense, which entered the game averaging 494.4 yards per game, to 202 yards. Nebraska boasted the second-best rushing offense in the nation with 337.8 yards per game, including 7.7 yards per carry, but was limited to 125 yards on 44 carries (2.8 ypc).

After trailing 17-3 at halftime, Nebraska cut the lead to 20-13 with 3:02 remaining in the fourth quarter after a 95-yard punt return by Eric Hagg. However, Texas recovered the ensuing onside kick and running back Cody Johnson converted a 24-yard run on second down to seal the Texas' victory.

Texas' quarterback Garrett Gilbert led the Longhorns' offense, rushing 11 times for 71 yards and two TDs, all career-highs, while passing for 63 yards on four completions. It was the Longhorns' fewest passing yards in a win since Nov. 12, 1983 (53 yards in a 20-14 win over TCU). Texas rushed for 209 yards on 46 carries, led by Gilbert, Johnson (11 carries for 73 yards) and running back Tre' Newton (10 rushes for 41 yards).

Texas' kicker Justin Tucker connected on 2-of-2 field goals, making attempts from 27 and 28 yards.

Kyle Field (College Station, Texas)

In the two teams' last meeting as members of the Big 12 Conference, Texas held A&M to nearly 200 total yards under their season average of 512.4 total yards per game as the Longhorns pulled off a dramatic 27-25 victory over the Aggies in College Station. The win gave Texas a 5-1 lead in the annual State Farm Lone Star Showdown, a 10-4 lead over the Aggies during the Mack Brown era, and an overall record of 76-37-5 in the third-most played rivalry in the NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision.

The Texas defense proved stellar, forcing a then season-high four turnovers (three interceptions and one fumble) and holding A&M to over 100 yards below its season rushing average of 218.6 yards per game. Texas A&M took a 25-24 lead inside the game's final two minutes behind a 16-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to A&M wide receiver Jeff Fuller. A failed two-point conversion meant Texas could win the game with a field goal.

The Longhorns, behind sophomore quarterback Case McCoy, needed to drive 71 yards with 1:48 left in the game to position themselves for the win. On third-and-one from the UT 48-yard-line, McCoy found freshman wide receiver Miles Onyegbule for four yards and a first down to the A&M 48. On the very next play, with only 44 seconds remaining, McCoy tucked the ball and ran for 25 yards to the Aggies' 23-yard line. Junior wide receiver Marquise Goodwin and Johnson each ran for no gain on successive plays, and Texas called for time with three seconds left in the game. Texas A&M burned its final timeout just prior to the field-goal attempt, but senior Justin Tucker booted a 40-yard field goal as time expired to give Texas the victory as the jubilant Longhorns spilled onto Kyle Field in celebration.

Kyle Field (College Station, Texas)

In the two teams' last meeting as members of the Big 12 Conference, Texas senior Justin Tucker booted a 40-yard field goal as time expired to give Texas a 27-25 victory over Texas A&M Thanksgiving Night in the State Farm Lone Star Showdown at Kyle Field.

The Texas offense fought back from a 13-0 deficit in the second quarter with a 41-yard touchdown pass from true-freshman wide receiver Jaxon Shipley to senior tight end Blaine Irby, his third straight game with a touchdown reception, cutting the A&M lead to 13-7. In the third quarter, after an A&M field goal which put the Aggies up 16-7, UT sophomore cornerback Carrington Byndom picked off A&M quarterback Ryan Tannehill and returned the ball 58 yards into the endzone, cutting the A&M lead to 16-14.

The Longhorns earned their first lead of the night later after an 81-yard punt return by freshman cornerback Quandre Diggs and a subsequent 23-yard field goal from Tucker. With 7:44 left in the third quarter and Texas holding a slim 17-16 lead, the Texas defense forced another turnover on the Aggies' next series, as junior safety Kenny Vaccaro picked off Tannehill at the A&M 24-yard line. A few plays later senior running back Cody Johnson plunged into the end zone from a yard out, and Texas took a 24-16 lead with 4:04 remaining in the third quarter.

Texas kept Texas A&M off of the scoreboard until 5:56 remained in the fourth quarter, when A&M's Randy Bullock knocked in a 32-yard field goal to cut the Horns' lead to 24-19. Texas A&M took a 25-24 lead inside the game's final two minutes behind a 16-yard touchdown pass from Tannehill to A&M wide receiver Jeff Fuller.

The Longhorns, behind sophomore quarterback Case McCoy, needed to drive 71 yards with 1:48 left in the game to position themselves for the win. On third-and-one from the UT 48-yard-line, McCoy found freshman wide receiver Miles Onyegbule for four yards and a first down to the A&M 48. On the very next play, with only 44 seconds remaining, McCoy tucked the ball and ran for 25 yards to the Aggies' 23-yard line. Junior wide receiver Marquise Goodwin and Johnson each ran for no gain on successive plays, and Texas called for time with three seconds left in the game. Texas A&M burned its final timeout just prior to the field-goal attempt, but Tucker converted moments later to give Texas the victory as the jubilant Longhorns spilled onto Kyle Field in celebration.

The Texas defense was stellar, forcing a then season-high four turnovers and holding A&M to over 100 yards below its season rushing average of 218.6 yards per game, and nearly 200 total yards under their season average of 512.4 total yards per game.

The dramatic win by Texas was witnessed by 88,645 spectators - the second largest crowd in Kyle Field history - on a crisp Thanksgiving night in what was a thrilling end to possibly the last meeting of the two teams in the 118 year-old rivalry.

Former Longhorns Head Coaches

A special thanks to Lou Maysel, author of "Here Comes the Texas Longhorns," Vols. I & II, for background on several former Longhorns coaches

R. D. WENTWORTH, 1894

An 1891 graduate of Williams College (Williamstown, Mass.) where he was the team captain in his final season, Reginald DeMerritt Wentworth became the first coach in Texas history when he accepted an offer of $325 as salary and expenses in 1894.

The drive to hire a coach, or "trainer" as he was called then, came after a successful inaugural Longhorns football season when the first-ever UT team went 4-0. That team was formed by students and was managed by Albert Lefevre, who was secretary-treasurer of The University of Texas Athletic Association.

The 1894 hiring of Wentworth was spearheaded by two early law graduates, A.S. Walker and Thomas W. Gregory, who also saw to it that $100 was appropriated to purchase orange and white jackets, moleskin pants, striped stockings and several rubber noseguards.

Wentworth's team shut out its first six opponents, outscoring them 191-0, but fortunes turned suddenly in the final game of the year when Missouri, playing a different style than the Texans were accustomed to, shut out Texas, 28-0.

Wentworth's judgment in the final game was questioned by Texas fans, which prompted historian Lou Maysel to write, "The critical and suspicious nature of fans manifested itself early in the school's football history." The tenure of UT's first football coach ended with that season. Wentworth returned to the East Coast and subsequently went into marine insurance in New York City.

FRANK "LITTLE" CRAWFORD, 1895

Following the stinging loss to Missouri in 1894 and R.D. Wentworth's departure, Texas had a difficult time hiring a coach. After a lengthy search, UT finally settled in mid-October of 1895 on Frank Crawford. A native of Colebrook, N.H., Crawford had coached Nebraska to a 5-4-2 record the previous two seasons.

Crawford's only known collegiate work was at Nebraska. Although Crawford reported that he attended Michigan State for two years, records never substantiated that claim.

"Little" Crawford taught the Yale system of play and stressed physical conditioning. He employed a daily routine that required the players to jog the mile or so from the campus to the Hyde Park practice field and then back after practice.

Because of his late arrival, the Texas season was delayed. The late beginning didn't prevent the team from experiencing tremendous success on the field. Texas rolled past its first four opponents by a combined score of 88-0. UT's original season finale was a 38-0 crushing of San Antonio on Thanksgiving Day. Following the game in the Alamo City, Crawford left immediately to visit Mexico and watch some bullfights, then returned home to Nebraska. At the time, coaches were hired just for the fall season.

The Texas team went on to accept a postseason challenge from a Galveston team. Despite playing without its head coach, UT added a fifth victory with an 8-0 win.

HARRY ORMAN "JAKE" ROBINSON, 1896

Harry Orman "Jake" Robinson had been the only coach to defeat Texas in its first three years of competition when his Missouri team defeated the varsity, 28-0, in 1894, so it created a lot of excitement when he was hired to take over the team for the 1896 season.

Robinson, a native of Bangor, Maine, played lineman at Tufts (Medford, Mass.) in 1891-92, had a degree in electrical engineering and was an accomplished string musician. In football, he brought to Texas the Princeton style of play and benefited from the move of the UT practice area from Hyde Park to just east of the campus.

An upgraded schedule found the Longhorns finishing with a 4-2-1 record, winding up the season with a 10-0 loss to Missouri in early December.

After that game, 18 of the Missouri players were convinced to join the Texas team on an exhibition tour of Mexico, where Robinson and Missouri coach Frank Patterson actually played in one of the contests before returning to the sidelines.

Neither school counts the exhibition games in their records, but the trip was notable because the Missouri players had left school in late November. With permission for a one-week tour, the team's month-long absence brought the wrath of their parents as well as the school. Robinson remained with the Texas team through the trip before ending his one-season stint in Austin.

WALTER F. "MIKE" KELLY, 1897

For the first several years, coaches at Texas were under the control of The University of Texas Athletic Association, a group affiliated with but not controlled by The University of Texas itself. In 1895, an Athletic Council, which served as a faculty committee to supervise athletics, was formed. It included many of the same members as the Association, but its creation helped bring football under the control of The University.

In 1897, in a significant change from the policy of hiring a coach only for the fall semester, Walter F. "Mike" Kelly was hired as the full-time "Physical Director for Men" and was handed the football coaching duties as part of his responsibilities.

Kelly, who had played end on the Dartmouth College team only a year before, led the team to a 6-2 record, with most of the wins coming over town teams from San Antonio, Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas. A notable exception was an 18-10 victory over a Waco school known as Add-Ran College, which later moved to Fort Worth and changed its name to Texas Christian University.

Kelly's tenure as coach lasted only one year, however. Although he did not remain as head coach, Kelly returned in 1898 as director of the newly completed gym in the east wing of the Main Building and accepted a position as an assistant coach — the first true aide for a UT football coach.

DAVID FARRAGUT EDWARDS, 1898

The plans for a retention schedule of Longhorns head coaches changed quickly in 1898, only a year after the Athletic Council had hired Mike Kelly for a full year with the idea of keeping him more than just one season. Kelly returned, but his duties as "physical director" called for him to maintain the directorship of a newly completed school gymnasium. So he took the job of the first-ever assistant coach and David Farragut Edwards, who was hired only for the season, took the job as the fifth head coach in as many years at Texas.

Edwards, an 1896 graduate of Princeton who had played as a second-team lineman as a senior and served as assistant coach at Ohio State in 1897, took over the UT program in 1898.

Edwards led the young Texas team into a schedule that featured a swing toward collegiate competition, rather than the predominance of "town teams" that had filled the schedule since the beginning of the school's participation in football.

Along with a more challenging schedule, it was Edwards who made a drastic change in the school uniforms, which actually triggered a vote on the official school colors. Edwards shunned the orange and white combination that had been worn since orange and white streamers were purchased for use at a baseball game a few years earlier. His preference of orange and maroon did not wear well with the natives, who pushed for a vote on the school colors that eventually came two years later.

Edwards' team shut out every opponent except Sewanee, which blanked the Texas, 4-0, for the only loss of the season. The only score in that game came on a trick play for a touchdown, which was worth four points in those days.

Following the season, Edwards returned to the east and eventually practiced law in Jersey City. His assistant, Kelly, also departed.

MAURICE GORDON CLARKE, 1899

(Record: 6-2)

With two vacancies in the infant athletics program, the Athletic Council in 1899 hired Maurice Gordon Clarke, a native of Omaha, Neb., who lettered three years in both football and baseball at an early-day powerhouse — the University of Chicago. Clarke played quarterback on the 1896-98 Chicago teams that compiled a 23-5-1 record. He brought to Texas the style of his teacher, the legendary Amos Alonzo Stagg.

The season featured the purchase of the first university-owned field as a group of key supporters agreed to help the university with the purchase price of $3,000. The field was named Clark Field, in honor of George B. Clark, who as school proctor served as auditor, registrar, librarian, secretary of the faculty and campus caretaker. It was also the year that Texas ended road trips to "town teams" after a brawl broke out in the final trip to Dallas to play against a city team.

Clarke's team carded a 6-2 record, with the only losses coming to Sewanee, 12-0, and Vanderbilt in Nashville, 6-0. The season featured the first field goal in UT history when Jim Hart kicked a ball through the uprights from the 23-yard line in an 11-0 win over Tulane in New Orleans.

SAMUEL HUSTON "SHY" THOMPSON, 1900-01

The 1900 season brought a vote on the colors of orange and white and the formation of the school's first band and it also brought the beginning of the first multi-year stay of a Texas coach. That year, Samuel Huston "Shy" Thompson was named head coach, while Dr. Frank Homer Curtiss was chosen as the new gymnasium director and served as assistant coach.

Thompson was a Princeton grad who had played on the great Tigers team of 1896 and coached at Oberlin (Ohio) in 1897 and then Lehigh (Pa.) in 1898 and '99. During the offseason, Thompson studied law in New York City. He moved to Denver the summer before coming to Texas and made Colorado his official residence thereafter.

A strict disciplinarian, who refused to let players drink water during practice, Thompson guided his team to a 6-0 record in his first season and piloted the Texas squad to an 8-2-1 record in 1901. In his second season, Thompson stayed on to lead a Texas team devoid of experienced manpower. He opened the year with a 6-0-1 record before disaster struck. A team at the American School of Osteopathy of Kirksville, Mo., proposed a game during a swing north by the Texas team. Thompson objected, but the school agreed to play.

Thompson said the Kirksville team was "composed of pickups from all over the country" and he was proved right, as a bitter contest ended with a 48-0 Kirksville win, during which the Texas team was humiliated on and off the field. Texas lost to Kansas the next week but bounced back to record eight wins in the most extensive schedule ever for a Texas team.

Thompson resigned after the season and finished his career with a 14-2-1 mark. He later served as assistant U.S. attorney general under President Woodrow Wilson from 1913-18 and on the Federal Trade Commission from 1919-27.

J. B. HART, 1902

Diminutive John B. Hart had to prove himself from the start as the new coach at Texas for the 1902 season. Fresh out of Yale as a June graduate, the 5-foot-5, 130-pound native of Cincinnati arrived on the UT campus to skeptics who wondered if the little guy had really played in the then mighty Ivy League.

That was until Hart suited up for one scrimmage and left little doubt as to why he had won his "Y" as one of the smallest backs the school ever had.

Hart's very young team got off to a good start with wins over Oklahoma and Sewanee, but the season ended in a 12-0 defeat at the hands of rival Texas A&M, its first-ever win over UT. The lost left the Longhorns with a 6-3-1 slate and marked the most defeats the school had suffered in 10 years of football.

Hart, like so many of the coaches before him, was employed only for the season, and departed following the loss to Texas A&M.

RALPH HUTCHINSON, 1903-05

Frustrated by having to hire a coach every fall semester, the UT Board of Regents finally took action and established the post of "outdoor athletic director," whose job would include the coaching of baseball, track and football. The move had a double bonus for the struggling Athletic Association, because it meant the salary would be paid by The University, rather than from generated funds.

Ralph Fielding Hutchinson was chosen for the job in 1903 and in him UT got a versatile athlete and well-qualified coach. A Princeton man who was a native of Pennsylvania, he was a product of Mercersburg Prep. He played quarterback on the 1898-99 Princeton teams and was an infielder in baseball and a hurdler in track.

Before coming to Texas, he served two years as coach and athletics director at Dickinson College and coached backs at Princeton in 1902.

Hutchinson inherited an assistant — Homer Curtiss, who was the gym director — but found a team with apparently less-than-average talent. However, he quickly found outstanding players — including future U.S. Congressman Lucian Parrish — among the newcomers and rolled to a 5-1-2 record in his first year. Except for a historic 68-0 shellacking — the worst loss in UT history — at the hands of Chicago in his second season of 1904, Hutchinson continued his success with a 6-2 record that year.

Hard times financially and on the playing field hit the next season, and Hutchinson left after UT suffered its greatest number of defeats to date with a 5-4 record. He wrapped up his three-year tenure with a 16-7-2 record.

H. R. SCHENKER, 1906

Following the 1905 season, college football had reached a crisis because the style of play, coupled with the lack of helmets and inadequate protection for the body, had produced 18 deaths and 159 serious injuries nationwide. Schools such as Columbia, Northwestern, California and Stanford either dropped the sport or changed to rugby.

Representatives of college football's Big Three — Harvard, Princeton and Yale —went to the White House and asked President Teddy Roosevelt to intervene and he did. With the assistance came sweeping changes in the game. The forward pass was adopted, first-down distance measured and the games were reduced in time.

The University, which had stepped into the larger arena four years before with the hiring of Ralph Hutchinson, took a step backward with the hiring of H. R. Schenker in 1906. Schenker, who was a young Yale graduate, had the supposed recommendation of none other than "the father of American football" Walter Camp. Fact was, Schenker knew nothing of the intricacies of the game of football or even how to hold one, although he supposedly had played on the scrub team at Yale.

Though one of his players would later write, "How he got the job has always been a mystery," the team banded together to win despite him. Future Statesman Lucian Parrish delivered a stirring talk to his teammates in which he said, "Men, we will have to face the fact that our coach is incompetent. It is true he should be taking lessons from us, rather than we from him. But the fact remains that he is employed to handle the team and is certainly the head of the football organization. I want to earnestly urge you to keep your mouths shut and follow the directions of the coach every day you are on the field. If you are instructed to do something that you know to be bad football, do the thing willingly and promptly at the time and then come to me about it. I will see that all mistakes are remedied."

The remarkable Parrish, a guard who died an early death while serving in Congress in 1921, was true to his word. With the help of two professors, including a young German instructor named W. E. Metzenthin, the team flourished despite Schenker, finishing with a 9-1 record. To no one's surprise, Schenker was not asked to return following the season.

The athletics family at UT was so impressed with the behind-the-scenes work of Waldemar Eric Metzenthin that they prevailed on him to become the head coach for the 1907 season. An energetic young language professor, Metzenthin accepted no additional pay to do the job.

Born in Berlin, Metzenthin had attended public schools in Austin and in Lancaster, Pa., and had played quarterback at Franklin-Marshall and Columbia. Metzenthin did not inherit the best of worlds as Schenker's successor. Freshmen were barred by the faculty from competing their first semester and the program was in tough financial shape, but Metzenthin, who had been so successful in steering the program from behind the scenes the year before, came through. The first season ended successfully at 6-1-1 and the football program cleared more than $1,000.

Metzenthin agreed to coach the team again, along with his professorial duties, in 1908, but his team struggled. Despite a spectacular 28-12 come-from-behind victory against Texas A&M — which allowed Texas to finish 5-4 and escape its first losing season ever -— he quit after the season. Stating he was tired of the criticism, he returned to full-time professorship and Texas began searching for a coach once again. Several years later Metzenthin would return to athletics, serving as athletics council chairman, or athletics director as it would be later known, in 1927.

Dr. Dexter Wright Draper was hired immediately following the resignation of W.E. Metzenthin and by the time he got to Texas for the 1909 season, he had received his medical degree and was Dr. Dexter Draper. A rugged tackle at the University of Pennsylvania, Draper came with outstanding credentials as a player, having made the Walter Camp All-America team for three consecutive years.

A big man with a foghorn voice, he was a throwback to the old-style, hard-nosed football coach and wasn't the most popular person among the Texas players. He also faced a concentrated effort in improvement at Texas A&M and the result was two of his three losses coming at the hand of the Aggies.

Those two losses to Texas A&M, by a combined score of 28-0, and the mediocre 4-3-1 season had Draper on the hot seat, but he decided on his own against returning as the UT coach. He headed back east and later coached at Franklin & Marshall and William & Mary before entering his chosen field as a doctor in pediatrics. He then served as chief medical examiner for the city schools in Lancaster, Pa., where he died in 1961 at the age of 80.

W.S. WASMUND, 1910

From the fertile fields of the eastern cradle of college football, Texas turned at last to the Midwest for its 1910 coach with the hiring of William S. "Billy" Wasmund, who had quarterbacked a new-style offense for the Michigan Wolverines. Wasmund, a native of Detroit, had attended Lafayette College (Pa.) before transferring to Michigan to get his degree in civil engineering.

Wasmund's arrival at Texas came at the same time football rules changed significantly. The game was divided into quarters and seven players were required on the line of scrimmage. Interlocking interference was banned and so was pushing and pulling the ball carrier.

The new coach's style of football was both popular and successful. Wealthy team manager Lutcher Stark helped arrange an impressive schedule and despite losses to Oklahoma and Texas A&M, Wasmund was popular enough to be rehired for the 1911 season, but he didn't live to see it.

Wasmund's team held their first-ever preseason training camp, going off campus to a site near Marble Falls. When the team returned ready for its opener, the players were seasoned and tough. However, on Sunday morning, Oct. 1 — just six days before the season opener with TCU — Wasmund was found unconscious near his second-floor apartment, which was adjacent to the UT campus.

Rumors of foul play spread, but it later was determined that his fall was apparently an accident, for he was a known sleepwalker who apparently fell in the night. At first his injury wasn't thought to be serious, but his conditioned worsened and he died several days later.

Clinging to life on his deathbed, Billy Wasmund realized that his condition was worsening and that he would not be able to coach the team, so he advised the school's athletic officials to contact his old coach at Michigan. Fielding Yost, to help secure a successor who was familiar with the Michigan system. Wasmund mentioned a former teammate Dave Allerdice.

J. Burton Rix, the track and basketball coach, and William J. "Uncle Billy" Disch, the baseball coach, held the football team together as Wasmund fought for his life, but when Wasmund died just days before the TCU game, The University cancelled the game and sought a successor. When Yost recommended Allerdice as well, the Texas people knew he was their man.

The son of an Indianapolis packing house operator, David W. Allerdice was a remarkable athlete who was an All-American halfback on the 1907-09 Michigan teams. He also served as an assistant coach at Michigan but was at Butler (Ind.) University when he was contacted about the Texas job.

He arrived in Austin on a train just five days after Wasmund's death and he brought a warmth and quiet stability to the coaching position, thus becoming the most successful coach of the early era of Texas football. His teams went 5-2 in 1911, 7-1 in both '12 and '13, and was unbeaten at 8-0 in 1914. In 1915 he led his team into the inaugural season of Southwest Conference football. Despite outscoring its first three opponents 223-0, including a UT-record 92-0 victory over Daniel Baker (largest margin of victory and points scored in school history), Texas lost three of its final six games and finished with a 6-3 record. UT finished tied for third with a 2-2 mark in the Southwest Conference and suffered season-ending losses to Texas A&M and Notre Dame — the latter coming when star Clyde Littlefield, the future UT football and track & field coach, became ill and could not play.

With a remarkable 33-7 record, he informed the Athletic Council midway through the 1915 season that it would be his last because of the "super critical nature of the Texas fans." He returned to Indianapolis and went into his family's meat packing business. Allerdice, along with his wife and son, tragically died in a house fire during the 1940 Christmas holiday. He was posthumously inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1981.

Conrad Eugene Van Gent, a former three-sport star at Wisconsin, replaced Dave Allerdice in 1916 and continued the winning tradition. A 6-foot-3, 200-pound man, Van Gent was from Ottumwa, Iowa, and was an all-star in football, basketball and track for the Badgers. He had worked two years on the University of Missouri staff and the UT Athletic Council, led by the first-ever athletics director Theo Bellmont, had to raise its offer from $2,250 to $2,500 as a result of Missouri's efforts to keep him.

The 1916 campaign was the season when the Texas A&M students kidnapped and branded the Longhorns' mascot, hence Van Gent personally witnessed the birth of the name "Bevo" for the school's favorite steer.

Van Gent led the team to a 7-2 record and an Southwest Conference-best 5-1 record (although a conference crown was not awarded in 1916). However, when the season was over, the world was about to change. More than 500 students and Van Gent left the Austin school when the United States declared war on Germany. The UT coach reported to the First Officers' Training Camp at Camp Funston, near San Antonio in May 1917. He returned after the war as an assistant coach but left after the 1919 season. Van Gent then moved to California and entered private business. He returned to college coaching briefly at Stanford, posting a 4-4-2 record in 1922.

Former Longhorns Head Coaches

BILL JUNEAU, 1917-19

Legendary Longhorns baseball coach Billy Disch was a factor in the hiring of UT's coach in 1917, as he recommended William J. Juneau. He had coached Eugene Van Gent, Texas' previous coach, during his 1912-15 tour at Wisconsin. Juneau, who was also hired to coach track & field at Texas, had posted an 18-8-2 record and a 7-0 initial season for the Badgers.

Juneau, who had played his football at Wisconsin, was a high school teammate of Disch in Milwaukee and had coached at South Dakota State and Marquette. With many brave young men going away to war, Juneau inherited a far different football team than had any of his predecessors. His first team suffered three consecutive shutouts at midseason to end with a 4-4 record and Texas' first non-winning season in school history.

By 1918, the war had consumed the nation and Juneau's record of 9-0 was achieved against only five college teams and four military squads. The next year his team went 6-3 but was just 3-2 in the Southwest Conference. By that time, the dominant figure in college football in the state of Texas had become D.X. Bible, who was turning Texas A&M into a national power.

Faced with a disappointing season and the fact that the Longhorns had gone the first five seasons in the SWC without a league title, dissatisfaction was rampant in the Texas ranks and Juneau left under pressure. He moved on to Kentucky, where he posted a 13-10-1 record the next three seasons.

BERRY M. WHITAKER, 1920-22

One of the most enduring figures ever at The University of Texas was Berry McClure Whitaker, who founded the school's intramural program for men and also served as one of its most successful football coaches.

Whitaker was tabbed head coach for the 1920 season and was a part of a remarkable era in Texas athletics that saw its major sport teams of football, basketball and baseball rarely lose a game. Football was no exception, as Whitaker took over for Juneau and immediately guided the team to a 9-0 record and the Southwest Conference Championship.

A native of Anderson, Ind., Whitaker took the job in Austin because its offer was the farthest point from his hometown. He moved to Texas in 1916 to head up the men's intramural department and helped the coaching staff. When Juneau was fired, the unassuming Whitaker was called into Athletics Director Theo Bellmont's office and told — not offered the job — he was the coach.

With some of the most gifted players in early Texas history, Whitaker coached teams to seasons of 9-0, 6-1-1 and 7-2. Following the 1922 season and with a sparkling 22-3-1 record, Whitaker resigned amid rumors that he was in conflict with the rich and powerful former team manager, Lutcher Stark. Whitaker denied it, simply saying, "I'm too thin-skinned and too conscientious. Defeats killed me. I was coming down with ulcers and that kind of thing. I didn't intend to stay in coaching in the first place. I was going to get out of it and get back in my profession." With that, he returned to his beloved intramural program, serving as the director for more than 40 years until he retired. He was inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1977.

Hired to take over the UT program in 1923, Edward James "Doc" Stewart was the son of a Methodist minister and had played football and basketball at Mount Union College (Alliance, Ohio). He had attended medical school at Case Western Reserve University (Cleveland) where he played on the baseball team and was even a sportswriter for the Morning Gleander and Evening Independent in Massillon, Ohio.

In the early 1900s, he organized a town team called the Massillon Tigers, which set the stage for the storied history of football in that Ohio town. Stewart had coached two football seasons at Mount Union and had coached football and basketball at Purdue, Allegheny College, Oregon A&M (now Oregon State), Nebraska and Clemson, as well as an Army team during World War I.

Stewart, who wore a brimmed hat at games and practice, was a multifaceted man who played the piano and spoke so eloquently that the head of the UT English department offered him a job if he ever quit coaching.

On the field, he convinced Oscar Eckardt, one of the University's true legends, not to give up the game and that promptly resulted in an 8-0-1 season in 1923. He followed that with a 5-3-1 season in 1924, a 6-2-1 mark in 1925 and then struggled to a 5-4 record in 1926.

Stewart's varied interests probably proved to be his downfall as the UT coach, but he survived quite well financially. He invested in summer camps for kids near Kerrville and founded Camp Stewart for boys and Camp Mystic for girls, as well as Heart O' Hills Inn as part of a resort empire.

When his record slipped in 1926, war was about to break out over Texas athletics. Stewart had his backers and detractors, and finally, in an explosive meeting, the popular coach was fired with a 24-9-3 record. Stewart went on to serve as coach at what is now UTEP for two seasons before returning to Kerrville to run the camps, which were a huge financial success.

The bright light of success that Stewart was ended tragically just three years after his UT firing when he was shot and killed by a deer-hunting companion on Nov. 18, 1929.

CLYDE LITTLEFIELD, 1927-33

One of the legendary figures ever in Texas Athletics, Clyde Littlefield paid little attention to the turmoil surrounding the dismissal of E.J. Stewart following the 1926 season, which also resulted in the firing of athletics director Theo Bellmont. Littlefield was hired to coach and accepted the position in 1927. He was the first true superstar to play and later coach at UT.

Littlefield was a native of Pennsylvania who came to Texas in 1904 when the oil boom around Beaumont attracted his father. He finished his prep schooling in San Antonio and chose Texas over Texas A&M in a move that defined history. He won 12 letters in three sports and could have earned another if he had more time for baseball. He started his coaching career in Greenville, and after a tremendous high school career, returned to Texas. His final high school football team was undefeated, untied and unscored upon.

Littlefield had been a superstar in football at Texas, so it was no surprise that he was hired as track & field coach and freshman football coach in 1920. When he took over as the head coach after Stewart dismissal, he paid little attention to politics and proceeded to build a great staff with which to run the program. His first team went 6-2-1 and his second finished with a 7-2 record and won the Southwest Conference Championship. By 1930, with the arrival of Ernie Koy, Harrison Stafford and Bohn Hilliard, Littlefield had legitimate superstars and a second league championship with an 8-1-1 record.

Things continued to be solid for Littlefield when his 1932 team was 8-2. However, when the 1933 unit fell to 4-5-2 — UT's first losing season in 40 years of football — powerful people such as Lutcher Stark called for his resignation. Choosing not to fight and to avoid the politics, Littlefield quit as football coach with a 44-18-6 record that still stands as the fourth-most coaching victories on UT record. Littlefield remained as track coach where he served for 41 seasons and won 25 league championships.

He was the first Texas coach to win two SWC championships in football and his legacy remains today with his name honoring the nationally renowned track festival he created in 1925, the Clyde Littlefield Texas Relays. Littlefield was inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1961.

JACK CHEVIGNY, 1934-36

John Edward "Jack" Chevigny was a national football celebrity who almost literally wound up on UT's doorstep in 1934 and his flashfire of success was like a sky rocket that took off in a flurry and burned out quickly.

Part of the great legend of Notre Dame football was Chevigny, who scored the winning touchdown against Army after Knute Rockne's famous "Win One for the Gipper" halftime speech, and he allegedly said as he crossed the goal with the winning score, "That's one for the Gipper."

Chevigny might well have succeeded Rockne at Notre Dame had the famous coach not been killed in a plane crash in 1931, because he had Rockne's flair for the dramatic and was being groomed for the job as an assistant at Notre Dame.

Former Longhorns Head Coaches

The Hammond, Ind., native left Notre Dame after Rockne's death and coached the NFL's Chicago Cardinals (now the Arizona Cardinals) to a 2-6-2 record in 1932. He quickly determined that professional ball wasn't for him and accepted a job as the head coach at St. Edward's University (a sister school of Notre Dame) in Austin. So it was convenient that Chevigny was just across the Colorado River in South Austin when Texas began looking for a new coach in 1934.

The flamboyant Chevigny had impressed the Austin community and the media with his flair and he did an excellent job of self-promotion. He got the UT job and inherited from Littlefield a wealth of talent, including 20 lettermen. Chevigny's greatest moment came in just the second game of his career, when he directed a 7-6 victory over his alma mater, Notre Dame. When his team finished the season at 7-2-1, Jack Chevigny was the toast of the town.

However, it would be short-lived. His 1935 team fell to 4-6 and Chevigny failed to build bonds with the Texas fan base, and more importantly, with the Texas high school coaches. As the 1936 season crashed down around him, Chevigny announced he had asked UT authorities not to reappoint him. When the team finished 2-6-1, the Athletics Council took him up on his verbal resignation. To this day, Chevigny, with a 13-14-2 record in three seasons, stands as the only head football coach in Longhorns history with a losing record.

Chevigny stayed in Austin for a time working as an attorney for the State Tax Commission, but he soon tired of that and moved to Illinois, where he was very successful in the oil business. Chevigny died as a first lieutenant in the battle of Iwo Jima during World War II.

When it came time to replace Jack Chevigny after the 1936 season, Texas made the boldest and most powerful move that it had made since the beginning of The University — at least as far as athletics was concerned — in 1937. In the midst of a national depression, Texas sought and hired Dana X. Bible, who agreed to leave a solid post at Nebraska to accept the dual post of coach and athletics director at Texas. Bible came to UT for a salary of $15,000 — more than The University paid its president (who eventually got a raise as a result) at the time.

Still ranked as the third-winningest coach in UT history and one of the most successful coaches in the early days of college football history, Bible's 10-year stint at Texas from 1937-46 is credited with laying the foundation of the modern legacy of Longhorn football.

Born Oct. 8, 1891, in Jefferson City, Tenn., Bible's first name, Dana, honored a relative, while his middle name, Xenophon, recognized the ancient Greek historian. His father was a professor at Carson-Newman College and so it was natural for Bible to go to school there and become a football standout and scholar-athlete.

Even though he was a star on the field, Bible's thirst for knowledge of the game led him on summer pilgrimages to study with such legends of the game as Amos Alonzo Stagg and Pop Warner, among others. His first coaching assignment was at Brandon Prep in Shelbyville, Tenn., and he was only 21 years old when he was hired to coach Mississippi College in 1912. In 1916, he became an assistant coach at Texas A&M while he actually worked as a coach-on-loan at LSU part of that season. Bible returned to Texas A&M as the head coach in 1917 and a legend was born.

Following tremendous success at Texas A&M and Nebraska, Bible was hired in 1937 to turn the Texas fortunes around. He inherited a team that was more depressed than the nation's economy. After a tough start that saw Texas win just three games in Bible's first two seasons, the legendary coach turned things around. By the time his tenure was up, he had led the Longhorns to what was then a school-best 63 victories and won three Southwest Conference championships, all coming in the final five years of his Longhorns career.

He is credited for "The Bible Plan," which placed emphasis on education as well as success on the football field. His 1941 team, which finished the year with an 8-1-1 mark and a No. 4 national ranking — marking the first appearance for the Longhorns in the season-ending poll — was featured on the cover of Life magazine and is still regarded as one of the greatest in school history. Bible's 1941 squad climbed as high as No. 1 to record the program's first-ever top ranking at any point in a season. He won SWC titles in 1942, '43 and '45, while those teams finished with No. 11, No. 14 and No. 10 national rankings, respectively.

Bible's 1942 squad was just the second in UT history to post nine wins and was the first to play in a bowl game — a 14-7 victory against No. 5 Georgia Tech in the Cotton Bowl. His '43 squad was 7-1-1, a perfect 5-0 in the SWC and played Randolph Field to a 7-7 tie in the Cotton Bowl. The '45 team set a then-UT record with 10 victories, including a dramatic 40-27 win against Missouri in the Cotton Bowl. That game is best remembered for legendary quarterback Bobby Layne playing a role in each of UT's 40 points.

After leading the Longhorns to an 8-2 record and a No. 15 final ranking in 1946, Bible retired from coaching and remained at Texas as athletics director.

In 33 years as a head coach, Bible was 198-72-3 (63-31-3 at Texas) and the third-winningest coach in the history of the game when he retired, trailing only Amos Alonzo Stagg, who coached for 57 years, and Pop Warner, who patrolled the sidelines for 44 years. Bible, who never lost a bowl game — boasting a 2-0-1 record in three Cotton Bowls, was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1951 and the Longhorn Hall of Honor in '60.

BLAIR CHERRY, 1947-50

Hand picked and groomed by D.X. Bible as his successor, Blair Cherry brought a wealth of experience and Texas roots to the position of head football coach in 1947. The first Texas-born coach, Cherry had been waiting in the wings since joining Bible's first staff at Texas in 1937. As his right-hand man, he was Bible's choice to succeed him when he stepped down from coaching and retained the athletics director position in 1946.

Cherry, a native of Corsicana, played his high school ball at Weatherford and later was a star at TCU. After a brief professional baseball career, he quickly moved into football coaching as a high school mentor at Ranger, before moving to Fort Worth North Side. In 1930, he became head coach at Amarillo and was part of one of the most incredible records in Texas high school sports. During his time at Amarillo, his team won 84 games, lost just five and ruled as State Champions his final three years.

Had Bible not accepted the Texas head coaching position 10 years earlier, Cherry was the next choice and he quickly proved why. With a veteran squad, including All-American quarterback Bobby Layne, Cherry's Longhorns posted a near-perfect record of 10-1, defeated No. 6 Alabama (27-7) in the Sugar Bowl and finished the year ranked fifth nationally in his first season of 1947. The only loss came in classic 14-13 battle with Doak Walker and SMU.

Cherry's 1948 team was 7-3-1, including a 41-28 win against No. 8 Georgia in the Orange Bowl. Following that victory, Cherry was offered head coaching jobs with both the Chicago Cardinals and the Washington Redskins of the NFL but instead chose to stay at Texas, accepting a new five-year contract.

Two years later, in the midst of one of the most successful coaching careers ever at Texas, Cherry resigned to enter private business. After a 6-4 record in 1949, his 1950 team went on to post a 9-2 record, earn a No. 3 national ranking and claim the Southwest Conference Championship with a perfect 6-0 conference slate. Cherry's team was ranked No. 5 in the country and was breezing to the SWC title when he announced at midseason that he was leaving to enter the oil business. His UT coaching career came to an end after a 20-14 season-ending loss to Tennessee in the 1951 Cotton Bowl.

Cherry suffered from an ulcer and insomnia. In a national article on "Why I Quit Coaching" a year later, he alluded to the "over-emphasis on winning" and the critical nature of the media and the fans over the few losses he suffered in an amazing 32-10-1 career as the reasons he chose to leave. In four short seasons, he led Texas to three bowl games, two bowl victories and a pair of Top Five national rankings. He was induced into the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1968.

ED PRICE, 1951-56

Due to a long association with The University both as an athlete and an assistant coach, Edwin Booth Price was the natural choice to replace Blair Cherry as the Longhorns' head coach in 1951. Stunned by the sudden resignation of Cherry, Price's selection calmed the situation considerably, for he had been an assistant to both Jack Chevigny and D.X. Bible and had led Cherry's defensive units since returning from World War II.

Born in Brownwood, Price later was a four-sport star at Corsicana before coming to Texas, where he played on championship teams in football, basketball and baseball. He was also a sportswriter for the Daily Texan while in school.

He coached in high school and junior college at Hillsboro and El Paso before returning to Texas to join Chevigny's last staff in 1936. He stayed on as a freshman football coach for Bible.

Price quickly continued the winning tradition set by Cherry, leading the Longhorns to a 7-3 record in his first season as head coach. His 1952 team posted a 9-2 record, claimed the Southwest Conference Championship with a perfect 6-0 league mark and finished with a No. 10 national ranking. That unit, which featured an all-conference backfield and some of the best players of the era for UT, capped a terrific year with a 16-0 victory against No. 8 Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

His 1953 team finished with a 7-3 mark, was ranked 11th nationally and claimed a league co-championship. After just three seasons, Price had won two conference titles, led Texas to a 23-8 record and was riding a wave of success.

But despite high hopes, the 1954 team stumbled to a 4-5-1 record — Texas' first losing season in 15 years — and the downward spiral had begun. After a 5-5 year in 1955, UT tumbled to its worst record in school history in a 1-9 season in 1956. A 7-6 win against Tulane in the second game of the year was the only victory in the dismal campaign.

Whether the downfall came because of rule changes, as Price believed, or whether it was the mild-mannered Price's failure to recruit well and be hard-nosed, after over 25 years of direct association with athletics at Texas, his tenure in that department ended. On Oct. 31, 1956, citing his love for The University and his desire to move forward "for the good of the team," Price tendered his resignation effective at the end of the season. He posted 33-27-1 record in six seasons, but after claiming two conference crowns in his first three years, the Longhorns fell to the bottom of the league standings in his final two seasons.

He stayed on at Texas, first in the physical education department and later serving as assistant dean of students, for many years before retiring. He was inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1967.

DARRELL ROYAL, 1957-76

D. X. Bible's legacy as Texas' football coach may have ended in the 1940s, but the impact he had as athletics director in the '50s continued to be dramatic. For it was Bible, more than any single person, who fashioned the hiring in December 1956 of Darrell Royal, a young, 32-year-old former Oklahoma football star as the next Longhorns football coach.

Born in Hollis, Okla., Royal had played his college ball at the University of Oklahoma and served as an assistant coach at North Carolina State, Tulsa and Mississippi State. He coached the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League, and in 1955, he returned to Mississippi State for his first collegiate head coaching job. He spent the next season at the University of Washington and was there when Bible called him to interview for the Texas job.

Royal was an immediate success at Texas, leading the Longhorns — who posted their worst record ever (1-9) in 1956 — to a 6-4-1 record, a No. 11 national ranking and a berth in the Sugar Bowl in his first season. He would never suffer a losing season in 20 years at Texas, led the Longhorns to their first National Championship in 1963 and followed that with national titles in 1969 and '70. Royal posted an astonishing 167-47-5 career record at UT, which included a 109-27-2 mark in Southwest Conference games. He claimed a league-record 11 SWC Championships, led UT to 16 bowl games and finished the year ranked among the nation's Top Five nine times.

In 1968, Royal was the first to install the famed "Wishbone" formation backfield. His teams would eventually spend 30 weeks ranked No. 1 in the nation and post an astonishing 30-game winning streak (42 consecutive home wins) from 1968-70. From 1968-73, Royal's squads claimed six straight SWC titles and six consecutive Cotton Bowl berths. He coached 77 All-SWC players and 26 All-Americans.

Still at the top of his game in 1976, Royal retired and continued in the role of athletics director at Texas — a position he had maintained since taking over the dual role of coach and AD in 1962. His overall coaching record was 184-60-5.

FRED AKERS, 1977-86

When Darrell Royal retired following the 1976 season, the University administration picked one of his former assistants, Fred Akers, to lead the program. Akers, whose youthful appearance and early success as the head coach at the University of Wyoming captured the attention of the decision makers, inherited a wealth of talent which Royal thought he was leaving to his longtime assistant Mike Campbell, who had been his choice to succeed him.

But with a crack new staff and a switch to the "I" formation to utilize the talents of eventual Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell, Akers literally burst on the Texas scene in 1977. His first team went 11-0 through the regular season, claimed the Southwest Conference Championship and spent the final half of the year atop the national polls. Only a Cotton Bowl 38-10 loss to No. 5 Notre Dame denied Akers a National Championship in his first season.

A native of Arkansas, Akers played for the Razorbacks and served as a graduate assistant a season after finishing his playing career in 1959. He was a product of the Texas high school coaching ranks, having served as an assistant at Port Arthur and as head coach at Edinburg (19-9-1) and Lubbock High (7-3) before Royal hired him to join the Texas staff for the 1966 season.

At Texas, Akers coached running backs, defensive backs and then was co-offensive coordinator prior to accepting the head coaching job at Wyoming for the 1975 season. In two seasons, he took the Cowboys from 2-9 his first year to an 8-4 record and Fiesta Bowl appearance in 1976 before returning as Texas' head coach in '77.

Akers followed the spectacular start in 1977 with nine consecutive winning seasons and nine bowl berths in a row. In 1978, the Longhorns were 9-3 and finished the year ranked ninth nationally. UT matched that mark in 1979 and earned a No. 12 national ranking. After dipping to 7-5 in 1980, Akers and the Longhorns rocketed back on the scene in '81 with a 10-1-1 record and climbed back into the nation's top spot midway through that season. UT's 14-12 upset of No. 3 Alabama in the Cotton Bowl — Texas was in the Cotton Bowl because league champ SMU was on probation — vaulted Texas to a final No. 2 national ranking in 1981.

In 1982, Texas was 9-3 and finished the year ranked 17th nationally. Akers again had the Horns in the hunt for a national title in 1983. Texas opened the season ranked third nationally and posted the second perfect 11-0 regular season mark and the second SWC Championship of the Akers era, spent all but one week in the nation's No. 2 spot. However, a 10-9 loss to No. 7 Georgia in the Cotton Bowl ended the title hopes for the Longhorns. A victory, coupled with a 31-30 loss by No. 1 Nebraska to Miami in the Orange Bowl, would have given Texas its fourth national title. Instead, UT finished the year ranked fifth nationally.

Despite posting a 66-17-1 record, winning two SWC titles and finishing the season ranked among the nation's Top Five three times in his first seven years at Texas, Akers never endeared himself to the Longhorns faithful. When problems with recruiting hit, caused in part by rampant NCAA violations which saw severe sanctions levied against several SWC schools, they would signal Akers' eventually downfall. Texas struggled to a 7-4-1 mark that was capped by a 55-17 defeat at the hands of Iowa in the Freedom Bowl in 1984. It didn't get any better in 1985 as the Longhorns finished 8-4 and unranked for the second consecutive year. Following a 5-6 injury-riddled season of 1986, Akers' first losing season, UT's program appeared to be on a free fall and he was released as the head coach.

Former Longhorns Head Coaches

He finished his career at UT with a 86-31-2 record (60-19-1 SWC) — second only to Darrell Royal in victories — in 10 seasons. Akers led the Longhorns to nine bowl games and coached a Heisman Trophy winner (Campbell), two Lombardi Trophy winners (Kenneth Sims, Tony Degrate) and an Outland Trophy honoree (Brad Shearer) as well as 48 all-conference players.

Following his departure in '86, Akers accepted the head coaching job and the challenge of rebuilding a struggling Purdue program in 1987. In four seasons in West Lafayette, Ind., Akers' Boilermakers were 12-31-1. After his departure from Purdue, Akers returned to his ranch near Austin and remained active as a motivational speaker.

DAVID McWILLIAMS, 1987-91

David McWilliams joined Clyde Littlefield and Ed Price as a former Longhorns player who became the coach when he succeeded Fred Akers as UT's head coach in 1987.

A popular tri-captain on the 1963 National Championship team and a UT assistant to both Royal and Akers from 1970-85, McWilliams seemed the perfect choice to lead the Longhorns. Immediately, his homespun nature reminded people of Royal and the Longhorn lettermen — who had been divided in the years since Royal left — came as one unit in support of McWilliams.

McWilliams had served one year as the head coach at Texas Tech in 1986 before he returned to Texas, but his years of experience as a Longhorns assistant and his loyalty to the school gave the Texas community high hopes.

A native of Cleburne, McWilliams had been part of one of the greatest eras of UT football. In his three years as a player, from 1961-63, Texas lost only two football games, posting a remarkable record of 30-2-1. During that time, UT won a National Championship, three conference championships and finished the year ranked among the nation's top four each year.

Following his graduation from Texas, McWilliams served two years as an assistant coach at Abilene High, and in 1966, he became one of the state's youngest head coaches, carving a record of 21-7-2 in four years before Darrell Royal hired him to join the Texas staff in 1970.

An honor student and a solid player, McWilliams concentrated his coaching on the defensive side of the football, working with ends and linebackers for Royal and Akers and serving as defensive coordinator for Akers his last four seasons as a Texas assistant.

McWilliams got off to a solid start with a 7-5 campaign and No. 19 national ranking in 1987 season that included a storybook last-play victory over Arkansas and a Bluebonnet Bowl win over Pittsburgh. But, after a 4-7 season in 1988 and a 5-6 campaign in 1989, the future of the Texas program came in question.

The 1990 season soothed a lot of the disappointment and was McWilliams' high water mark. That year, the Longhorns, beginning with a season-opening victory at Penn State (17-13), went on what they called a "Shock The Nation" tour. Texas finished the regular season with an Southwest Conference Championship, a 10-1 record —the only loss coming at the hands of eventual National Champion Colorado — and a No. 3 national ranking before being defeated by No. 4 Miami, 46-3, in the Cotton Bowl.

Despite the disappointing bowl loss, a 10-2 record and a No. 10 national ranking in 1990 carried Texas into the 1991 season with great expectations. There was preseason talk of a National Championship, but when Texas finished with a 5-6 record, McWilliams was forced out, officially resigning for the good of the program he so deeply loved. He finished his five-year tenure at UT with a 31-26 record that included one SWC title and two bowl games.

McWilliams remained in the athletics department, serving as associate athletics director for development and currently heading the "T" Association, the active group of former letterwinners who have been brought back into the UT fold through his efforts and those of the head coaches in every sport.

JOHN MACKOVIC, 1992-97

Not since the hiring of Darrell Royal in 1956, and D.X. Bible before him, had The University of Texas ventured as far as it did with the hiring of John Mackovic as head coach in 1992. The head coach and athletics director at Illinois, Mackovic brought the impressive credentials of having been a head coach with the NFLs' Kansas City Chiefs and an assistant with the Dallas Cowboys.

He also was the first coach to come into the Texas program from the outside since Royal in 1956 and Bible in '37. All others, from Blair Cherry through David McWilliams, had been a player or an assistant at Texas. A native of Ohio, Mackovic played his college football at Wake Forest and had an odyssey as an assistant coach that found him working for some of the true legends of the college game.

In 1970, his career came to the state of Texas for the first time, when he became the quarterbacks coach for Tom Landry with the Dallas Cowboys. In 1983, at the relatively young age of 39, he became the head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs. He took the team to its first playoff bid in 15 years before leaving to enter private business. Mackovic returned to coaching at Illinois in 1988 and spent four seasons there before he was hired at Texas.

Known for his wide-open offense, his teams set numerous school offensive records and lured a number of talented offensive weapons, such as 1998 Heisman Trophy winner Ricky Williams, UT's all-time second-leading passer James Brown and UT's all-time leading receiver Mike Adams among them.

Determined to carve his own legacy, Mackovic steadily rebuilt a Longhorns program that had three losing seasons in the four years prior to his arrival. UT finished at 6-5 in 1992 and 5-51 in 1993. Mackovic's program made its most dramatic mark in 1994, when after suffering four losses in a six-game stretch midway through the season, bounced back with three consecutive victories. Including a come-from-behind 35-31 victory against North Carolina in the Sun Bowl — UT's first bowl victory in 13 years — the SWC co-Champions finished with an 8-4 record and No. 25 national ranking.

In 1995, Mackovic's squad charged out to a 10-1-1 record, claimed the final SWC Championship and finished the regular season ranked ninth nationally. On the heels of that enthusiasm, Texas entered 1996 with its first preseason Top 10 ranking since 1984 and with National Championship aspirations, but after losing four of its first seven games, Mackovic's squad was simply hoping to reach a bowl game. However, UT rallied to win five games in a row, including a 37-27 upset of No. 3 Nebraska in the inaugural Big 12 Championship game, to finish the regular season with an 8-4 mark and ranked 20th nationally.

Once again, though, the hopes of the program's future were high. The glory was short-lived, however, and even Mackovic's three league championships couldn't secure his position. Texas finished the 1997 season at 4-7 — matching the worst record for a UT team since 1956 — and Mackovic was relieved of his coaching duties and reassigned within the athletics department for the remainder of his contract. He finished his Longhorns tenure with a 41-28-2 record and led Texas to three bowl games.

Darrell Royal

UT's All-Time Winningest Head Coach

The union between The University of Texas football program and Darrell Royal was a Hollywood producer's dream and for 20 years the best match-up since boots and saddles brought unparalleled success, fame and prestige to the Longhorns and the man who guided their destiny.

Royal, who turned 81 on July 6, was 32 years old when he took the head coaching job at Texas in December 1956, and he came to the Austin campus with a folksy sense of humor that produced a phenomenon called "Royalisms" and an innovative style of football that produced almost instant success.

Texas went from a 1-9 season in 1956 to a 6-3-1 regular season in 1957, and with a trip to the Sugar Bowl, Royal's Longhorns were off to the first of 16 bowl trips they would make during the next 20 years.

In 1962, Royal assumed the dual role of athletics director and head football coach, and when he resigned from the football job following the 1976 season, he remained as director of athletics for three years. In January 1980, Royal left the athletics department and became a special assistant on athletics programs to The University President. Though he officially is retired, he still serves in that capacity as a part-time consultant.

Royal's roots came from the dust bowl days in southwest Oklahoma, where the Hollis native began his life in football as a high school star in the early 1940s. He was an All-American quarterback at the University of Oklahoma and came to The University of Texas after head coaching jobs at Mississippi State and the University of Washington.

In 23 years as a head coach, he never had a losing season, and his teams went 167-47-5 in his 20 years at Texas — the best mark in the nation over that period.

Royal's Longhorns teams finished in the Top 10 nationally 11 times. He coached 77 All-Southwest Conference players and 26 All-Americans. His overall coaching record was 184-60-5.

During Royal's tenure, UT won three National Championships, 11 SWC Championships and played in 16 bowl games.

As an innovator, Royal is credited with two major changes in collegiate football. In 1961, he achieved great success and later went on to win a National Championship while applying the "flip-flop" to the winged-T, allowing the offensive picture to flip right or left, so that blocking assignments remained simplified.

Then, in 1968, Royal installed the famed "Wishbone" formation backfield, with the fullback lined up two yards behind the quarterback and a step up from the other backs. With that formation, his teams won 30 consecutive games and a record six SWC Championships in a row.

While winning on the field may have been the most apparent standard of the Royal Era at Texas, his overriding concern with success in the classroom and adherence to the rules could well have been his most significant contribution.

When Royal came to Texas, his first act was to employ the nation's first academic counselor, and over the years, four out of five men who lettered for Royal went on to achieve their degree. Royal set aside a fund for a special "T" ring, which he personally awarded to his lettermen upon their graduation.

In the struggle for honesty in intercollegiate athletics, Royal was a champion in lobbying the cause before the NCAA.

"Integrity has been a key word for Darrell," said Neils Thompson, Royal's athletic council chairman and a past president of the NCAA. "He has run his football team accordingly. He has lived by the rules … if he didn't like those rules, he would fight to change them, but he would never intentionally break them."

Besides his duties at Texas, Royal parlayed his love of golf and country music into numerous charity benefits which raised thousands of dollars for various needy causes.

The Longhorns' National Championships came in 1963, '69 and '70, and the performance of Royal's teams during the 1960s earned him the honor of Coach of the Decade as chosen by ABC-TV.

Royal's football teams won more SWC games (109) and more overall games (167) than any coach in league history and his six consecutive conference titles and Cotton Bowl trips from 1968-73 were league records.

During Royal's tenure as athletics director, UT won six national titles, three in football, two in golf and one in baseball. Royal was a driving force in the upgrading of basketball when he brought in Abe Lemons as coach, and of swimming, when he hired Eddie Reese. Royal served on numerous boards and committees, including the NCAA Television Committee.

UT honored its legendary coach by naming its football stadium — Darrell K Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium —after him in 1996.

His honors include membership in both the Texas and Oklahoma Sports Hall of Fame and the Longhorn Hall of Honor. He is past president of the American Football Coaches Association and was twice named Coach of the Year by the AFCA and three times by the Football Writers of Association. Royal was chosen Southwesterner of the Year four times and SWC Coach of the Year on five occasions. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1983. In '96, Royal earned the prestigious Horatio Alger Award for his lifetime success. He was a member of the Cotton Bowl Hall of Fame's initial class in spring 1998 and was recognized with the first-ever Contribution to College Football Award at the 2002 Home Depot College Football Awards on ESPN.

Royal's teams were marked by a fierce intensity of competition without, as one guest coach put it, "emotional or rah-rah tactics."

"It was," the guest said, "a matter of knowing what had to be done and keeping your head so as to be better able to accomplish it."

Royal's great friend, the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, once wrote him after a particular victory, "You are the finest example of an inspiring world leader I know."

"I'm not a football fan, but I am a fan of people and I am a Darrell Royal fan because he is the rarest of human beings," the former President said.

Earl Campbell

1977 Heisman Trophy Winner

Earl Campbell, the famed "Tyler Rose", will always have a special place in The University of Texas and state of Texas football history.

Born March 29, 1955, in Tyler, Campbell was the fifth of 11 children raised by Ann Campbell. Two of his six brothers, Tim and Steve, joined him as Longhorns.

Campbell galloped into UT football history with his Heisman Trophy-winning 1977 season. He rushed for 1,744 yards (a Southwest Conference record that stood for 16 years) and 19 touchdowns and led the nation in rushing and scoring, posting 200-yard rushing games at Texas A&M (222) and at SMU (213). Campbell set a Longhorns record for 100-yard rushing games that year (10).

On Campbell's heels, Texas jumped out to a 6-0 mark and claimed the No. 1 spot in the nation at the season's midway point. The Longhorns held the nation's top spot for the remainder of the regular season and went on to finish 11-0 before falling to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl. Texas finished the year ranked No. 4 nationally in the final Associated Press poll.

Campbell was an instant success at Texas, starting at fullback in the Longhorns "Wishbone" attack and rushing for 928 yards and six touchdowns as a freshman in 1974. He claimed the first of his three consensus All-SWC honors that year.

As a sophomore, Campbell ran for 1,118 yards and 13 touchdowns, earning his first of two consensus All-America awards. He helped lead Texas to a 10-2 record that year and was tabbed the Offensive Player of the Game in the Longhorns' 38-21 win against Colorado in the Bluebonnet Bowl. UT finished the year ranked sixth nationally in the final Associated Press poll.

Injuries dampened the glitter on Campbell's career in 1976, as he missed four games with a pulled hamstring and the Longhorns struggled to a 5-5-1 mark. Campbell, playing on a strained hamstring much of the time, posted a career-low 653 rushing yards and three touchdowns. The highlight of the year was his first career 200-yard outing, a 208-yard effort against North Texas.

By his senior season, Campbell was at full strength again and turned in one of the finest rushing campaigns on school record. He finished his brilliant career with a then-Longhorns record 4,443 yards and 41 touchdowns.

After his star-studded collegiate career, Campbell took his talents to the National Football League. Selected No. 1 overall by the Houston Oilers in the 1978 NFL Draft, he quickly made a name for himself.

As a rookie, Campbell claimed virtually every award possible including Rookie of the Year, MVP and Offensive Player of the Year. Campbell, who went on to play in the Pro Bowl, first served notice on the NFL and the nation in his initial appearance on Monday Night Football (Nov. 20, 1978). That night Campbell bulled over the Miami Dolphins for 199 yards and four touchdowns in the Oilers' 35-30 victory. Probably the most memorable of his 28 carries that evening was his last. With Houston facing a second-and-long and leading 28-23, Campbell broke off tackle and jaunted 81 yards for a touchdown. He went on to rush for 100 yards six more times that season in claiming the NFL rushing crown with 1,450 yards.

Campbell was an instant celebrity, claiming the Great American Youth award as the top professional male athlete in 1978. He was presented with the trophy by Bob Hope.

The former Longhorn led the NFL in rushing again in 1979 with 1,697 yards and garnered his second consecutive league MVP and Offensive Player of the Year award. Campbell was named to the Pro Bowl for the second time as well.

In 1980, Campbell posted his first 200-yard game as a professional, rolling up

1977 Heisman Trophy Winner

203 yards against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. He bounced back the following week to do it again with 202 yards in a meeting with the Cincinnati Bengals. The 200-yard game became a regularity, as Campbell went on to post 206 yards against the Chicago Bears and set an NFL record with his fourth 200-yard game of the season as the Oilers clinched a playoff spot with a 20-16 win against the Minnesota Vikings. He wrapped up the year with his third NFL rushing title (1,934 yards), a third consecutive Pro Bowl appearance and the Offensive Player of the Year award.

Campbell claimed his final NFL rushing title in 1981 with 1,376 yards. The wear and tear caught up with him as he rushed for just 538 yards and two touchdowns in an injury-riddled 1982 campaign. He bounced back with 1,301 yards and 12 touchdowns in 1983.

Campbell was traded to the New Orleans Saints for a first-round pick in 1984. In 1985, he ran for 160 yards on 35 carries against the Vikings in what proved to be his top game with the Saints.

On Aug. 18, 1986, Campbell retired. He wrapped up his pro career with 9,407 rushing yards and 74 touchdowns along with 121 receptions for 806 yards in eight seasons.

He was selected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame on Jan. 26, 1991. Campbell was inducted along with kicker Jan Stenerud, offensive lineman John Hannah, lineman Stan Jones and former Dallas Cowboy president Tex Schramm on July 27, 1991.

In spring 1988, Campbell was inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor, and in 1990, he became a member of the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. Campbell received the Doak Walker Legends Award in 2003. He presently runs his own business and serves as a special assistant to the athletics director for student affairs at Texas.

Ricky Williams

1998 Heisman Trophy Winner

With his trademark dreadlocked hair, a rare combination of strength and speed and a flair for the dramatic, Ricky Williams left an indelible mark on The University of Texas, the Big 12 Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Born May 21, 1977, in San Diego, Calif., Williams followed a dominant prep career by taking his talents to Texas, an area he believed cared more than anywhere about its football. Texas and the Southwest embraced their new star, who quickly became a hero on the field and in the community.

After vaulting onto the scene as a true freshman, claiming the starting fullback job the day he stepped on campus and drawing comparisons to the most-honored player in UT football history, Earl Campbell, Williams steadily developed into one of college football's greatest players.

His legend began as a fullback in a freshman year that saw him break Campbell's UT freshman rushing record with 990 yards and eight touchdowns on just 166 carries. In the final year of the Southwest Conference, his presence was significant as the Longhorns established themselves as one of the nation's premier offensive attacks. On the heels of four subpar seasons in a row — by Longhorns standards — UT and its new star rolled to a 10-2-1 record, climbed as high as No. 9 in the national polls and earned a spot in the Sugar Bowl. Williams saved his finest performance for the grandest of stages, a trait he would carry throughout his collegiate career, rushing for 163 yards and two TDs in UT's 16-6 win at No. 16 Texas A&M. The victory, the Longhorns' first in College Station since 1983, secured the final SWC title, earned Williams SWC Offensive Freshman of the Year honors and re-established Texas as one of the nation's top programs.

Texas entered Williams' sophomore year considered a potential national title contender. Although some early-season defeats knocked the Longhorns from that perch, the second-year fullback never disappointed. He rushed for 100 yards seven times, registered 1,272 yards and 12 TDs, earned his first of three consensus first-team All-SWC honors and was tabbed UT's Offensive MVP. Again, Williams turned in his top efforts in the season's biggest games, rushing for 533 yards and three TDs, while catching eight passes for 130 yards and two TDs in the team's regular-season closing four-game winning streak. His 145 rushing yards and score helped UT cap the year with a 51-15 victory against Texas A&M, earning the Longhorns a berth in the first-ever Big 12 title game. Although Williams' numbers didn't reflect it, his performance in the stunning 37-27 upset of defending National Champion and third-ranked Nebraska were critical in the Longhorns claiming the first-ever Big 12 Championship. Williams' effort in helping neutralize Nebraska's All-American end Grant Winstrom in that game is among the most memorable of his career. The victory gave Texas, which finished the year with a 9-5 record and ranked 21st nationally, a spot in the Fiesta Bowl — its second straight Alliance Bowl (now the Bowl Championship Series).

With his powerful thighs and breakaway speed, Williams had captured the nation's attention in just two seasons and entered his junior year as a Heisman Trophy candidate. While UT was going through one of its most disappointing seasons in decades, the junior tailback was having a breakout year. Williams registered his first 200-yard rushing game in posting 249 yards and a then-UT record five TDs at Rice. He would gain 200 yards in six of his next eight games (including a UT-record four in a row) and led the nation with a then-UT-record 1,893 yards and 25 TDs (No. 7 on NCAA chart). Williams claimed first-team All-Big 12 honors, was named Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year and was UT's MVP. He also became just the second UT junior to earn a spot among the top-five vote getters for the Heisman Trophy (he finished fifth) and claimed his first major award in winning the Doak Walker Award (nation's outstanding running back).

Williams solidified his place in college football history with a dash to the NCAA all-time rushing record and the Heisman Trophy in 1998. After announcing he was passing on a certain top-five selection in the NFL Draft and returning for his senior year on Jan. 8, 1998, Williams set his sights on leading the Longhorns back to a major bowl, breaking the NCAA rushing record and making a run for the Heisman Trophy. When the dust cleared on Nov. 27, he had reached two of those goals and on Dec. 12 at the Downtown Athletic Club in New York City, he claimed the third goal and became UT's second Heisman Trophy winner. Williams led Texas to a 9-3 record, set 21 NCAA records and received what was then the greatest percentage of first-place votes cast in Heisman history (43% of the 920 voters).

The 6-foot, 225-pounder produced one of the finest seasons on NCAA record in 1998, rushing for 2,124 yards (No. 6 on the NCAA's all-time chart) and 27 TDs (No.

4 on the NCAA's all-time list). He also became the first-ever two-time winner of the Doak Walker Award (nation's outstanding running back) and claimed the Maxwell Award, Walter Camp Foundation Player of the Year, The Associated Press Player of the Year, The Sporting News Player of the Year and the Football News Offensive Player of the Year. With his second consecutive unanimous first-team All-America honor in 1998, Williams became the first UT player since Jerry Gray (1983-84) to earn unanimous first-team All-America recognition in consecutive seasons.

However, it was his route to the Heisman Trophy that was most impressive. Capping his senior year with a 259-yard rushing effort in a 26-24 upset of No. 6 Texas A&M, Williams posted one of the greatest runaway victories in the award's 64-year history. He swept the voting in all six regions, scoring at least a 200-point victory in each section of the country. His 714 first-place votes were the third-most ever and 673 more than runner-up Michael Bishop (Kansas State). Williams' 2,355 points were third-most in Heisman history while his 1,563-point margin of victory over Bishop (792 points) was the fourth-largest on the trophy's record book. Only O.J. Simpson (1,750) in 1968 and Charlie Ward (1,622) in 1993 produced greater routs.

On top of it all, the four-year starter (two at fullback, two at tailback) added 46 school records, two Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year awards, three first-team All-Big 12 accolades and was just the fifth UT player ever to be twice tabbed the Longhorns' MVP.

Most importantly to Williams, he had left UT as he started it, considered among the nation's best teams. After losing two of its first three games in his senior year, he helped Texas post victories in eight of its final nine games. On the heels of Williams' Offensive MVP effort of 203 rushing yards and two TDs in a 38-11 Cotton Bowl victory against Mississippi State (UT's first New Year's Day bowl victory since 1982), the Longhorns finished Williams' senior year with a 9-3 record and No. 15 ranking.

After a record-setting collegiate career, Williams began a new chapter of his life, again in historic fashion. On April 17, 1999, Mike Ditka and the New Orleans Saints stunned the NFL and the sports world by trading their entire draft in 1999 and first and third-round selections in 2000 (to the Washington Redskins) for the right to select Williams with the fifth pick.

In three seasons in New Orleans, Williams established himself as one of the NFLs premier running backs. He rushed for 3,129 yards and 16 TDs and caught 132 passes for 1,092 yards and a pair of TDs in 38 games (all starts). Williams became the first Saints 1,000-yard rusher in more than a decade in 2000 and followed that up with a career-best 1,245 rushing yards in 2001. He became the first New Orleans player to rush for 1,000 yards in back-to-back seasons.

On March 8, 2002, Williams was again a part of a blockbuster deal. The fourth-year NFL back was traded to the Miami Dolphins for what turned out to be a pair of first-round picks, one each in the 2002 and 2003 NFL drafts.

Williams kicked off his Dolphins career with a bang, leading the NFL in rushing (1,853 yards/Dolphins season record/eighth-best season rushing total in NFL history) and ranking second in the league in yards from scrimmage (2,216). He earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl and was named MVP at that game. The Dolphins co-MVP rushed for a team record 16 TDs and ranked second on the team with 47 catches for 363 yards. He also caught a TD pass and ranked second on the team with 102 points. During a two-game stretch, he rushed for 216 yards against the Chicago Bears and 228 in a snowstorm at Buffalo. That marked just the fourth time in NFL history that a player posted back-to-back 200-yard rushing games. He also had 10 100-yard rushing games.

In 2003, Williams posted his fourth straight 1,000-yard season, rushing for 1,372 yards (No. 2 on the Dolphins all-time season list) and nine TDs. He joined Green Bay's Ahman Green and the Jets' Curtis Martin as the NFL's

Dallas Griffin

2007 Draddy Trophy Winner

It is a long way from Katy, Texas to the grand ballroom of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City, but as Dallas Griffin strode to the microphone to accept the honor of 2007 Draddy Trophy winner as the nation's top scholar-football player, he seemed right at home.

Griffin, the Longhorns' starting center, had just been named as the winner of the prestigious award they call "the academic Heisman" by the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame. He was chosen from an elite class of 15 finalists, becoming the first winner of the award from The University of Texas.

"I suppose," joked Dallas, "that at this moment I should say something intelligent."

Dallas Griffin came to The University of Texas as a freshman in 2004 after a successful high school career that included a three-year tenure as the starting center for Katy Taylor High School and a UIL Class 5A individual state championship in the shot put.

His goals, from the time he entered Texas, were to succeed both on the playing field, and in the classroom. After redshirting his first year, his path to New York began in earnest during the Longhorns' team journey to the BCS National Championship in 2005. He played in 10 games as the backup center, while earning first-team Academic All-Big 12 honors.

As a junior, despite battling knee problems, he was the Longhorns' primary backup at center, and was again a first-team Academic All-Big 12 selection. That season, he was named one of the Longhorns' "Most Improved" offensive players, and was one of the winners of the Lan Hewlett Academic Award as the football team's top scholar athlete.

He entered the 2007 football season as one of only two seniors on the offensive line, and as the starting center, he was a critical part of the offensive front's schematic attack.

By that time, he had already excelled in the classroom, graduating with a double major in Business Honors and Finance in the spring of 2007. When he first snapped the football to quarterback Colt McCoy to start his senior season on the field, he was enrolled as a graduate student in UT's prestigious MBA program at the Red McCombs School of Business.

He also had been chosen by Playboy Magazine as the Anson Mount Scholar/Athlete on its preseason All-America team, and was picked as one of the top players to watch by NFL draft analysts.

He started the first 10 games of the season at center before suffering a season-ending knee injury, that effectively halted thoughts of the NFL, but it didn't affect his run to the nation's highest award for a scholar-athlete football player.

By the time he went to New York in early December, he had garnered accolades as an honorable mention All-Big 12 performer on the field and a first-team Academic All-American as recognized by ESPN the Magazine and chosen by members of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) off the field.

When he joined teammate Derek Lokey on the Academic All-America first team, the two became the 24th and 25th Longhorn selections over the last 49 years.

Dallas Griffin's body of work as a Longhorn football player extended far beyond the playing field and classroom. The Eagle Scout had been extremely active in UT's community service program. He had answered phones and taken donations during the Children's Miracle Network Telethon, and had regularly visited youngsters at the Austin Children's Hospital. He also spent time at elementary schools and facilities for mentally challenged youngsters.

Overall, he maintained a 3.875 GPA as an undergraduate, posting a perfect 4.0 six times. He twice earned UT's Provost Award, and recorded a 700 (out of 800) on the GMAT (admissions test for MBA programs) and ranked in the 92nd percentile with that score. Griffin also was a 10-time member of UT's Athletics Director's Honor roll. He was a recipient of the C. R. "Smilo" Mallison Endowed Presidential Scholarship and a member of the Dikolli Accounting Honor Roll.

Griffin also kept busy in the summers, interning at NFL Hall of Famer Roger Staubach's real estate company (The Staubach Company) and working for an Austin-based hedge fund company.

Griffin became the eighth Longhorn, and the first since Pat Fitzgerald in 1996, to be chosen as an NFF Scholar-Athlete. In 2007, each of the recipients earned an $18,000 post-graduate scholarship, and with his Draddy Trophy, Dallas' monetary award increased to $25,000.

At a private dinner the night before the banquet, Dallas spoke of the day when his head coach, Mack Brown, came to his high school. It was only then that Griffin, who was not widely recruited, learned of the Longhorns' interest in him.

Recruiting, at best, is not an exact science. When Brown came to Texas in 1998, he said that his program's goal would be "to win championships with nice kids who graduate." Dallas Griffin has done more than that. He reinforced the true meaning of the word "student-athlete."

He became a great example for his teammates, who cheered his every success in the classroom. He was a leader on the field, being part of a senior class that finished its four years with the second best won-loss record in America.

Most of all, as he stood in that historic space where leaders of the world have walked and spoken, he was the very best example of the very best of college football.

Sam Acho

2010 William V. Campbell Trophy Winner

Senior DE Sam Acho was named winner of the 21st National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame (NFF) William V. Campbell Trophy, as college football's top student-athlete in combined academic success, football performance and exemplary community leadership. He was announced as the winner at the NFF Annual Awards Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Acho became the second Longhorn in four years to earn the honor, following C Dallas Griffin in 2007 when it was named the Draddy Trophy. He was also the third finalist in four years, including QB Colt McCoy in 2009.

"I'm just honored to be a part of this," Acho said. "Looking back, we had a winner of this award four years ago, Dallas Griffin. He won when I was a freshman and he really inspired me to strive for excellence and to do my best on the field and in the classroom. We have the same major and I really looked to him as a mentor. I wouldn't be here today without him, without my family and the family I've developed at The University of Texas.

"This means so much because of what it represents, the people you meet and the family you become a part of. The Campbell Trophy stands for excellence both on and off the field. I feel that through coach Brown and the entire staff at Texas, and also through the McCombs School of Business, I've really been able to excel both on and off the field."

Finalists earned the honor of being named a NFF Scholar-Athlete and receive an $18,000 postgraduate scholarship, while the winner earns a $25,000 scholarship. Overall, Acho became the 11th Longhorn to be named a NFF Scholar-Athlete.

"Sam defines champion in every way, on the field and off the field, which is why he is so deserving of the Campbell Trophy," head coach Mack Brown said. "He works as hard as anybody I've ever been around. He's got great character and values from his family. He gives back to the community, but at the same time, football's very important to him and he's another in the line of great defensive ends we've had who will go on to the NFL. This is a very, very special young man and not many people can live up to all that Sam Acho stands for."

In 2010, Acho was also named the winner of the Wuerffel Award and ARA Sportsmanship Award, an Allstate AFCA Good Works Team member, an ESPN Academic All-America First Team member and a finalist for the Lott IMPACT Trophy and Lowe's Senior CLASS Award. He was also a semifinalist for the Bednarik Award and Lombardi Award. An All-Big 12 First-Team selection, Acho earned a spot on the prestigious 2010 Preseason Playboy All-America team and was on the watch lists for the Nagurski Trophy, Hendricks Award and Outland Trophy.

An honors business major in the prestigious McCombs School of Business, Acho was UT's seventh two-time academic all-American and maintains a 3.55 GPA. He was a two-year member of UT's Student-Athlete Advisory Council and was the choice as UT's representative at the 2009 NCAA Leadership Conference in which one student-athlete from each NCAA school attends. He was the student-athlete representative of the Big 12 on the NCAA Football Issues Committee, and was one of UT's representatives at the Big 12's Conference on Black Student Government. In addition, he has attended the Minority Mentorship Symposium in Austin, which features high-profile leaders, executives and stars from the business, entertainment and music industries speaking on topics that focus on success.

Named one of The Sporting News' "20 Smartest Athletes," Acho went on to earn the NCAA's prestigious Top VIII Award, was a three-time first-team Academic All-Big 12 selection and eight-time UT Athletics Director's Honor Roll member. The past two years, he has been honored with the Arthur Ashe, Jr., Sports Scholarship Award, which is a national award that recognizes minority student-athletes who are committed to both education and athletics. Last year, he completed an internship at Target where he had a marketing idea advance to the level of the CEO.

In April 2010, Acho was inducted into UT's Friar Society, which is the oldest and most prestigious honor society at The University of Texas and recognizes students who have made significant contributions to The University.

Acho saw action in 50 career games (26 starts) and tallied 148 tackles, 23.5 sacks (No. 10 on UT's career list), 37 TFL, 44 pressures, eight PBD, eight forced fumbles and nine fumble recoveries (t-No. 2 on UT's career list).

In 2010, he recorded 59 tackles, 17 TFL, nine sacks, 18 pressures, five forced fumbles and five fumble recoveries. His five fumble recoveries lead the nation this season and are tied the UT single-season record. His five forced fumbles are tied for second nationally and tied for seventh on the UT single-season list.

A 2009 semifinalist for the Lott Trophy, Acho notched 63 tackles, 10 sacks, 14 TFL, 15 pressures, three PBD, two forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries that season. The four fumble recoveries were tied for the most nationally and tied for third on UT's single-season list.

Acho and his family have made several medical mission trips to his parents' native country of Nigeria, including this past summer. He helped organize a fundraiser in Dallas prior to the 2009 and 2010 trips. Then he, his brother Emmanuel and several teammates traveled to assist his father and approximately 40 doctors by providing medical treatment to Nigerians who may only have access to a doctor once a year. The family hopes to build a permanent clinic in the area soon.

1963 National Champions

Following two seasons that saw Texas flirt with its first National Championship, the Longhorns opened the 1963 campaign as the No. 1 team in the nation according to Sports Illustrated and Street & Smith's Football Yearbook. The Associated Press did not agree and forced UT to work its way up the ladder with a preseason No. 5 ranking.

After a pair of decisive season-opening wins at Tulane (21-0) and against Texas Tech (49-7), UT rapidly climbed into The AP Poll's No. 2 spot. Texas held that position after a 34-7 win against Oklahoma State and that set the stage for a battle for the nation's top spot in the annual rivalry with No. 1 Oklahoma, in Dallas.

A convincing 28-7 win against the Sooners rocketed the Longhorns to No. 1 and they maintained their ranking through the remainder of the regular season. It wasn't all easy though. In their first week at No. 1, UT nearly blew a 17-0 halftime lead in a 17-13 win at Arkansas and got another scare in a 7-0 win against Baylor later on in Austin.

In the biggest play of the season, Duke Carlisle made a sensational leaping interception of what looked like a sure last-minute, game-tying Baylor touchdown pass. With 29 seconds remaining in the game and Baylor at UT's 19-yard line, Bears quarterback Don Trull was looking at his favorite target, Lawrence Elkins, who was running a post pattern. Elkins had eluded UT's Joe Dixon and looked to be wide open as he approached the goal line before Carlisle, who had covered nearly 15 yards since the ball left Trull's hand, made the miraculous play.

"Thank you, Duke. You saved my life," Dixon said to Carlisle after the game-saving catch.

The Longhorns avoided another upset attempt in a 15-13 victory at Texas A&M, scoring the winning touchdown on a Carlisle 1-yard plunge with 1:19 remaining in the game. UT entered the fourth quarter trailing 13-3 before putting the finishing touches on the victory.

Since there was no Associated Press postseason poll, Texas went into its Cotton Bowl matchup against No. 2 Navy with The AP national title already secured, but the Football Writers Association and the Helms Foundation withheld naming a National Champion until after the game. The Midshipmen were expected to provide quite a test behind the multi-talented skills of junior quarterback Roger Staubach, who had claimed the Heisman Trophy during the season.

The national TV pregame introductions produced a surprise and a challenge. When he was introduced, Midshipmen head coach Wayne Hardin said pointedly, "When the challenger meets the champion and the challenger wins, then there's a new champion." This seemed to raise Darrell Royal's hackles and he replied grimly, "We're ready."

Texas jumped out to a quick 21-0 halftime lead, and behind standout defenders Tommy Nobis and Scott Appleton, frustrated the scrambling Staubach. In the meantime, the Longhorns flourished behind a memorable performance by Carlisle, who was voted the outstanding back of the game. He connected with Phil Harris on 58-yard and 63-yard scoring tosses while rolling up 213 passing yards and 267 total yards on the day. UT secured a consensus National Championship with a decisive 28-6 win.

"I've never seen a team which deserved to be No. 1 more than Texas," Hardin said after the game. "Texas was just the best we've played, that's all. Staubach didn't play as well as usual, but I imagine Texas had a lot to do with that."

Appleton earned consensus All-America and All-Southwest Conference honors, running back Tommy Ford rushed for 738 yards and earned All-America and All-SWC recognition, Nobis was a consensus All-SWC pick and the American Football Coaches Association tabbed Royal its Coach of the Year. Appleton, Ford and center David McWilliams served as captains for the Longhorns, who finished with a perfect 11-0 record and 7-0 mark in SWC play.

1969 National Champions

The 1969 season marked the 100th year of college football and ABC television executive Beano Cook arranged for Texas and Arkansas to play the final game of the regular season, moving their usual October date to the first weekend in December.

For a long while, it looked as though the game would be a meeting of also-rans. Ohio State was dominating the Big Ten and the chances of the game being anything other than just the last game of the season were pretty remote.

However, as the Longhorns took a Saturday off to prepare for their upcoming game on Thanksgiving Day with Texas A&M, Michigan and its upstart coach Bo Schembechler upset the Buckeyes. Texas vaulted to No. 1 in the polls and Arkansas claimed the No. 2 spot.

That set the stage. Even the day took on an eerie feeling. The night before, a steady, cold rain fell in Fayetteville and an icy fog hovered over the stadium as the crowd awaited the arrival of President Richard Nixon, who would award a plaque symbolic of the National Championship to the winner.

In the 100th year of college football, it truly was the "Game of the Century." The Longhorns overcame turnovers and a 14-0 Arkansas lead to post a 15-14 victory. James Street scrambled for one touchdown, got a two-point conversion and then hit Randy Peschel on a dramatic 4th-and-3 play late in the game. Donnie Wigginton, the third-string quarterback who was the holder, made a big save on a high snap and Happy Feller booted the extra point for the winning score with 3:58 remaining. Tom Campbell's interception on UT's 21-yard line halted Arkansas' final drive.

Less than a week later, when safety Fred Steinmark underwent surgery for the removal of his leg because of bone cancer, UCLA administrators watching the Longhorns play basketball in Los Angeles actually wept.

The Cotton Bowl prompted a great deal of interest with No. 1 Texas hosting No. 9 Notre Dame. The Fighting Irish were making their first bowl appearance since the "Four Horsemen" beat Stanford 27-10 in the 1925 Rose Bowl. Ara Parseghian's 8-1-1 squad was ending its 44-year self-imposed departure from bowls.

Again, it took some dramatics for a Texas win. UT trailed 17-14 midway through the final period before Street directed the Horns 76 yards for the winning score. Billy Dale's 1-yard run capped the drive and gave UT a 21-17 lead and the 500th win in school history.

In the locker room after the 21-17 victory, Royal gave Steinmark the game ball. The little safety would become a national symbol of courage as he battled cancer for a year-and-a-half before dying in June 1971.

An ABC-TV poll of sportswriters tabbed Royal Coach of the Decade after wrapping up the 1960s with a pair of national titles. Tackle Bob McKay earned consensus All-America and All-Southwest Conference honors, while linebacker Glen Halsell, wide receiver Cotton Speyrer, running back Steve Worster and offensive tackle Bob Wuensch each earned All-America and All-SWC recognition. Street, tackle Leo Brooks and defensive end Bill Atessis each earned consensus All-SWC honors. Halsell, Ted Koy and Street served as captains for the 11-0 (7-0, SWC Champions) Longhorns.

1970 National Champions

Texas entered the 1970 season with a 20-game winning streak on the line and as the defending National Champions. With all of their startling credentials, the Longhorns entered the season ranked No. 2 behind Ohio State in the polls.

Despite a rash of preseason injuries, UT stormed into the year with a pair of decisive victories against California (56-15) and at Texas Tech (35-13).

The win over the Golden Bears propelled the Longhorns into the No. 1 spot in the UPI poll and narrowed their gap on Ohio State for the top spot in The AP poll. Despite the easy win against Tech, the Horns dropped back to No. 2 in the UPI poll, with Ohio State claiming a unanimous No. 1, again.

With UT's winning streak standing at 22 games, it appeared that the string of success with the unstoppable "Wishbone" had finally run out. In the season's third week, No. 13 UCLA conceived a unique defense which stymied the Longhorns. The Bruins appeared ready to end the streak with a 17-13 lead, 25 seconds remaining and Texas 45 yards away from the end zone. It was then that UT quarterback Eddie Phillips hit Cotton Speyrer in stride at the 25-yard line. Speyrer shook a UCLA defender and crossed the goal line with only 12 seconds left as UT came away with a 20-17 victory.

After the come-from-behind home victory against UCLA, the Longhorns posted back-to-back victories against Oklahoma (41-9) and at Rice (45-21). Those wins vaulted the Longhorns ahead of Ohio State into the nation's top spot.

A 42-15 win against SMU helped the Longhorns maintain the top spot. In its second week at No. 1, UT was forced to hold off a stubborn Baylor team in Waco (21-14) to remain at No. 1.

The Longhorns continued to hold the top spot with decisive victories at TCU (58-0) and against arch-rival Texas A&M (52-14) to set up a battle with No. 4 Arkansas. For the second consecutive year, the meeting with the Razorbacks would decide the Southwest Conference crown.

After claiming their third consecutive SWC crown with a 42-7 win against Arkansas, the Longhorns were awarded the UPI National Championship.

UT entered its Cotton Bowl rematch with No. 6 Notre Dame as the nation's top team in both The AP and UPI polls.

After falling 24-11 to the Fighting Irish, which snapped UT's 30-game winning streak, the Longhorns dropped to No. 3 in The AP poll but remained UPI's National Champion. The 30-game winning streak currently stands as the 12th-longest in NCAA history.

Defensive end Bill Atessis, fullback Steve Worster and offensive tackle Bobby Wuensch earned consensus All-America and All-SWC honors, while linebacker Scott Henderson and Speyrer earned All-America and All-SWC recognition. Running back Jim Bertelsen and offensive guard Bobby Mitchell also earned All-SWC accolades. Henderson, Worster, Wuensch and Zapalac were the captains for the 10-1 (7-0, SWC Champion) Longhorns.

2005 National Champions

Following an 11-1 campaign in 2004 that culminated in the Longhorns' first BCS win over Michigan in their first Rose Bowl, Texas entered the 2005 season ranked No. 2 behind defending champion USC. The ranking was UT's highest in the preseason since 1970, its last championship season.

The Longhorns opened with a 60-3 win over Louisiana-Lafayette as QB Vince Young accounted for four TDs and freshman RB Jamaal Charles made the top freshman rushing debut in UT history with 135 yards.

The win set up a historic first meeting with No. 4 Ohio State. Trailing 22-16, Young connected with WR Limas Sweed on 24-yard TD with 2:17 remaining. The defense held firm, forcing a safety for the 25-22 final to give UT its second-straight win over a Big Ten power.

A 51-10 win over Rice at home, in which Charles racked up 189 rushing yards and three TDs, sent Texas into its bye week and then conference play, where it opened at Missouri. Young produced his first 100-yard passing/rushing game of the season with 236 passing and 108 rushing in the 51-20 victory.

The Red River Rivalry arrived with much being made of Oklahoma's five-game winning streak in the series. However, 2005 would produce a stark contrast, as Texas rolled to a 45-12 win, highlighted by an 80-yard TD run by Charles for a 14-6 lead. The Longhorns never looked back, capping the win with a 67-yard fumble return TD by DT Rod Wright.

Next was No. 24 Colorado, and Young would have one of his finest days passing. He broke his own school record for completion percentage by connecting on 25-of-29 (86.2%) attempts for a career-high 336 yards and two TDs, while also reaching the end zone three times on the ground for a 42-17 win.

That set the stage for undefeated No. 10 Texas Tech. WR Billy Pittman collected his third 100-yard game with a career-high 138 yards and two TDs, while the defense held the nation's top-ranked scoring offense to 17 points for a 52-17 win.

The Longhorns then traveled to Oklahoma State, a team that in 2004 held a 35-7 lead before Texas made the greatest comeback in school history with 49 unanswered points. Again, the Cowboys jumped out, this time 28-9, and again UT responded. This time with 38-unanswered points. Young became the first player in NCAA history to rush for over 250 yards and pass for over 230 in the same game for a UT record 506 yards of total offense.

Texas closed the regular season with wins over Baylor, Kansas and Texas A&M for its first undefeated regular season since 1983, while clinching a spot in the Big 12 Championship, where it would meet Colorado again. The final score was set midway through the third quarter at 70-3, giving Mack Brown his first Big 12 title and sending the Longhorns to the BCS National Championship to face No. 1 USC.

The two teams played a game for the ages. Young took the spotlight from Heisman Trophy winners Reggie Bush and Matt Leinart, becoming the first player in NCAA history to pass and rush for more than 200 yards twice in a career. He recorded 267 yards passing and 200 yards rushing with three TDs, topped by his fourth-down, eight-yard TD run with 19 seconds to go for the 41-38 win.

Young won the Maxwell Award, the O'Brien Award and the Manning Award, and was consensus first-team All-America. Safety Michael Huff became UT's first winner of the Thorpe Award and was unanimous first-team All-America, along with OT Jonathan Scott. Wright also was named consensus first-team All-America.

HUB BECHTOL

End/1944-46 (Inducted, 1991)

Considered one of the finest receivers in UT history, Hub Bechtol was UT's first consensus All-American. Bechtol is one of only two Horns ever to earn All-America honors three times.

A native of Lubbock, Texas, Bechtol actually began his collegiate career at Texas Tech, were he earned one letter in football prior to serving in the Navy during World War II. Following his stint in the military, he returned to school, electing to enroll at Texas where he earned three letters in football (1944-46) and two in basketball.

Bechtol made his fame catching passes from another All-American, Bobby Layne. He was an integral part of the third-best passing attack in the nation as a senior, and as a junior, he helped UT earn a No. 10 national ranking. He and Layne helped lead the Longhorns to the Southwest Conference Championship and a Cotton Bowl win against Missouri. In that game, Bechtol caught nine passes for 138 yards and he also set a UT single-season record for touchdown receptions with seven that year.

Bechtol went on to play professional football with the Baltimore Colts for three seasons before returning to Austin to work in real estate and insurance. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1963.

DANA X. BIBLE

Head coach/1937-46 (Inducted, 1951)

One of the winningest head coaches in the history of the college game, Dana X. Bible's 10-year run at UT from 1937-1946 is credited with laying the foundation for the modern legacy of Longhorns football.

Following success at Texas A&M and Nebraska, Bible was hired in 1937 to turn the Texas fortunes around. He inherited a team that was more depressed than the nation's economy, but before his time was over, his teams won three Southwest Conference Championships, all coming in the final five years of his career.

He is credited for "The Bible Plan," which placed an emphasis on education as well as success on the football field. In 1941, his team — still regarded as one of the best in UT history — was featured on the cover of Life magazine.

A winner of 201 games in 33 years as a head coach (63-31-3 at UT), Bible was the third-winningest coach in the history of the game when he retired — trailing only Amos Alonzo Stagg, who coached for 57 years, and Pop Warner, who coached for 44 seasons. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1960.

EARL CAMPBELL

Running back/1974-77 (Inducted, 1990)

Earl Campbell galloped into UT football history with his Heisman Trophy-winning 1977 season. Campbell rushed for 1,744 yards (a Southwest Conference record that stood for 16 years) and 19 touchdowns and led the nation in rushing and scoring. He posted 200-yard rushing games against Texas A&M (222) and SMU (213), both on the road, and set a UT record with ten 100-yard rushing games that season.

Campbell was an instant success at Texas, rushing for 928 yards as a freshman "Wishbone" fullback. He claimed the first of three consensus All-SWC honors that year. As a sophomore in 1975, he ran for 1,118 yards and 13 touchdowns, earning the first of his two consensus All-America awards. Injuries dampened his junior season when he played with a pulled hamstring for much of the season. He missed four games and only posted 653 rushing yards.

However, by his senior season, he was at full strength. He moved to tailback in the "I" formation utilized by new head coach Fred Akers and turned in one of the finest rushing campaigns in UT history. The Tyler, Texas, native finished his career with school rushing records of 4,443 yards and 41 touchdowns.

Inducted into both the College Football and NFL Hall of Fame, Campbell earned NFL Rookie of the Year honors, won four rushing titles and was selected to five Pro Bowls in a stellar career with the Houston Oilers and New Orleans Saints. He rushed for 9,407 yards and 74 TDs in eight seasons as a pro.

Following his retirement, Campbell returned to Austin where he owns a food company. He also serves as an assistant to the athletics director in the UT athletics department. Campbell was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1988.

DOUG ENGLISH

After helping lead the Longhorns to a 10-1 finish, a Southwest Conference championship and a No. 3 final AP ranking in his first varsity season in 1972, Doug English quickly established himself as one of the top defensive lineman to come through the University of Texas.

Following the Longhorns' win over fourth-ranked Alabama in the 1973 Cotton Bowl, Texas won its second consecutive SWC title in 1973 with English anchoring the defensive line. In his three seasons, Texas compiled a 26-8 record and finished in the top 20 every year. English twice earned All-Southwest Conference honors and was named First Team All-America as a senior in 1974. He also received UT's George "Hook" McCullough Outstanding Football Player Award and the D. Harold Byrd Leadership Award while serving as a team captain his senior season.

For his career, English tallied 260 tackles (111 solo) and four forced fumbles while totaling 105 tackles as a senior.

Drafted in the second round of the 1975 NFL Draft, English, a Dallas native, played 10 seasons with the Lions. He recorded a career-high 13 sacks and two safeties in 1983 while helping lead the Lions to the NFC Central Division title. He finished his NFL career with 59 sacks while earning All-Pro honors four times (1981-84). His four safeties tie him for the most career safeties in NFL history. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1986.

CHRIS GILBERT

Running back/1966-68 (Inducted, 1999)

Chris Gilbert, the crown jewel in an era when Texas Longhorns running backs dominated the nation's ground game, was the first player in NCAA history to gain 1,000 yards in each of the seasons for which he was eligible.

Gilbert played for Darrell Royal from 1966-68 and competed in a time when freshmen were not eligible for varsity competition.

The 5-foot-11, 180-pounder was a three-time All-Southwest Conference back who rushed for more than 100 yards in exactly half of his 30 career games and he had four 200-yard efforts. The three-time UT MVP finished his career as the SWC's and the school's all-time leading rusher with 3,231 yards, which ranked third on the NCAA all-time list at the time.

As a sophomore, Gilbert rushed for a then-school record 1,080 yards and was voted the Outstanding Back in the 1966 Bluebonnet Bowl victory against Mississippi. He added 1,019 yards to his total as a junior and recorded a 96-yard touchdown run against TCU, the longest run from scrimmage by a Longhorn.

Gilbert's senior season marked the inaugural year of the famed "Wishbone" offense and he rushed for a UT-record 1,132 yards and scored 13 touchdowns. His efforts helped Texas to a 9-1-1 record and a No. 3 ranking after a 36-13 victory against Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

Following graduation, Gilbert was drafted by the New York Jets but chose to enter private business in Texas and ran a highly-successful summer camp for youngsters and managed a respected residential real estate business. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1978.

JOHNNIE JOHNSON

Defensive Back/1976-79 (Inducted, 2007)

A versatile threat as a fierce tackler and punt returner, Texas' Johnnie Johnson set numerous Texas records during his four-year career and was twice named a consensus All-America ('78, '79).

Hailing from LaGrange, Texas, Johnson earned recognition from the Downtown Athletic Club as the nation's top defensive back in 1978. He finished his career with 13 interceptions returned for 150 yards, 282 tackles and led a defense that surrendered an average of only nine points per game.

Equally as impressive as his defensive accomplishments, Johnson accumulated over 1,000 career punt return yards and still owns the UT records for single season punt returns (44) and career punt returns (114). The three-time All-Southwest Conference pick currently ranks second all-time in school season return yards (538) and fourth in career return yards (1,004).

Selected as the 17th overall pick in the 1980 NFL Draft, he spent 10 of his 11 years in the professional ranks with the Los Angeles Rams. He was also selected to the SWC All-Decade Team for the 1970s and to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1990.

MALCOLM KUTNER

End/1939-41 (Inducted, 1974)

Malcolm Kutner, a star in the D.X. Bible era of UT football, was one of two All-Americans honored on the 1941 team, generally regarded as the best of its era and one of the best teams in school history. Kutner was a three-sport star at Texas, earning letters in football, basketball and track & field.

However, his versatility as a football player, where his primary position was end, helped earn praise for Bible's innovative offense as "the best balanced, perhaps most versatile ever developed in the cow country, if not in the nation."

In all, Kutner earned seven varsity letters: three in football, three in basketball and one in track — where he was a member of two Southwest Conference Champion relay teams.

He was the first UT player chosen to compete in the Chicago Tribune's collegiate all-star game, matching an all-star team of just-finished collegians against the NFL champions. Kutner continued his playing as a member of the U.S. Armed Forces team during World War II. Following his service career, he played five years as a member of the Chicago Cardinals. As a pro, he was Rookie of the Year in 1946, made the All-Pro team in both 1947 and '48 and earned NFL Most Valuable Player honors in 1948.

Kutner retired from the NFL following the 1950 season and entered the oil business in Texas. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1965.

BOBBY LAYNE

Quarterback/1944-47 (Inducted, 1968)

It was his great friend Doak Walker who said of Bobby Layne, "Layne never lost a game … time just ran out on him." Layne is generally regarded as the greatest quarterback in UT history. He was known as much for his free spirit approach to life as he was to the game he played.

Recruited as a baseball pitcher, Layne was one of the best two-sport stars in school history. However, it would be in football that he would forever etch his name. He finished his UT career with a school-record 3,145 yards passing on 210 completions and 400 attempts.

He was the Outstanding Back of the 1948 Sugar Bowl victory against No. 6 Alabama as a senior and was one of the first inductees into the Cotton Bowl Hall of Fame based on his incredible performance in the 1946 Classic win against Missouri. In the 40-27 victory, Layne accounted for every point, scoring four touchdowns, kicking four extra points and passing for the other two touchdowns.

His brilliant 15-year professional career included leading the Detroit Lions to three league titles and twice being named the all-league quarterback during a his career (Detroit and Pittsburgh). He was inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame in 1967 and elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1963.

ROOSEVELT LEAKS

Running Back/1972-74 (Inducted, 2005)

A tremendous running back and fearless pioneer, Roosevelt Leaks became the first black athlete to earn All-America and All-Conference honors for the Longhorns, forever changing the complexion of football at Texas and the Southwest Conference.

Prior to suffering a serious knee injury that hampered his senior season, Leaks earned consensus first-team All-America honors in 1973 and finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting, the first and highest place of the three UT underclassmen to finish in the Top 10. A two-time first-team All-Conference selection, he was named Southwest Conference MVP in 1973, while setting the conference record for rushing yards (1,415). A team captain and MVP, Leaks guided the Longhorns to two conference titles.

Drafted in the fifth round of the 1975 NFL Draft by the Baltimore Colts, Leaks enjoyed a nine-year professional career with the Colts and Buffalo Bills. A community-minded individual, Leaks hosts an annual charity golf tournament for children in East Austin. In 2003, he became the first recipient of the Living Legends Award presented by the Ministry of Challenge.

BUD MCFADIN

Guard/1948-50 (Inducted, 1983)

From the tiny town of Iraan, Texas, Bud McFadin came to The University of Texas and became a two-time All-American offensive guard and defensive tackle and was named Most Valuable Player of the 1951 Cotton Bowl. In 1950, he helped lead UT to the Southwest Conference Championship and a No. 3 national ranking.

He was named the Most Valuable Player of the SWC as a senior and was a first-round draft choice by the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. Prior to the start of his pro career, he was named MVP of the collegiate all-star game that matched top college players against the NFL champions.

McFadin went on to play 11 seasons of professional football and was a five-time Pro Bowl selection. Along with the Rams, McFadin also starred at Denver and Houston, where he concluded his career. He is one of only two former Longhorns to appear as a Pro Bowl selection with two different teams — Los Angeles (1956-57) and Denver (1962-64).

When he finished his NFL playing career, McFadin became a coach for the Oilers and spent five seasons tutoring the defensive line. After leaving coaching, McFadin turned to farming near Victoria, Texas. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1973.

STEVE MCMICHAEL

Defensive Tackle/1976-79 (Inducted, 2009)

A four-year letterman from 1976-79, Steve McMichael was a member of the 1977 Southwest Conference Championship team. Twice selected All-Southwest Conference (1978-79), he graduated as the school's all-time leader in career tackles (369) and sacks (30). A finalist for the Lombardi and Outland Awards in 1979, McMichael claimed team and Hula Bowl MVP honors. During his time at Texas, the Longhorns posted an impressive 34-12-1 record.

McMichael went on to be drafted in the third round of the 1980 NFL Draft by the New England Patriots. He signed with the Chicago Bears in 1981 and spent 13 seasons with the team, including six Central Division Championships and a victory in Super Bowl XX. McMichael retired as a five-time All-Pro selection and holds the Chicago Bears record for most consecutive games played (191).

Following his playing career, McMichael became a pro wrestler, coached in the Continental Indoor Football League and commentated for the Chicago Bears. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1999.

TOMMY NOBIS

Linebacker, Guard/1963-65 (Inducted, 1981)

Considered the finest linebacker in UT history, Tommy Nobis ranks as one of the greatest football players of all time. UT's famous No. 60 was a two-time All-American, made the All-Southwest Conference team three years and was the only sophomore starter on the Longhorns' 1963 National Championship team. The next year, he registered one of the most famous tackles in Orange Bowl history when he led his teammates on a fourth-and-inches stop of Joe Namath at the goal line to preserve UT's 21-17 victory against No. 1 Alabama.

Darrell Royal called Nobis the best two-way lineman he ever coached, and in 1965, Sports Illustrated tagged him "the best defender in College Football." He went on to win the Outland Trophy and Maxwell Award as a senior.

Nobis averaged nearly 20 tackles per game at UT, despite the effort of opponents to run away from him. He also was often the primary blocker for touchdown runs on teams that were ranked No. 1 in the nation at some point during each of his three years. A knee injury slowed the latter part of his senior season, but he went on to a successful 10-year career with the Atlanta Falcons. He was named to the NFL's All-1960s team and was selected to the Football News' all-time All-American team.

As a member of the front office of the Falcons, Nobis' popularity and durability are evident by a career that has spanned 35 years with the Atlanta franchise. The San Antonio native was a first-round draft choice of the Falcons in 1966 and he was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1976.

DARRELL ROYAL

Head coach/1957-76 (Inducted, 1983)

In December 1956, Darrell Royal came to Texas as one of the youngest head coaches in America, and for the next 20 years, he led the Longhorns to success that was unparalleled in Southwest Conference history.

Royal's remarkable record included 11 teams that finished in the nation's Top 10 and three National Championships. He also registered 11 SWC titles, 16 bowl berths, 26 All-Americans and 77 All-SWC players.

He also recorded unprecedented streaks, including a 30-game winning streak from 1968-70 and record run of six consecutive Cotton Bowl appearances. Royal finished his career with a UT-record 167 victories, including 109 against league foes.

His honors were numerous as well. Royal was tabbed Coach of the Year on numerous occasions, earned a spot in a number of halls of fame and was picked as coach of the decade in the 1960s. In the 10-year period from 1961-70, Royal's teams finished in the nation's Top Five seven times, including the three seasons at No. 1.

Royal was not only a winner, but he also was recognized as one of the game's great innovators — simplifying offenses by flipping the offensive line and later installing the famed "Wishbone" offense, which he unveiled in 1968.

After he retired in 1976, Royal continued to serve as UT's Athletics Director — a post he held beginning in 1964. Royal later was an assistant to the UT president, advising that office on matters pertaining to athletics. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1976.

JAMES SAXTON

Running back/1959-61 (Inducted, 1996)

Tabbed the "quickest player in America" in 1961 by legendary Longhorns head coach Darrell Royal, James Saxton turned in one of the most spectacular seasons by a UT back that year. A first- team All-Southwest Conference back and the Longhorns MVP, he capped his career in spectacular fashion in 1961, eventually finishing third in the Heisman Trophy voting and earning the Texas Sports Writers Association Amateur Athlete of the Year award.

While UT rolled to a 10-1 record and climbed as high as No. 1 nationally during his senior campaign, Saxton led the SWC in rushing with 846 yards on only 107 carries. He also scored nine touchdowns and led the Longhorns attack with breathtaking runs of 80, 79, 66, 56, 49 and 45 yards. Saxton set a UT single-game rushing record against SMU with 173 yards, and a week later, picked up 171 yards against Baylor. His 7.9 yards per carry average that year was the highest recorded in SWC history.

The Palestine, Texas, native topped off his terrific year by helping UT upset No. 5 Mississippi 12-7 in the 1962 Cotton Bowl. His 73-yard punt on a quick kick in that game still stands as a UT bowl game record.

Saxton helped the Longhorns to a 25-5 record during his three-year career. and he finished his career ranked third on the UT all-time rushing list with 1,524 yards. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1973.

HARLEY SEWELL

Guard/1950-52 (Inducted, 2000)

Harley Sewell, who came from the tiny Texas town of St. Jo, was a first-team All-American two-way guard who helped UT to a 9-2 record in 1952 and was chosen defensive MVP in the 1953 Cotton Bowl victory against Tennessee.

In that game, he led a UT defense that limited the Vols to six first downs and an amazing minus-14 yards rushing.

A two-time All-Southwest Conference selection in 1951 and '52, Sewell was drafted in the first round (13th overall) by the Detroit Lions in 1953 and played for the Lions from 1953-62 before finishing his career with the Los Angeles Rams. In Detroit, Sewell teamed with fellow Texans Bobby Layne and Doak Walker to earn NFL championship rings in 1953 and '57 and was a four-time Pro Bowl selection.

Currently working as a college scout for the St. Louis Rams, Sewell makes his home in Arlington, Texas. He was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1975.

JERRY SISEMORE

Tackle/1970-72 (Inducted, 2002)

One of the great offensive tackles of his era, Jerry Sisemore was a three-year letterwinner, a two-time consensus All-American (1971-72) and a team captain during one of the best three-year periods in the history of Texas football.

In his three seasons, the Longhorns posted a 28-5 (.848) overall record, lost only one game in Southwest Conference play, won three consecutive league championships and played in three straight Cotton Bowls. As a sophomore, he helped lead UT to a 10-1 record and UT's third National Championship in school history.

The 6-foot-4, 260-pounder also played in numerous all-star games following his outstanding career, including the Senior Bowl and Coaches All-America Game in 1973.

Sisemore was selected in the first round of the 1973 NFL Draft by the Philadelphia Eagles with the third overall pick. He remained with the team for the duration of his 12-year career and was a two-time Pro Bowl selection (1980, '82). Sisemore appeared in the postseason four times and was inducted into the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1980.

MORTIMER "BUD" SPRAGUE

Mortimer "Bud" Sprague was only 16 when he came to Texas, but by his junior year, he was a 200-pound anchor in the middle of the defensive line on an undefeated UT team.

The Longhorns posted a 20-5-2 record during his career and he was an All-Southwest Conference tackle but also doubled as a standout track athlete. Sprague excelled in the rare combination in track & field as a sprinter and shot putter. He won the SWC shot put title in 1925 and ran on the 440-yard relay team.

After graduating from UT, he won the then-allowed privilege of continuing his college career by enrolling at West Point. There, his career blossomed. He was a vital member of Army's great teams of the late 1920s, a two-time All-American and captain of the 1928 team.

Sprague had a distinguished career in the insurance business and was president of the New York Board of Trade and director of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1970 for his deeds at both Army and Texas and elected into the the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1993.

HARRISON STAFFORD

Halfback/1930-32 (Inducted, 1975)

A walk-on from Wharton, Texas, Harrison Stafford went on to become perhaps the toughest football player in UT history. Statistics never told the story of Stafford, who was considered the finest blocking back in school annals. He also was an outstanding runner and receiver, but his fame was carved by his crushing blocks and devastating tackles.

Stafford came to UT completely unannounced and volunteered for the freshman team where assistant coach Shorty Alderson worked him out and reported to head coach Clyde Littlefield, "Clyde, I found you the darndest football player you ever saw. He tore up a couple of dummies and hurt a couple of men. He says his name is Harrison Stafford."

Stafford went on to earn All-Southwest Conference honors three times and was named to several All-America teams. A versatile person as well as an athlete, he also served as a member of the UT Student Assembly in 1931-32.

A knee injury cut short his professional career and he returned to Texas and became a successful rancher. Stafford was elected to the Longhorn Hall of Honor in 1959.

Texas and the NFL Draft

The format of the NFL draft has changed many times since the brainchild of former NFL Commissioner and club owner Bert Bell was accepted by the league owners on May 19, 1935. The initial draft was held on Feb. 8, 1936, at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in Philadelphia. Over 70 years later, the draft has gone through stages of 10, 20 and 30-round affairs to the current seven-round event set in New York City each April. Through it all, The University of Texas has played a key role in the event. Including a record 17 players drafted in 1984, the Longhorns have had 328 players called on draft day and had at least one player selected in a record 74 consecutive drafts. Among those draft choices, 42 UT players have been selected in the first round with three of those former Longhorns — Kenneth Sims, 1982; Earl Campbell, 1978; Tommy Nobis, 1966 — earning the honor of being the first player selected overall.

Longhorns Hall of Honor

One of The University of Texas' most cherished athletics traditions is the Longhorn Hall of Honor.

The governing body, the Longhorn Hall of Honor Council, is made up exclusively of men who have lettered at The University of Texas. The Council is in charge of all arrangements for the vote of lettermen and for the installation banquet.

Mounted silver scrolls, which carry the announcement that they are presented 'In recognition of those qualities that brought credit and renown to The University of Texas,' are presented to the honorees.
